U. S. Prepares To Go Ahead With A-Pool Plan Without Soviet

Soviet Union Asked For Final Yes-Or-No Answer, Dulles Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today Russia has been requested to give a final yes-or-no answer on whether it will join the United States in setting up a pool of atomic materials for "life-giving purposes" throughout the world.

Dulles disclosed this latest move by the United States at a news conference where he assailed Russia's attitude, expressed in an April 27 note, as "99 per cent negative."

"We have in substance asked the Soviets whether they wish it to be treated as 100 per cent negative," he said.

The State Department authorized direct quotation of several of Dulles' remarks.

U.S. To Go Ahead With Plan

Russia's refusal to accept the plan first proposed by Eisenhower last Dec. 8 will not kill the project, he said. The United States is now going ahead, expecting a final Soviet turndown, to draft a program which other countries will be asked to support.

The plan will be open, he said, both to nations which can contribute fissionable materials to such a pool and to those "have not countries" who might benefit.

Dulles refused to disclose any details of the eight-month long series of confidential exchanges with Moscow on the problem, even though President Eisenhower invited reporters at his last news conference to ask the secretary about them.

Private Talks Fruitless

Dulles said:

"I am sorry to say that the private talk method does not seem to work any better than the public talk method. I am afraid that the difficulties in dealing with the Soviets are so fundamental that the getting of a positive cooperative action involves something more fundamental than a change of methods."

Other diplomatic officials reported that the newest American note went out in early July and thus far Russia has given no sign if and when it will answer.

In talks thus far, he said, Russia has refused to budge from its previously unacceptable position, that atomic disarmament must come first and that weapons should be banned and inspection safeguards worked out later.

Builder Unable To Account For $13,000 In Bonds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Big time builder Ian Woodner testified today he does not know what became of government bonds bought with money deposited in the bank account of his beautiful blonde TV actress ex-wife.

Following up a series of questions about the bonds, Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) asked Woodner, who has put up 42 million dollars worth of government - backed apartment buildings, if he ever gave "any Federal Housing Administration official anything of value."

Woodner said no—unless "a good bottle of whisky" could be called a thing of value. He promised to search his vaults and records again to see if he couldn't produce the bonds for the Senate Banking Committee, or else show evidence of what happened to them.

The New York builder, his former wife, Ruth, and a brother and sister of Woodner's testified at a special hearing of the Banking Committee, headed by Capehart, which is looking into alleged irregularities in the federal housing program.

Woodner's ash blonde ex-wife, now Mrs. Sidney R. Jackson of New York and Green Farms, Conn., testified she had no idea her former husband put a total of $36,000 into her bank account not long before they split up in 1949. Testimony brought out that $13,000 of the $36,000 subsequently was used to buy government bonds payable to bearer.

Similarly, Woodner's brother Max, from San Antonio, Tex., and their artist-designer sister, Beverly Woodner, denied knowing a total of $142,000 turned up in their bank accounts in 1949 when Ian Woodner was negotiating a nine million dollar loan to build the plush Woodner apartments here.

Capehart suggested the bank accounts were fattened so Woodner's then wife, his brother and sister could act as co-sponsors of the multi-million dollar apartment project, which won FHA approval in much less than the usual time. FHA required sponsors to show healthy bank balances.

Governors Back Ike's Road Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—A group of state governors today expressed agreement with President Eisenhower about need for a multi-billion dollar highway construction program and predicted a start on it "at a very early date."

A six-member highway subcommittee of the Governors Conference discussed the subject at a White House luncheon and talked to newsmen about it later.

Eisenhower had called last month for a 10-year 50 billion dollar highway building program. His proposal was outlined at the annual Governors Conference at Lake George, N. Y. on July 12.

At that time, the idea appeared to meet with considerable opposition from some of the governors.

Gov. Walter Kohler of Wisconsin, chairman of the special highway subcommittee, said after today's meeting, however, that "an erroneous impression" was left in July that the governors were "hostile" to Eisenhower's program.

Cpl. Batchelor's Trial Will Begin August 30

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 10 (AP) — The 4th Army announced today trial of Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor on charges of aiding the enemy while a prisoner in Korea has been set for Aug. 30.

The Kermit, Tex., soldier was among 22 U.S. prisoners of war who switched to the Communist side and refused to return when the Korean armistice was declared.

Later, Cpl. Edward Dickenson of Cracker's Neck, Va., and Batchelor changed their minds and returned to the United States. Both were charged with giving aid and comfort to the enemy and with informing on fellow prisoners. Dickenson has been convicted.

Bandit Sought For $190,000 Holdup Seized

Picture In Rogue's Gallery Leads FBI To Bank Robber

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 10 (AP)—A rogue's gallery picture that had been posted only 24 hours led the FBI today to a bank robber who fled with $190,000 in cash almost a year ago.

Edward J. Powers, special agent in charge of the Miami FBI office, identified the bandit as George Patrick McKinney, 27, arrested on a California burglary charge and then identified as the lone man who held up a Floral Park, N. Y., bank last August and escaped with a fortune.

Big Haul For Lone Bandit

The cash haul was described as one of the biggest ever made by a lone bank bandit. What happened to the money is not yet known.

McKinney lived here under the assumed name of Wade Patrick Johnson and recently operated an agency for new premium cars. He was arrested on his first day as a medical technician.

U. S. Commissioner T. V. Cashen set a temporary bond of $200,000.

Found At Medical Center

Powers said FBI agents found McKinney at the Duval Medical Center shortly after he started work. Fingerprints taken after the arrest led to his identification as the robber who held up the Floral Park, N. Y., office of the Franklin National Bank on Aug. 18, 1953 and escaped with $190,319.55.

Victims of the Floral Park Bank robbery have examined McKinney's photograph and positively identified him as the man who made the big cash haul, Powers said.

China May Offer Treaty To Japan

TOKYO, Wednesday, Aug. 11 (AP)—Red China soon will offer Japan a non-aggression pact in a stepped up "peace offensive" to woo the nation from the United States, widespread press reports said today.

The newspaper Asahi and Kyodo news service said information to this effect reached the Foreign Office yesterday from Hong Kong. A Foreign Office spokesman said the report was "completely groundless."

Nevertheless, the "peace offensive" has long been expected here. It would be an appeal both to trade interests and to the pacifism which has gripped Japan since the end of World War II.

Kyodo said one condition Peiping would put up for a non-aggression treaty would be that Japan withdraw recognition of the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa. Japan has no diplomatic relations with Communist China.

Asahi said Japan will be invited to take part in an "Asian political consultative conference" and an "Asian economic conference" in Peiping this fall.

U.S., After 179 Years, Opens Exhibit Honoring Marines

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — It took the government 179 years to do it, but it finally got around today to setting up an exhibit honoring the illustrious history of the Marine Corps.

The Leathernecks greeted the occasion with fanfare. The Marine Band marched. The Drum and Bugle Corps bugled. The drill teams drilled. And the commandant, Gen. Lemuel Shepherd, made a speech.

The exhibit then was opened to the public. It is to be a permanent part of the Smithsonian Institution.

There are all sorts of fascinating displays, like the original orders given May 21, 1799 to a marine private named William Justin.

The orders, carefully etched in the fine handwriting of the purser of the frigate, Constellation, informed Justin he was being reassigned from duty aboard the ship and certified that "whatever prize money" was due Justin "from captures made by the above ship will be paid."

On the back of the paper, it was duly noted that Justin's reward for the capture of the French frigate, Insurgente, amounted to $106.83—a small fortune in 1799.

The collection was gathered together by Maj. John H. Magruder III, who said he had obtained his loot "on a treasure hunt through the attics and cellars of the nation."

Among his treasures:

A sample of every kind of rifle and musket ever fired by a Marine, brightly colored 18th and 19th Century uniforms replete with pantaloons and lace ruffles, a gold sword given by the State of Virginia to Marine Gen. Archibald Henderson, the original score of the Marine hymn inscribed by John Philip Sousa, the 14 medals won by the most decorated soldier of World War I. Sgt. Major Daniel Daly.

Herbert Hoover On 80th Birthday

Ex-President Herbert Hoover takes time out on his 80th anniversary to cut his big six-tiered birthday cake, surrounded by 80 candles and topped with an ornamental decoration denoting his age, at West Branch, Ia., yesterday. Above, Hoover wears the hood of an honorary doctor of laws after another honorary degree—his 80th in as many years—was presented to him by Dr. Virgil M. Hancher, president of Iowa State University. In a speech, Hoover said "misuse of power" by his Democratic successors had assisted the Soviets.

French Premier Is Given Rousing Confidence Votes

PARIS, Aug. 10 (AP)—The French National Assembly gave Premier Pierre Mendes - France two rousing votes of confidence on major issues today. One approved his sweeping economic plans and the other granted him a postponement of debate on Tunisia and Morocco.

On the economic and financial reform program, in which Mendes-France demanded special powers until March 31, 1955, to take many actions without parliamentary approval, the Premier won by a vote of 361-90. The Assembly gave him a margin of 398-126 on the vote to delay discussion of the question of France's North African protectorates.

Staked Future On Votes

The first vote was a formal expression of confidence. If Mendes-France had been denied his proposal, he would have been obliged to resign. Although he did not make the vote on Tunisia and Morocco a question of confidence, Mendes - France said he would resign if his proposal to put off debate until Aug. 7 were not approved.

Mendes - France was bitterly criticized by several deputies for his recent dramatic move to grant partial internal autonomy to the Tunisians. Some spoke of it as a "policy of abandoning" North Africa.

Premier Will Seek Solution

The Premier promised when calm has been restored to Morocco—scene of bloody anti - French clashes during the last week—his government would attempt to find a solution to that problem. He said the situation in Morocco is much different than in Tunisia, where the people have had much more experience in political affairs.

Vets Home Loan Bill Approved By House

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The House today approved a Senate-House compromise extending the veterans direct home loan program until June 30, 1955, and authorized an additional 150 million dollars to finance it the additional year.

The measure is a compromise of differing Senate-House versions which varied chiefly in the amount of the authorization.

The House-passed bill called for 100 million dollars to finance the one year extension of the loan program. The Senate-passed bill called for 200 million. The conference agreement split the difference and authorized 37½ million dollars to be made available each quarter starting July 1.

Balancing Record

WANNE-EICKEL, Germany, Aug. 10 (AP) — A German performer claimed a world record today after remaining balanced in a chair on a tight-rope for 24 hours and two minutes. Richard Schneider, 27, showed little signs of exhaustion when he hopped off the tightrope strung eight feet above the ground.

Radio Soon Will Control Chicago Traffic Signals

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — Mayor Martin H. Kennelly announced today that a revolutionary radio-controlled traffic light system will be installed in Chicago in an effort to alleviate the city's choking traffic problem.

He said the system will be the first of its kind in the world.

The system will include a transmitter atop the Board of Trade Building. The transmitter will emit radio signals which will activate traffic lights at the designated intersections. It is designed to effect a better flow of traffic at peak hours.

The radio signal transmission will be operated manually from a central control room.

Bills To Return German Assets Opposed By Ike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower made known today that he does not approve bills pending in Congress to return assets seized during World War II from enemy nationals

About 500 million dollars worth of property is involved, the largest item being the General Aniline & Film Corp., impounded during the war as German-owed, although technically in the name of a Swiss firm.

General Aniline is now worth about 90 million dollars; its value was about 35 million when the United States took it over.

The White House disclosed today that Eisenhower wrote Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany in reply to a request for action, that it is a matter for Congress. But he added:

"Several bills dealing with the subject are now pending there, and members of my Cabinet and other government officials have appeared and expressed their views.

"None of the measures thus far proposed has the approval of my administration, but you may be assured that this problem is receiving earnest consideration and it is my hope that a fair, equitable and satisfactory solution can be arrived at."

Studebaker Workers Vote Again On Pay Cut

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 10 (AP)—CIO United Auto Workers will meet on a football field tomorrow for a second vote on a wage cut demanded by Studebaker, which reported a loss of almost 9 million dollars in the first half of this year.

The union rejected the proposal last Thursday at an indoor meeting attended by an estimated 3,200 to 4,000 of about 11,000 members.

Louis J. Horvath, local president, announced the second meeting after asserting today that union officers were bound by the original vote.

Clark Proposes Organizing U.N. 'Against Russia'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Gen. Mark W. Clark today urged a break in diplomatic relations with Russia and her satellites and the organization of the United Nations "against the Soviet Union."

"I haven't had much respect for the United Nations," the retired four-star general, who was supreme commander of U.N. Forces the last year of the Korean War, told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Jenner Asks For Opinion

His statement was made after Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) said that "many people favor our withdrawal from the United Nations" and asked Clark for his opinion.

Clark, now president of the Citadel, a military college in Charleston, S.C., said he didn't think the U.N. had "contributed much" to the solution of world problems.

Commenting on the location of U.N. headquarters in this country, Clark said that "to permit the Soviet Union to have its large number of spies and saboteurs spawning around over here is wrong."

"Asset" To Russia

He called it "a very valuable asset" to Russia to have these people "running around" in this country—"a great asset to them and a great detriment to us."

"I think the United Nations should be organized as a United Nations against the Soviet Union," Clark said.

When asked his opinion of a resolution introduced by Jenner and Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) to sever diplomatic relations with Russia and the Soviet satellites, Clark replied that if he were a member of Congress he would vote for it.

Sliding Price Props Set Up By Measure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — President Eisenhower won flexible authority to tackle the vast farm surplus problem tonight as the Senate passed the farm bill calling for a sliding scale of price supports ranging from 82½ to 90 per cent of parity.

The vote on the omnibus agricultural measure containing the new price support provisions was 62-28.

The measure now goes back to the House, with a Senate-House conference committee expected to reach a speedy compromise on differences between the two chambers.

However, there were no differences between the two bodies on the key issue of giving the President flexible powers to vary price supports on the so-called basic crops—wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts. Both chambers voted for a scale of 82½ to 90 next year instead of the present mandatory props of 90 per cent of parity.

This did not give Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson all the leeway they asked—their original proposal was for a range of 75 to 90. But administration men expressed jubilation that the principle of flexibility was established after a hectic battle.

Before tonight's final vote, backers of the Eisenhower program hung up another in a series of preliminary victories that have characterized the struggle in the last few days.

The administration victory came on a 54-33 vote which defeated a proposal offered by Senators Young (R-ND) and Humphrey (D-Minn) to require government price supports of 75 to 90 per cent of parity on soybeans, oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums.

In another important decision today, the Senate by voice vote decided to remove nearly 100,000 wheat producers in 20 states from the designated "commercial wheat area" where rigid crop controls apply. Sen. Young offered the proposal, saying that under it these growers could grow and harvest wheat without restrictions.

Four Sisters Plan "Quad" Wedding

SEATTLE, Aug. 10 (AP) — Four Seattle sisters will be married here Saturday in a quadruple wedding ceremony, the second marriage for all eight participants.

The husbands come variously from Clallam County, Seattle and San Francisco. Here's the lineup:

James D. Astel, publisher of the Forks Forum in Clallam County, will marry Marion White.

Walter Roberte, mayor of Forks and a Clallam County commissioner, will marry Mrs. Emily Baarstad, a widow who operates the Forks Motel.

Fred J. Wettrick, Seattle attorney, will marry Dolores Lopez, Seattle millinary shop operator.

Herbert DelMonico, San Francisco millinery designer, will marry Mrs. Carmelita Coffman, also of San Francisco.

Bad Check Binge Brings Texan Prison Sentence

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—A 22-day bad check binge brought Richard L. Mahan, a 46-year-old Texan, a two-year prison sentence today.

Mahan, of San Antonio, Tex., was charged with writing $32,000 worth of bad checks in 22 days of freedom after being released from the federal prison at Ashland, Ky. July 1. He had served a four-year sentence for similar offenses.

Former Rep. Marcantonio Is Denied Catholic Burial

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Former Rep. Vito Marcantonio, whose political goals often paralleled the Communist party line, today was denied a Roman Catholic burial, and condemned to a religious exile's grave.

The New York archdiocese took no official note of his leftist career. Instead, it said he had fallen away from the church and its sacraments and died outside the fold.

Friends of the family pleaded in vain that he receive the final funeral rites of the church into which he was born.

The archdiocesan decision does not mean the church regards Marcantonio as an irrevocably condemned soul. His state of mind and his wish for salvation at the moment of death determines that.

However, the ruling does mean the 51-year-old firebrand of East Harlem politics may not be buried in ground consecrated by his church. Nor may the usual funeral mass be offered over his bier.

Marcantonio dropped dead on the street near his lower Manhattan law office yesterday. He served 14 turbulent years in Congress before he was defeated in 1950 by a coalition of Republicans, Democrats and Liberals.

The short, swarthy little lawyer was planning to seek reelection this fall as an Independent. He resigned last year from the American Labor Party, the leftist splinter group which he headed for years.

Reared a Catholic, Marcantonio was carrying a rosary in his pocket when he collapsed of a heart ailment in a driving summer rainstorm.

Ex-President Says Actions Aided Soviets

"Misuse Of Power" Damaged Country, Statesman Declares

WEST BRANCH, Iowa, Aug. 10 (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover said today that presidential "misuse of power" during the 20-year tenure of the Democrats assisted the Soviets, damaged the United States, and contributed to the enslavement of millions.

These unrestrained presidential actions, he said, have resulted in shrinking of human freedom over the whole world.

Hoover made the statement in a speech delivered during ceremonies marking his 80th birthday.

He came home for the event, back to West Branch, which now has a population of 769. Its chief feature is the gleaming white, two-room cottage where Hoover was born Aug. 10, 1874.

Visits Parents' Graves

Hoover came from California. At the end of the journey, he went directly to the cemetery, and stood beside the graves of his father, who was the village blacksmith, and his mother a Quaker school teacher. His two sons, grandchildren, and great-grandson were with him today.

He said the separate powers and functions of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government had been "confused, corroded, and weakened during the 20 years before this administration."

During the last war, he said, "we witnessed a special encroachment of the executive upon the legislative branch. This has been through a new type of commitment of the United States to other nations."

Executive Agreements Hit

He listed some actions he said fall in this category:

"They include international agreements which shackle our economy by limiting a free market."

"More terrible were such executive agreements as our recognition of Soviet Russia which opened the headgates for a torrent of traitors."

"Our tacit alliance with Soviet Russia spread communism over the earth."

"Our acquiescence in the annexation by Russia of the Baltic states at Moscow, and the partition of Poland at Tehran which extinguished the liberties of tens of millions of people."

"Worse still was the appeasement and surrender at Yalta of 10 nations to slavery."

Congress Might Quit Next Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Republican leaders today gave up all hope of adjourning Congress this Saturday. They set next week as a new target, but on the basis of experience declined to pinpoint an exact date.

A White House announcement indicated President Eisenhower doesn't expect the Senate will complete work until Aug. 19 at the earliest.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) said the adjournment schedule hinges mainly on how much time opponents spend attacking compromise atomic energy legislation. He said he'd heard talk of "another filibuster," and said this could extend the session even beyond next week.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), an outspoken critic of the way the administration proposes to allow private industry to get into atomic power production last week predicted an assault on the measure revamped by a Senate-House conference committee. But he doubted an attempt to "talk the bill to death."

Knowland raised the new target for completing legislation after he and other GOP leaders held their weekly conference with Eisenhower.

Delaware Democrats Nominate Sen. Frear

DOVER, Del., Aug. 10 (AP)—Delaware Democrats voted at the state convention today to give U. S. Sen. J. Allen Frear, Jr., a chance to win a second term in the fall election.

By a first-ballot vote of 125¾ to 84¼, the party's delegates picked the 51-year-old farmer who gained his seat in the Senate with a political upset in 1948 when he defeated Republican C. Douglass Buck.

U.S., After 179 Years, Opens Exhibit Honoring Marines

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — It took the government 179 years to do it, but it finally got around today to setting up an exhibit honoring the illustrious history of the Marine Corps.

The Leathernecks greeted the occasion with fanfare. The Marine Band marched. The Drum and Bugle Corps bugled. The drill teams drilled. And the commandant, Gen. Lemuel Shepherd, made a speech.

The exhibit then was opened to the public. It is to be a permanent part of the Smithsonian Institution.

There are all sorts of fascinating displays, like the original orders given May 21, 1799 to a marine private named William Justin.

The orders, carefully etched in the fine handwriting of the purser of the frigate, Constellation, informed Justin he was being reassigned from duty aboard the ship and certified that "whatever prize money" was due Justin "from captures made by the above ship will be paid."

On the back of the paper, it was duly noted that Justin's reward for the capture of the French frigate, Insurgente, amounted to $106.83—a small fortune in 1799.

The collection was gathered together by Maj. John H. Magruder III, who said he had obtained his loot "on a treasure hunt through the attics and cellars of the nation."

Among his treasures:

A sample of every kind of rifle and musket ever fired by a Marine, brightly colored 18th and 19th Century uniforms replete with pantaloons and lace ruffles, a gold sword given by the State of Virginia to Marine Gen. Archibald Henderson, the original score of the Marine hymn inscribed by John Philip Sousa, the 14 medals won by the most decorated soldier of World War I. Sgt. Major Daniel Daly.

Senate Approves Farm Bill

Herbert Hoover On 80th Birthday

Ex-President Herbert Hoover takes time out on his 80th anniversary to cut his big six-tiered birthday cake, surrounded by 80 candles and topped with an ornamental decoration denoting his age, at West Branch, Ia., yesterday. Above, Hoover wears the hood of an honorary doctor of laws after another honorary degree—his 80th in as many years—was presented to him by Dr. Virgil M. Hancher, president of Iowa State University. In a speech, Hoover said "misuse of power" by his Democratic successors had assisted the Soviets.

French Premier Is Given Rousing Confidence Votes

PARIS, Aug. 10 (AP)—The French National Assembly gave Premier Pierre Mendes - France two rousing votes of confidence on major issues today. One approved his sweeping economic plans and the other granted him a postponement of debate on Tunisia and Morocco.

On the economic and financial reform program, in which Mendes-France demanded special powers until March 31, 1955, to take many actions without parliamentary approval, the Premier won by a vote of 361-90. The Assembly gave him a margin of 398-126 on the vote to delay discussion of the question of France's North African protectorates.

Staked Future On Votes

The first vote was a formal expression of confidence. If Mendes-France had been denied his proposal, he would have been obliged to resign. Although he did not make the vote on Tunisia and Morocco a question of confidence, Mendes - France said he would resign if his proposal to put off debate until Aug. 7 were not approved.

Mendes - France was bitterly criticized by several deputies for his recent dramatic move to grant partial internal autonomy to the Tunisians. Some spoke of it as a "policy of abandoning" North Africa.

Premier Will Seek Solution

The Premier promised when calm has been restored to Morocco—scene of bloody anti - French clashes during the last week—his government would attempt to find a solution to that problem. He said the situation in Morocco is much different than in Tunisia, where the people have had much more experience in political affairs.

Vets Home Loan Bill Approved By House

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The House today approved a Senate-House compromise extending the veterans direct home loan program until June 30, 1955, and authorized an additional 150 million dollars to finance it the additional year.

The measure is a compromise of differing Senate-House versions which varied chiefly in the amount of the authorization.

The House-passed bill called for 100 million dollars to finance the one year extension of the loan program. The Senate-passed bill called for 200 million. The conference agreement split the difference and authorized 37½ million dollars to be made available each quarter starting July 1.

Balancing Record

WANNE-EICKEL, Germany, Aug. 10 (AP) — A German performer claimed a world record today after remaining balanced in a chair on a tight-rope for 24 hours and two minutes. Richard Schneider, 27, showed little signs of exhaustion when he hopped off the tightrope strung eight feet above the ground.

Radio Soon Will Control Chicago Traffic Signals

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — Mayor Martin H. Kennelly announced today that a revolutionary radio-controlled traffic light system will be installed in Chicago in an effort to alleviate the city's choking traffic problem.

He said the system will be the first of its kind in the world.

The system will include a transmitter atop the Board of Trade Building. The transmitter will emit radio signals which will activate traffic lights at the designated intersections. It is designed to effect a better flow of traffic at peak hours.

The radio signal transmission will be operated manually from a central control room.

Bills To Return German Assets Opposed By Ike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower made known today that he does not approve bills pending in Congress to return assets seized during World War II from enemy nationals

About 500 million dollars worth of property is involved, the largest item being the General Aniline & Film Corp., impounded during the war as German-owed, although technically in the name of a Swiss firm.

General Aniline is now worth about 90 million dollars; its value was about 35 million when the United States took it over.

The White House disclosed today that Eisenhower wrote Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany in reply to a request for action, that it is a matter for Congress. But he added:

"Several bills dealing with the subject are now pending there, and members of my Cabinet and other government officials have appeared and expressed their views.

"None of the measures thus far proposed has the approval of my administration, but you may be assured that this problem is receiving earnest consideration and it is my hope that a fair, equitable and satisfactory solution can be arrived at."

Studebaker Workers Vote Again On Pay Cut

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 10 (AP)—CIO United Auto Workers will meet on a football field tomorrow for a second vote on a wage cut demanded by Studebaker, which reported a loss of almost 9 million dollars in the first half of this year.

The union rejected the proposal last Thursday at an indoor meeting attended by an estimated 3,200 to 4,000 of about 11,000 members.

Louis J. Horvath, local president, announced the second meeting after asserting today that union officers were bound by the original vote.

Clark Proposes Organizing U.N. 'Against Russia'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Gen. Mark W. Clark today urged a break in diplomatic relations with Russia and her satellites and the organization of the United Nations "against the Soviet Union."

"I haven't had much respect for the United Nations," the retired four-star general, who was supreme commander of U.N. Forces the last year of the Korean War, told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Jenner Asks For Opinion

His statement was made after Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) said that "many people favor our withdrawal from the United Nations" and asked Clark for his opinion.

Clark, now president of the Citadel, a military college in Charleston, S.C., said he didn't think the U.N. had "contributed much" to the solution of world problems.

Commenting on the location of U.N. headquarters in this country, Clark said that "to permit the Soviet Union to have its large number of spies and saboteurs spawning around over here is wrong."

"Asset" To Russia

He called it "a very valuable asset" to Russia to have these people "running around" in this country—"a great asset to them and a great detriment to us."

"I think the United Nations should be organized as a United Nations against the Soviet Union," Clark said.

When asked his opinion of a resolution introduced by Jenner and Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) to sever diplomatic relations with Russia and the Soviet satellites, Clark replied that if he were a member of Congress he would vote for it.

Former Rep. Marcantonio Is Denied Catholic Burial

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Former Rep. Vito Marcantonio, whose political goals often paralleled the Communist party line, today was denied a Roman Catholic burial, and condemned to a religious exile's grave.

The New York archdiocese took no official note of his leftist career. Instead, it said he had fallen away from the church and its sacraments and died outside the fold.

Friends of the family pleaded in vain that he receive the final funeral rites of the church into which he was born.

The archdiocesan decision does not mean the church regards Marcantonio as an irrevocably condemned soul. His state of mind and his wish for salvation at the moment of death determines that.

However, the ruling does mean the 51-year-old firebrand of East Harlem politics may not be buried in ground consecrated by his church. Nor may the usual funeral mass be offered over his bier.

Marcantonio dropped dead on the street near his lower Manhattan law office yesterday. He served 14 turbulent years in Congress before he was defeated in 1950 by a coalition of Republicans, Democrats and Liberals.

The short, swarthy little lawyer was planning to seek reelection this fall as an Independent. He resigned last year from the American Labor Party, the leftist splinter group which he headed for years.

Reared a Catholic, Marcantonio was carrying a rosary in his pocket when he collapsed of a heart ailment in a driving summer rainstorm.

Sliding Price Props Set Up By Measure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — President Eisenhower won flexible authority to tackle the vast farm surplus problem tonight as the Senate passed the farm bill calling for a sliding scale of price supports ranging from 82½ to 90 per cent of parity.

The vote on the omnibus agricultural measure containing the new price support provisions was 62-28.

The measure now goes back to the House, with a Senate-House conference committee expected to reach a speedy compromise on differences between the two chambers.

However, there were no differences between the two bodies on the key issue of giving the President flexible powers to vary price supports on the so-called basic crops—wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts. Both chambers voted for a scale of 82½ to 90 next year instead of the present mandatory props of 90 per cent of parity.

This did not give Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson all the leeway they asked—their original proposal was for a range of 75 to 90. But administration men expressed jubilation that the principle of flexibility was established after a hectic battle.

Before tonight's final vote, backers of the Eisenhower program hung up another in a series of preliminary victories that have characterized the struggle in the last few days.

The administration victory came on a 54-33 vote which defeated a proposal offered by Senators Young (R-ND) and Humphrey (D-Minn) to require government price supports of 75 to 90 per cent of parity on soybeans, oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums.

In another important decision today, the Senate by voice vote decided to remove nearly 100,000 wheat producers in 20 states from the designated "commercial wheat area" where rigid crop controls apply. Sen. Young offered the proposal, saying that under it these growers could grow and harvest wheat without restrictions.

Four Sisters Plan "Quad" Wedding

SEATTLE, Aug. 10 (AP) — Four Seattle sisters will be married here Saturday in a quadruple wedding ceremony, the second marriage for all eight participants.

The husbands come variously from Clallam County, Seattle and San Francisco. Here's the lineup:

James D. Astel, publisher of the Forks Forum in Clallam County, will marry Marion White.

Walter Roberte, mayor of Forks and a Clallam County commissioner, will marry Mrs. Emily Baarstad, a widow who operates the Forks Motel.

Herbert DelMonico, San Francisco millinery designer, will marry Mrs. Carmelita Coffman, also of San Francisco.

Bad Check Binge Brings Texan Prison Sentence

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—A 22-day bad check binge brought Richard L. Mahan, a 46-year-old Texan, a two-year prison sentence today.

Mahan, of San Antonio, Tex., was charged with writing $32,000 worth of bad checks in 22 days of freedom after being released from the federal prison at Ashland, Ky. July 1. He had served a four-year sentence for similar offenses.

Ex-President Says Actions Aided Soviets

"Misuse Of Power" Damaged Country, Statesman Declares

WEST BRANCH, Iowa, Aug. 10 (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover said today that presidential "misuse of power" during the 20-year tenure of the Democrats assisted the Soviets, damaged the United States, and contributed to the enslavement of millions.

These unrestrained presidential actions, he said, have resulted in shrinking of human freedom over the whole world.

Hoover made the statement in a speech delivered during ceremonies marking his 80th birthday.

He came home for the event, back to West Branch, which now has a population of 769. Its chief feature is the gleaming white, two-room cottage where Hoover was born Aug. 10, 1874.

Visits Parents' Graves

Hoover came from California. At the end of the journey, he went directly to the cemetery, and stood beside the graves of his father, who was the village blacksmith, and his mother a Quaker school teacher. His two sons, grandchildren, and great-grandson were with him today.

He said the separate powers and functions of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government had been "confused, corroded, and weakened during the 20 years before this administration."

During the last war, he said, "we witnessed a special encroachment of the executive upon the legislative branch. This has been through a new type of commitment of the United States to other nations."

Executive Agreements Hit

He listed some actions he said fall in this category:

"They include international agreements which shackle our economy by limiting a free market."

"More terrible were such executive agreements as our recognition of Soviet Russia which opened the headgates for a torrent of traitors."

"Our tacit alliance with Soviet Russia spread communism over the earth."

"Our acquiescence in the annexation by Russia of the Baltic states at Moscow, and the partition of Poland at Tehran which extinguished the liberties of tens of millions of people."

"Worse still was the appeasement and surrender at Yalta of 10 nations to slavery."

Congress Might Quit Next Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Republican leaders today gave up all hope of adjourning Congress this Saturday. They set next week as a new target, but on the basis of experience declined to pinpoint an exact date.

A White House announcement indicated President Eisenhower doesn't expect the Senate will complete work until Aug. 19 at the earliest.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) said the adjournment schedule hinges mainly on how much time opponents spend attacking compromise atomic energy legislation. He said he'd heard talk of "another filibuster," and said this could extend the session even beyond next week.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), an outspoken critic of the way the administration proposes to allow private industry to get into atomic power production last week predicted an assault on the measure revamped by a Senate-House conference committee. But he doubted an attempt to "talk the bill to death."

Knowland raised the new target for completing legislation after he and other GOP leaders held their weekly conference with Eisenhower.

Delaware Democrats Nominate Sen. Frear

DOVER, Del., Aug. 10 (AP)—Delaware Democrats voted at the state convention today to give U. S. Sen. J. Allen Frear, Jr., a chance to win a second term in the fall election.

By a first-ballot vote of 125¾ to 84¼, the party's delegates picked the 51-year-old farmer who gained his seat in the Senate with a political upset in 1948 when he defeated Republican C. Douglass Buck.

St. Lawrence Power Project Under Way

MASSENA, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—The crack of aerial bombs today saluted the birth of the 600 million dollar St. Lawrence River power project, heralded by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent as a new tie of friendship between the United States and Canada.

At ceremonies here and across the border, in Cornwall, Ont., St. Laurent, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Prime Minister Leslie H. Frost of Ontario turned the first earth in the construction of the 12½ billion kilowatt hydroelectric development.

Eisenhower, in a telegram read by Dewey, hailed the joint project as "yet another strand in the strong fabric that binds the destiny of Canada and the United States."

St. Laurent, prime minister of Canada, acclaimed it as proof of "what can be achieved when nations work together for the common good in making use of the latest technological achievements in a spirit of cooperation for peaceful purposes."

At both ceremonies, scarlet-coated constables of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and grey-clad New York State troopers stood side by side at attention as military bands played "God Save the Queen" and the "Star Spangled Banner."

Flags of both nations fluttered overhead.

Ground-breaking signaled the start of construction of two dams and a powerhouse that by 1958 will produce 6½ billion kilowatts a year of electricity for nine states and the same amount for Canada.

The New York State Power Authority and the Ontario Hydroelectric Commission, partners in the venture, will share the construction cost. The project will be financed by revenue bond issues flated separately in each country.

FBI Seeks Man Who Terrorized Family Of Five

SEAT PLEASANT, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—The FBI today joined police in a search for a man who held a family of five captives for 13 hours with a .22 caliber rifle, a shot gun and a meat cleaver before fleeing.

Police reported that they were without clues to the gunman who disappeared in downtown Washington late yesterday after forcing Harold E. Grimm, 52, a District of Columbia fireman, to drive him into the city.

The man was described as about 30, five feet five inches, 140 pounds, with brown hair and eyes, dark skin and sharp features. He wore an army battle jacket.

The FBI was investigating on the grounds that Grimm was forced over state lines, a violation of the Lindbergh kidnap law.

Held captive by the man besides Grimm were his wife, Edith, 47; two sons, Harold Eugene, 20 and William Fred, 16, and a brother-in-law, Carl W. Weissmueller, 51.

Downward Ejection Seats From Bomber Successful

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) — The Air Force announced today four volunteers successfully made tests of new downward automatic ejection seats from a jet bomber over the Gulf of Mexico.

Headquarters of the Air Research and Development Command said the four made 17 jumps from a hatch in the bottom of a B47 bomber flying 250 to 500 miles an hour at 10,000 feet.

The tests were made from Eglin Field, Fla., by a group from the Wright Air Development Center at Dayton, O.

Ejection seats for pilots of high speed jets have been used for some time, but they have always shot upward out of the plane. The Air Force said this is not feasible in some planes now in use or in the development stage.

Downward ejection was designed for some crew positions on the B47 and the B52, it explained.

The new ejection seat is mounted on rails and is driven downward and out of the plane by the explosion of a powder cartridge.

After the jumper pulls a ring to fire the seat out of the aircraft, he is released from the seat and his parachute is opened automatically by special explosive and timing devices.

State Moves To End Touhy's Freedom

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—The state moved swiftly tonight in an effort to end the freedom of Roger (The Terrible) Touhy.

The prohibition era gangster was freed yesterday by U. S. District Judge John P. Barnes who held Touhy's 20-year imprisonment was based on a hoax.

Asst. Illinois Atty. Gen. Ben Schwartz today filed a notice of appeal with the clerk of Federal District Court and said he will seek to have Touhy returned to custody pending outcome of the appeal.

Touhy is at liberty on a $10,000 bond.

Schwartz said the state has 40 days in which to file briefs in support of the appeal.

Firestone Workers' Strike Set Tonight

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 10 (AP)—The CIO United Rubber Workers Union today reported it was "hopeful but at the same time doubtful" of averting a strike of 25,000 Firestone Tire & Rubber Workers set for midnight Thursday.

Firestone has been fiddling around for seven and a half weeks," a union spokesman said. "They've made no move to play ball. They're just waiting to see what happens at Goodyear."

The Goodyear remark refers to a strike since July 7 of 30,000 Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. employes in 10 plants throughout the country.

Health Congress Delegate

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin has designated Dr. Clifton T. Perkins, State commissioner of mental hygiene, to represent Maryland at the Fifth International Congress on Mental Health which opens at Toronto Wednesday.

The Young Men's Christian association was founded in 1844 in London, England.

The United States Marines originated dive bombing in Nicaragua in 1927.

The hit that's changing the sales standings puts you way ahead 3 ways

THIS year Buick has done what no other car has done in more than a generation.

This year Buick has moved into the lofty circle of America's three top sales leaders – a circle once dominated only by the so-called "low-price three." For today, Buick is outselling all other cars in the nation except two of these "low-price three." And each new month's sales figures strengthen Buick's new sales leadership.

You can't do better – if you want the best buy for your new-car money – than to look into the soaring success that is Buick today. You'll find this glamorous new-day beauty puts you way ahead in three important ways—that's for sure. So drop in on us—tomorrow at the latest—and see for yourself that Buick is the buy of the year, hands down.

1. More new car for your money

Buick prices start close to the lowest—just a few dollars above those of the traditional "low-price three." But those few more dollars for a Buick get you a lot more automobile – more room, more comfort, more V8 power, more ride steadiness, more solid durability—plus the advanced "tomorrow" styling that has taken the country by storm.

2. More money for your present car

With our great and growing sales volume, we can offer you a bigger trade-in allowance on your present car when you buy a new Buick. After all, the more new cars we sell, the better deal we can make with you. So you get the benefit of our great success in the form of a higher trade-in allowance.

3. More dollars when you trade

Because Buick's broad panoramic windshield has started a whole new styling trend, you can be sure that today's Buick will keep its modern look for years to come. So you are assured of a higher resale figure when you trade it in later on.

Come see for yourself why— Buick Sales are Soaring!

The hit that's changing the sales standings puts you way ahead 3 ways

THIS year Buick has done what no other car has done in more than a generation.

This year Buick has moved into the lofty circle of America's three top sales leaders – a circle once dominated only by the so-called "low-price three." For today, Buick is outselling all other cars in the nation except two of these "low-price three." And each new month's sales figures strengthen Buick's new sales leadership.

You can't do better – if you want the best buy for your new-car money – than to look into the soaring success that is Buick today. You'll find this glamorous new-day beauty puts you way ahead in three important ways–that's for sure. So drop in on us–tomorrow at the latest–and see for yourself that Buick is the buy of the year, hands down.

1. More new car for your money

Buick prices start close to the lowest–just a few dollars above those of the traditional "low-price three." But those few more dollars for a Buick get you a lot more automobile – more room, more comfort, more V8 power, more ride steadiness, more solid durability–plus the advanced "tomorrow" styling that has taken the country by storm.

2. More money for your present car

With our great and growing sales volume, we can offer you a bigger trade-in allowance on your present car when you buy a new Buick. After all, the more new cars we sell, the better deal we can make with you. So you get the benefit of our great success in the form of a higher trade-in allowance.

3. More dollars when you trade

Because Buick's broad panoramic windshield has started a whole new styling trend, you can be sure that today's Buick will keep its modern look for years to come. So you are assured of a higher resale figure when you trade it in later on.

Come see for yourself why – Buick Sales are Soaring!

Task Of Classifying Disputed Talbot Co. Ballots Completed

EASTON, Md., Aug. 10 (AP) — A circuit judge and two batteries of lawyers finished reviewing 289 key ballots today, setting the stage for the next laborious step deciding who will be Maryland's Democratic candidate for governor in November.

Judge William R. Horney, presiding at the ballot review in Talbot County Circuit Court, said attorneys for Dr. H. C. Byrd and George P. Mahoney will begin arguing tomorrow whether the paper ballots should be counted or discarded.

Horney ordered 108 polling place officials summoned for questioning. He said 36 should be prepared to appear tomorrow and all should be ready to answer questions about the ballots.

Mahoney, trying to reverse his apparent defeat by Byrd in the June 28 primary, has asked that they be thrown out on grounds they were not properly marked. The court spent yesterday and today having attorneys for Mahoney classify the ballots according to the types of allegedly improper markings on them.

"Everything possible ought to be done to see how those marks got there," said Horney in ordering summonses for the polling place officials.

The official canvass showed Byrd the winner of the nomination by about 4,000 popular votes and eight convention unit votes over Mahoney. His 80-72 edge in unit votes—similar to the electoral college votes by which the president of the United States is elected—is what Mahoney is trying to reverse in the Talbot County court action.

If Mahoney's contention about improper markings is upheld, he would gain talbot County's four unit votes, throwing him into a 76-76 tie with Byrd. But because Byrd still would get the nomination on the basis of his popular-vote margin if the unit votes are tied, Mahoney would need the three unit votes of Queen Annes County, where he has filed a similar court suit.

Both suits ask the courts to reverse the election officials in Talbot and Queen Annes, where post-primary recounts asked by Mahoney failed to erase Byrd's narrow leads over Mahoney.

The recounts had pared Byrd's advantage in Talbot from 60 to 57 votes and in Queen Annes from 53 to 22. Mahoney contends the election officials improperly refused to nullify many ballots which were challenged by his representatives at the recounts because of the controversial marks.

In an earlier ruling Judge Horney upheld a Byrd demurrer saying the election officials had discretionary powers under which they could decide whether a ballot had been marked according to law.

The Court of Appeals, Maryland's highest tribunal, overruled Horney and sent the case back to his court for a hearing on the ballots themselves.

During the past two days each ballot has been examined and placed into one of 13 categories, labeled "A" through "P", according to the type of allegedly improper mark or marks on it.

Bids On Highway Projects Opened

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) — The State Roads Commission got a low bid of $401,332.70 today on a project calling for a major overhaul of Maryland 27, the short road from Westminster to Washington.

The Westminster firm of Thomas, Bennett and Hunter was the low bidder among five companies bidding on the job.

The project calls for the grading draining, surfacing, resurfacing and widening (from the present 15-foot width to 22 feet) of 4.23 miles of the route from a point one mile south of Warfieldsburg in Carroll County southward to Taylorsville.

The E. H. Nunn Construction Co. of Halethorpe was the apparent low bidder, at $248,234, for construction of a four-span steel bridge that will carry U. S. Route 340 over the Frederick by-pass. There were 15 bidders on the job, bids ranging as high as $318,754.

Another bridge job, carrying the relocated Cold Bottom Road over the Baltimore-Harrisburg Expressway in Baltimore County, drew an apparent low bid of $156,583 from the Bero Engineering and Construction Corp. of Buffalo, N.Y. It will be a five span steel I-beam bridge.

W. Va. Saved Millions By Fewer Road Deaths

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 10 (AP)—Fewer highway fatalities in the state this year have saved West Virginians more than five million dollars, State Police Supt. R. W. Boyles estimated today.

He said the National Safety Council places an approximate cost of $95,000 in each highway fatality. This figure includes loss of life, hospital expenses and property damage accidents for each fatality and these costs are included in the $95,000.

So far this year, there have been 194 fatal accidents which cost, according to the council estimates, $18,430,000. At the same time last year, there were 249 fatalities, costing $23,655,000. The difference is $5,225,000.

Painting Contractor Snubs Grand Jury

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Robert E. Minte, Annapolis, Md., painting contractor, failed to appear today when he was called to testify before a federal grand jury regarding his account of giving $1,000 to painters' union officials in 1951.

Deputy U. S. marshals were sent to bring him in.

Minte was one of a number of contractors who testified before a House subcommittee last week in an inquiry into alleged payoffs to union officials. Several told of making payments for such purposes as getting permission to use spray guns which the union generally opposes.

Ex-CD Official Released From Jail On Parole

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) — Circuit Judge Herman M. Moser today struck out the remainder of an 18-month sentence against William J. Muth, former publicity director for the Maryland Civil Defense Agency, who has served three months in jail.

Muth was convicted and sentenced last April 30 on charges of malfeasance and false pretense in connection with alleged larceny of $2,400 in CD funds.

Judge Moser placed the former Baltimore City Council vice president on probation for three years. He said restitution of the $2,400 would be made before Muth's release.

Judge Moser said the court "would ordinarily have placed this man on probation because of his previous excellent record in the community, the likelihood of his becoming a useful citizen again and the belief that he would be involved in no further criminal activities.

"However, due to the fact that this man was a public official and that his attitude on the stand was one of refusal to recognize his offense, the court could not properly consider probation at the time of sentence."

Judge Moser said Muth has been offered a position by a "prominent business man which will permit him to take care of his family and be self-supporting."

Fairchild Buys Plant Site In N.Y.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 10 (AP) — Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp. announced today it has bought 200 acres at Deer Park, Long Island, N. Y., as the site of a proposed new jet engine plant.

The new factory will replace the Farmingdale, N. Y., main plant of the company's engine division. The Farmingdale property, which is only a few miles from the Deer Park site, was recently sold to Republic Aviation Corp.

The new plant will have administrative and engineering offices and an advanced turbine engine test laboratory, Richard S. Boutelle, president of Fairchild, said.

"Now that we have jet engines of our own design in volume production and in advanced stages of new design, we need additional area for production expansion and for new specially-devised testing facilities," he asserted.

Fairchild's engine division manufactures weapons for underwater anti-submarine warfare, components for large turbojet engines and special-purpose equipment for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission in addition to its principal line of small turbojets for target drones, pilotless planes and guided missiles.

State's Dry Spell Broken But Crops Need More Rain

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—The long summer dry spell is over, but crop reporters said today rains must keep coming if many crops are to bounce back.

In fact, the Crop Reporting Service said in its weekly report, some corn and hay already have been lost beyond recovery.

The weekly report said corn and soybeans generally will respond rapidly to recent rains, although most advanced corn fields cannot recover completely. Late peaches and apples should show additional sizing.

"Pastures and hay crops will respond to the rains, but will not be able to make up for their earlier losses," the report continued.

Water Curbs Continue

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—City water authorities said today more showers could bring an easing in four or five days of the restrictions now in force on watering of lawns and car washing.

It is illegal to use water for these purposes except from midnight to 7 a.m.

Printed music notes were first used in 1473.

Fugitive May Be Instrument Of Red Conquest In Thailand

Editors: Fred Hampson, Associated Press chief of bureau in Hong Kong, long has watched the web of intrigue in and around Thailand. In 1951, he was the first correspondent to establish that fugitive Pridi Phanaomyong, leader of the Thai left, was in Red China. Here Hampson presents the background of Pridi, who appears to be the chosen instrument of Red conquest in Thailand.

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG, Aug. 10 (AP)—From this Far East vantage point it looks as if a giant Damoclean sword, hanging by the thread of "peaceful co-existence," dangles over the happy little kingdom of Thailand.

When communism was established in Indochina through the settlement at Geneva, Thailand became the next target by geographical position.

The question was: What instrument would the Reds use on Thailand, a country that has never been a colony, is not overcrowded, is generally prosperous, is cordial to the West, and has outlawed communism?

The answer came quickly in the person of Pridi Phanaomyong.

Who is Pridi Phanaomyong?

If you combed through Thailand's leftwing nationalists for a counterpart of Indochina's Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh, you would come up with Pridi.

Pridi was suspected of nothing more sinister than being a liberal-minded reformer. People considered him a champion of Thailand, a foe of corruption, and Socialist. But a Communist? Never!

That's what they used to say of Ho Chi Minh.

Pridi, educated in France, has been a Thailand Socialist 25 years. He assumed much direct power after participating in one of Thailand's many coup d'etats in the early 1930's.

Pridi became premier for a while after the war. He stepped out in favor of friends and followers because he preferred to wield his power from behind the scenes. A coup d'etat in the late 1940's drove him underground. Many sincere people thought it a great tragedy.

His disappearance was complete. When the Reds took China, reports put him in Shanghai. But his Thai friends usually rejected the reports because they persisted in believing he was not a Communist.

Then came Geneva, bringing the Communists into Southeast Asia. The Red River Delta in Viet Nam became the advance post for propaganda, infiltration and conspiracy. Thailand must be softened up.

Who appeared on the scene? Pridi. He had been in Red China all the time.

Using all the stock Red cliches, Pridi reappeared by acclaiming—in the Peiping People's Daily and on Peiping Radio—the "great victory of Geneva."

"Thailand is still under the control of the U. S. imperialists and the reactionary regime of (Premier) Pibulsonggram," he said. "Thailand is a base for aggression, threatening peace and creating world tension. This will bring disaster to the Thai people.

"The U. S. imperialists and the reactionary government are doing their utmost to create misunderstanding between the people of China, Thailand, Viet Nam, and the whole world's peace-loving people.

"Only by peaceful coexistence with the world's democracies can Thailand hope to maintain her independence and integrity. In order to counteract the tension and misunderstanding created by U. S. imperialists, Thailand must befriend the Chinese People's Republic and Viet Nam Democratic Republics and peoples democracies everywhere. . . ."

He called for a struggle against Pibulsonggram and "U. S. imperialism."

Thus spoke the new Pridi, the man so lately hailed by his own countrymen as a non-Communist fighter against corruption. He still commands a following in Thailand among solid citizens, and would be hastily pressed into leadership by the Thai underground Communists, who many believe number a few hundred thousand.

Like the Panchan Lama in Tibet, like Ho Chi Minh in Indochina, like Kim Il Sung in North Korea, communism has found in Pridi a readymade, native spearhead for conquest, a spearhead whom many Westerners, including Americans, endorsed less than 10 years ago.

Refugee Beauty Wins Bachelor Degree In Year

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Aug. 10 (AP)—Par for the course is four years but a 20-year-old beauty who fled the Red zone of Germany will receive her degree from the University of Illinois this week after a year of study.

She is Edith Maria Binde who completed the requirements for a degree of bachelor of science in economics between September 1953 and last week when examinations were given.

The assistant dean of liberal arts and sciences, Francis J. Koenig, said that in his 25 years of experience he could not recall anyone who had earned a bachelor's degree in so short a time.

Miss Binde accomplished her aim by taking 12 hours of work during the summer session. Normally a summer student is limited to eight hours. Her marks for the summer term averaged 4.5 and for the year 4.25. Top rank is 5.00, giving her a B-plus grade for the year.

She had planned to return to Germany on getting her degree but now wishes to try for a master's degree during the coming year. This normally requires about 18 months of study.

The girl hopes to obtain an assistantship in the university's German Department to help pay for the additional study. The State Department has extended her visa.

She studied for her bachelor's degree on a scholarship granted by PEO, a national women's lodge. The meaning of the lodge initials is secret.

Miss Binde won credit for 69 of the 120 hours of study required for a bachelor's degree by taking proficiency exams in various subjects. She won eight hours' credit by passing one in Russian language and other credits for one in English rhetoric.

She was a featured dancer in the university's Spring Carnival show and was chosen as one of the six prettiest girls in the senior class by the Illini Yearbook. She was coed sponsor of the Phalanx military ball.

Miss Binde fled from the Russian zone of East Germany to Berlin. She came to the United States and studied at Springfield, Ill., High School before coming to the university. Until the September semester begins, she will stay with Mr. and Mrs. George P. Kreider in Springfield.

Fugitive May Be Instrument Of Red Conquest In Thailand

Editors: Fred Hampson, Associated Press chief of bureau in Hong Kong, long has watched the web of intrigue in and around Thailand. In 1951, he was the first correspondent to establish that fugitive Pridi Phanaomyong, leader of the Thai left, was in Red China. Here Hampson presents the background of Pridi, who appears to be the chosen instrument of Red conquest in Thailand.

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG, Aug. 10 (AP)—From this Far East vantage point it looks as if a giant Damoclean sword, hanging by the thread of "peaceful co-existence," dangles over the happy little kingdom of Thailand.

When communism was established in Indochina through the settlement at Geneva, Thailand became the next target by geographical position.

The question was: What instrument would the Reds use on Thailand, a country that has never been a colony, is not overcrowded, is generally prosperous, is cordial to the West, and has outlawed communism?

The answer came quickly in the person of Pridi Phanaomyong.

Who is Pridi Phanaomyong?

If you combed through Thailand's leftwing nationalists for a counterpart of Indochina's Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh, you would come up with Pridi.

Pridi was suspected of nothing more sinister than being a liberal-minded reformer. People considered him a champion of Thailand, a foe of corruption, and Socialist. But a Communist? Never!

That's what they used to say of Ho Chi Minh.

Pridi, educated in France, has been a Thailand Socialist 25 years. He assumed much direct power after participating in one of Thailand's many coup d'etats in the early 1930's.

Pridi became premier for a while after the war. He stepped out in favor of friends and followers because he preferred to wield his power from behind the scenes. A coup d'etat in the late 1940's drove him underground. Many sincere people thought it a great tragedy.

His disappearance was complete. When the Reds took China, reports put him in Shanghai. But his Thai friends usually rejected the reports because they persisted in believing he was not a Communist.

Then came Geneva, bringing the Communists into Southeast Asia. The Red River Delta in Viet Nam became the advance post for propaganda, infiltration and conspiracy. Thailand must be softened up.

Who appeared on the scene? Pridi. He had been in Red China all the time.

Using all the stock Red cliches, Pridi reappeared by acclaiming—in the Peiping People's Daily and on Peiping Radio—the "great victory of Geneva."

"Thailand is still under the control of the U. S. imperialists and the reactionary regime of (Premier) Pibulsonggram," he said. "Thailand is a base for aggression, threatening peace and creating world tension. This will bring disaster to the Thai people.

"The U. S. imperialists and the reactionary government are doing their utmost to create misunderstanding between the people of China, Thailand, Viet Nam, and the whole world's peace-loving people.

"Only by peaceful coexistence with the world's democracies can Thailand hope to maintain her independence and integrity. In order to counteract the tension and misunderstanding created by U. S. imperialists, Thailand must befriend the Chinese People's Republic and Viet Nam Democratic Republics and peoples democracies everywhere. . . ."

He called for a struggle against Pibulsonggram and "U. S. imperialism."

Thus spoke the new Pridi, the man so lately hailed by his own countrymen as a non-Communist fighter against corruption. He still commands a following in Thailand among solid citizens, and would be hastily pressed into leadership by the Thai underground Communists, who many believe number a few hundred thousand.

Like the Panchan Lama in Tibet, like Ho Chi Minh in Indochina, like Kim Il Sung in North Korea, communism has found in Pridi a readymade, native spearhead for conquest, a spearhead whom many Westerners, including Americans, endorsed less than 10 years ago.

Burial will be in the Rose Hill Cemetery.

MRS. BEULAH BLACKBURN

WESTERNPORT — Mrs. Beulah Blackburn, formerly of here, died August 4 in a hospital in Kalamazoo, Mich. She had been in ill health for two years.

Following the death of her husband, the late Oscar Blackburn in 1929, she moved to Kalamazoo.

Born in Elk Garden, W. Va., Mrs. Blackburn was a daughter of the late John Z. and Effie (Kalbaugh) Clark. She was a member of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Blackburn is survived by three married daughters, Cleo, Geraldine and Betty and one son, Frederick, all of Kalamazoo; two sisters, Mrs. Bertie Keller, Keyser and Mrs. May Perry, Washington, D. C.; three brothers, Carl Clark, Alameda, Calif.; Ray Clark, Plattsburg, N. Y. and Artie Clark, Elk Garden, W. Va. The late W. E. Clark of Piedmont, was also a brother.

Funeral services were held Saturday in Kalamazoo with burial there.

BENJAMIN H. THOMAS

A funeral service for Benjamin H. Thomas, retired Chief of Police of Frostburg, who died Monday at his apartment on East Main Street, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Durst Funeral Home.

Rev. Ralph Illingworth, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will officiate and interment will be in Frostburg Memorial Park. The body is at the funeral home.

ISAAC SIDNEY RUDY

Isaac Sidney Rudy, 52, died early yesterday evening at his home, 409 Piedmont Avenue. He had been ill since March.

Born in Paw Paw, W. Va., he was a son of Charles Rudy and the late Mary (Hutchinson) Rudy. He was employed as a car repairman for 33 years at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad backshops and was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen.

Survivors include his father, Charles Rudy, Keyser, W. Va.; his widow, Mrs. Marion Catlett Rudy, at home; a daughter, Mrs. Robert Hammann, Cumberland; two sons, Melvin and Wilbur Rudy, both of Portland, Ore.; a granddaughter, Pamela Jean Hammann, city; three brothers, Irvin and Ernest Rudy, both of Cumberland, and Clayton Rudy, Tacoma Park; three sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Bohrer, Mrs. Theodore Kidwell and Mrs. Daisy Wilson, all of Cumberland.

YMCA Rec Club Plans Extra Activities For Fan Fund

The Rec Club Council of Central YMCA announces a special dance for members only, to be held at the Y gym tonight from 9 until 11:30. Music will be furnished by Johnny Ritchie and his orchestra, one of the regular Rec Club dance orchestras.

Officers of the Rec Club council for the coming year are Judy Cooper, president; Mary Dailey, vice president; Mary F. Deluca, secretary, and Gail Trieber, treasurer.

During the coming months, the club will sponsor special dances to raise funds for the purchase of ventilating fans to be installed in the balcony of the Y gym.

Judy Cooper reports that the Rec Club which has been in operation for 11 years under the sponsorship of the YMCA is the largest and most popular teen-age program in the city. An average of 300 teen-agers attend the weekly dances. During the summer months the gym is not very comfortable for dancing. Realizing the Y operates on a limited budget, the council voted to conduct extra activities during the year and to use the proceeds for the purchase of fans for the gym.

The Rec Club is part of the Central YMCA's community-wide program.

All Stars Picnic Sunday

The Cumberland 4-H All Stars will have the annual picnic supper Sunday August 15 at the home of Wilma Vandevort, Danville. Members are to take sandwiches and a covered dish. The drink will be furnished.

Your parties will be more fun for you — and your guests — if you are a relaxed hostess.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The success of a party starts with your attitude as hostess. Do you consider giving a party a pleasure? Do you honestly feel cordial when you extend the invitation that "cordially invites"? A charming hostess does . . . and she enjoys her own parties!

With your mind attuned to the spirit of the social occasion, follow these future suggestions to be the kind of hostess who makes every guest feel welcome. No matter how much you like the old familiar group, resolve to include a few new faces when next you entertain. You can become awfully narrow-minded by never letting new acquaintances bring you new ideas.

Advance Preparations

Allow yourself plenty of time to prepare for the party. One of my favorite hostesses makes so many lists in advance—guests, things to do, and food to order—that we all josh her about her paperwork. But we also enjoy her parties! Don't think yourself stupid because you have to write things down. It's a mark of competence if you make lists and really follow them.

Plan a thorough housecleaning that will make your home an admirable reflection of your best-dressed self. A clean house is a receptive one! Distribute the ashtrays and check on refreshments well in advance of party hour so you can devote the last-minutes to your personal appearance.

Wear a dress you particularly like. You'll be more comfortable in a fashion you're positive is flattering. Allow yourself extra time to dress and to relax. If nerves are taut before hand, you are certain to appear tired during the party. How can you sparkle if you're exhausted?

Greet Arrivals

Make each guest feel at home, with a welcoming comment. After introductions, let your guests mingle. They won't require management every moment. You'll only tire yourself playing the constant guide, and you'll make guests uneasy.

If there is a guest of honor, see that he meets people (and vice versa), but don't hover, and don't break up conversational groups to be sure that Jane meets John. If you particularly want one guest to meet another, a subtle suggestion is more apropos than a pointed direction.

People like to get together for good food, good talk, good fun. The party that's not overly demanding of hostess or guests is the kind of party everyone enjoys—hostess, included!

Silicosis Death Claim Set For October Court Hearing

A precedent setting case that has been before several boards, commissions and courts for about four years will resume its course through the field of litigation during the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The case is the one filed by Mrs. Beulah Shuck, of Eckhart, widow of Joseph E. Shuck, against the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and the U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty Company, and the State Industrial Accident Commission.

Before the death on April 18, 1950, of Shuck, an employe of the Kelly plant since 1922, he had a hearing before the medical board of the State Industrial Accident Commission, claiming he had contracted silicosis from working in the compounding room at the Kelly.

The board found that Shuck had not contracted silicosis. Later Shuck died and an autopsy, according to the pathologist's and physician's reports, showed that he had free silica in his lung sufficient to cause silicosis.

The Medical Board then reversed itself, according to court records in the case. However, an appeal was filed from the Accident Commission in Allegany county circuit court when the commission ruled that regardless of the fact that Shuck had silica in his lungs, the condition was characterisic to the trade and industry. The fact that rubber industry is harzardous from a silicosis standpoint has not been established, the commission pointed out.

Testimony on the appeal was heard March 17, 1953, in court here. Judge Morgan Harris then referred the case to the commission for additional testimony from the medical board. This testimony has been taken and the case is ready for continuation of the hearing.

Berry Clarifies Statement

Homer Berry, 221 Mary Street, who Monday spoke in favor of the State Roads Commission expressway (overhead bridge) plan, requested clarification of his published statement yesterday.

Berry drew applause when he said he would be willing to pay ten times the 3.3 cents tax it is estimated it will cost on each $100 of assessable property to finance the city's share of the project.

Revenue Drop Cited By WM

The July operating revenues of the Western Maryland Railway were the lowest for any month this year.

Business handled by the company was down in virtually all classifications, a company official said.

Operating revenues for last month were estimated at $3,020,000, as compared with $3,956,210 for July, 1953, and $3,441,084 for June of this year.

The July slump was eccentuated by the bituminous miners' holiday during the first week and widespread industrial vacations.

Net income for July, after taxes and charges, was tentatively figurged at $294,000 as compared with $586,908 for the similar 1953 month and a net of $472,276 for June.

Coal and coke freight accounted for only $921,000 of gross business for July and was down $328,000 from a year earlier. Other freight revenues were estimated at $1,853,000—a decrease of $613,000.

For the first seven months of 1954 gross came to approximately $24,042,000 as against $29,448,561 a year ago. Net income for that period was estimated at $2,939,000 as compared with $4,463,046 for the seven months of 1953 and $2,572,934 for the like interval two years ago.

Public School Term Opens September 7

Allegany county public schools will open Tuesday, September 7, and close Friday, June 10, according to the 1954-55 school calendar announced today by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

Registration of new pupils will be held Wednesday, September 1, at all schools between 9 a. m. and noon.

Elementary school principals will meet Thursday, September 2, at 9:30 a. m. in the Board of Education Administration Building, Washington Street.

The same day at 1:30 p. m. high school principals will meet in the administration building.

On Friday, September 3, at 9:30 a. m. all faculties will meet with their respective principals in the school.

The first day of school September 7, will be a half-day session, 9 a. m. to noon. Wednesday, September 8, will also be from 9 a. m. to noon, with full sessions starting Thursday, September 9.

Saturday, September 11, at 10 a. m. there will be a meeting of all teachers in Allegany High School auditorium.

The public school children will get their first holiday when the Maryland State Teachers Association meets Thursday, October 14, and Friday, October 15, in Baltimore.

Children will leave school Wednesday, October 13, and return to classes Monday, October 18.

Being election year, schools will be closed Tuesday, November 2, for the state general election.

The Thanksgiving holiday begins Wednesday, November 24, at 1 p. m. and students return to classes on Monday, November 29.

Schools close at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday, December 22, for the Christmas vacation, and open again Monday, January 3.

The first semester will close Monday, January 31, and the second semester will begin February 1.

The Easter vacation will start Thursday, April 7, at 1 p. m. and continue until Wednesday, April 13, at 8 a. m.

May 20 will be orientation day for all Sixth Graders at the junior high and high schools they will attend in the 1955-56 school year.

Monday, May 30, Memorial Day, all schools will be closed. Friday, June 10, is the final day of the 1954-55 year.

Games Party Today

Lamont Street Playground Association will conduct a games party at 7:30 p. m. today at the playlot.

Most of the Mexican population live between altitudes of 3,000 and 8,000 feet.

Meeting Planned Tomorrow By Friends Aware Group

The Association of Friends Aware of Handicapped Children will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. at Cumberland Savings Bank.

The meeting night has been changed from Friday this week because of the playground parade, Mrs. John J. Long, president, said.

Reports will be made on the bake sale to be held Saturday from noon to 5 p. m. in the Singer Sewing Center, Baltimore Street, and on the new and used clothing sale scheduled August 28. A list of merchants cooperating in the latter project will be distributed to those attending.

A report on progress toward establishing a class for seriously handicapped children at the Kiwanis Club's Sunshine Camp will be made by Mrs. Blanche Lueck.

The association, Mrs. Long said, is anxious to clarify any misinterpretation that may have resulted from a report of its last meeting in regards to forming the class.

She said parents in the group are aware and appreciative of the special education program conducted by the Allegany County Board of Education.

However, the association is primarily interested in developing on a local level a program for those children who are not considered educable and for whom the only program available (outside of expensive private schools which cost $300 a month and up) is the Rosewood Training School at Owings Mills.

"We are desirous of combining the advantages of group training with home care and family love for those children whose handicap is too serious to make them eligible for one of the splendid special education programs currently sponsored by the Board of Education," Mrs. Long said.

"The offer of the Kiwanis Club to use facilities at the Sunshine Camp has been accepted and an experimental class for a small group of children will be undertaken under supervision of mothers and other volunteers," she concluded.

Dues Increase Vote Planned

Members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), will vote today and tomorrow on a proposal to increase monthly dues from $2 to $3.

The action will be taken at meetings today at 7:30 p. m. and tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. in the union hall.

The dues increase was adopted by the TWUA's 8th biennial convention. Fifty cents of the amount will be kept by local unions.

Wesley Cook, director of the TWUA's synthetic yarn division, will brief members tonight on recent TWUA developments.

Proposed by-laws changes will also be presented for membership action.

Concert Set Sunday At Constitution Park

The next outdoor program of the Cumberland Concert Band will be Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in the ampitheatre at Constitution Park. The program will feature Miss Josephine Kompanek as soprano soloist.

The band will also play on Baltimore Street before and during the City Recreation Department's intra-city playground parade which starts at 7:30 p.m.

A bandstand will be erected at the corner of Baltimore and Centre Streets for the musicians who will feature marching music, starting at 7:15.

The next rehearsal will be at the Loyal Order of Moose Home tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Fireworks Slated During Fair

A different program of fireworks is scheduled every night of the Cumberland Fair, August 23 to August 28, inclusive.

The theme of each night's display and explanation will be announced prior to the specific evening, according to Frank A. Wolfhope, director of the Fair.

One of the big features of the week will be Irish Horan and his Hell Drivers, an auto show scheduled Monday, August 23.

All of the acts on the stage will be furnished by Cooke and Rose, talent booking concern.

Among them will be Lloyd and Grace, musical chefs; Miss Jessie Griffith, organist, and Francine and Rita Rose, of Lancaster, Pa., young teen-age jugglers.

Francine and Rita have appeared 20 times on television programs, including the Big Top Circus, Ranger Joe and others.

Prell's Shows, on the midway, will feature 18 different rides for all ages. There will be 18 other midway attractions.

School Cafeteria Positions Filled

There are no vacancies on the staffs of public school cafeterias, Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of school cafeterias for the Allegany County Board of Education, said yesterday.

She pointed out her office has been deluged with job requests. She said there was only one opening and that was filled from the file of 200 applications for positions her office maintains.

In addition to those 200 on file, there have been 60 additional job requests submitted recently.

No Snap Finding Suspenders And Garters In Soviet Union

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

MOSCOW, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Soviet male is in danger of having his pants fall down because of shortages of suspenders and buttons.

And many a Russian woman complains she can't keep up her stockings because she can't buy any garters or other elastics. And if her hair is untidy, well there are not enough hairpins or good combs.

And, what's more, much of the haberdashery and motions goods is so shoddy customers have a perfect right to complain.

All this and more, is reported and deplored by Soviet Trade, official newspaper of A. Imikoyan's Ministry of Internal Trade, which runs all the stores and shops in the Soviet Union.

"In our big drive for more consumer goods," the paper said, "the volume and variety of goods in our haberdashery and notions shops has actually decreased.

"The output of buttons, cuff-buckles for dresses and coats has declined .... There are not enough sewing needles, not enough silk ribbon.

"There are not enough suspenders for men or garters for women. . . .

"Elastics are in especially short supply. There is one factory which reports it produces 60 million meters per year, but our stores and shops receive only one million meters. . . .

"A zipper factory delivers all its production to the dressmaking factories and other organizations, but the shops get no zippers. The production of cufflinks and clips and cosmetics boxes and compacts has declined. . . .

"They are also producing fewer good combs and soap boxes and hairpins and hairclips. Most of these are of inferior quality as well as scarce. . . .

The same issue of Soviet Trade carries a long complaint that in Leningrad, Russia's second largest city, the biggest radio and parts store has no spare parts, but one can get them from speculators and black marketeers who operate right in front of the store.

Hospitals Need Help From Polio Fund Drive

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Basil O'Connor said today some hospitals may be unable to meet their payrolls because of debts for polio treatment unless they get help from the 20 million dollar emergency March of Dimes drive starting Monday.

O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said the foundation had 11 million dollars on hand but that its obligations for the rest of this year for hospital care and other activities total $32,600,000.

Job Of Defending U.S. From Air Attack Handed To Gen. Chidlaw

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Gen. Benjamin Wiley Chidlaw is a man with a mission. It's to defend the United States from air attack.

Secretary of Defense Wilson gave him the job last week.

Chidlaw will head the Continental Air Defense Command, a combined Armed Services war-theater type affair which will include Army, Navy, Marine Corps and National Guard units as well as the Air Force. It is to be set up early next month.

The 53-year-old, mild mannered air general—he's white haired and wears hornrimmed specs—has had a crack at this sort of thing in his present job as chief of the Air Defense Command at Ent Air Force Base, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Second in Air Force seniority only to Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the chief of staff, Chidlaw took over the fledgling Air Command in July, 1951, and shepherded it to its present imposing strength: about 2,000 jet fighter interceptors on round-the-clock alert, bolstered by a radar chain, control centers and an army of volunteer sky watchers across the country.

Chidlaw recognized from the start there was no 100 per cent perfect defense against a determined all-out atomic attack by bombers, or by surface-to-surface or air-launched guided missiles.

"Figure it out for yourself," he said. "Over three million square miles of territory to protect against an invasion in the third dimension, 10,000 or more miles of border to guard and a fence to build around it, 8, 9 or 10 miles high.

"Every person, civilian and military—every agent, within or without the government — concerned with any phase of this defense problem, must offer wholehearted cooperation if we are to approach the degree of success we strive for."

Chidlaw will have a special appreciation of the term "wholehearted cooperation" when he takes over the Continental Air Defense Command with its assorted elements.

Wilson, describing the joint command as an "improvement and refinement" over the present air defense setup, listed it as a sort of super-military agency charged with masterminding overall defense against an air attack. He said it would develop coordinated plans and requirements, control all needed armed forces and act in concert with civilian defense units.

Chidlaw would continue to command the ADC and also have under him:

1. 21 Air National Guard squadrons.

2. The more than 100 battalions of the Army Antiaircraft Command, along with its nike missile installations at more than 30 critical target areas.

3. Ships and aircraft at sea that are tied into the central warning and defense system.

4. All available other Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps forces which "can contribute to a more effective air defense of the United States."

That type of command takes a knack for getting others to get things done—and picking the right men to do them. Associates say Chidlaw, a quiet man despite a military bearing which makes him look even bigger than his six-foot-quarter-inch, 190-pound frame, has developed this technique to a high degree during his long and varied career.

"Chidlaw prefers to get things done by encouragement," says one colleague. Another general puts it this way:

"He's one of the few that have the happy faculty of gathering a balanced staff.

"As some people have card sense, he has personnel sense. He always gets good people around him. And he has the astuteness of a seasoned soldier. When the chips are down, he'll be out slogging in the mud with the rest of the men. There's nobody who has worked for him who doesn't admire him."

Civil War Vet Meets Grant

DULUTH, Minn. Aug. 10 (AP) — An old Civil War drummer boy, the last of the boys in blue, smiled happily yesterday when he shook the hand of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant III and told him, "I've always had nothing but the greatest admiration for your grandfather."

Gen. Grant, commander in chief of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, came here from Washington for the 73rd annual encampment of the organization.

When the grey-haired general called at the home of 107-year Albert Woolson, the veteran's daughter wrote a note in large letters informing her father that his caller was Gen. Grant. Woolson is deaf.

Still amazingly spry, Woolson got to his feet with a big smile to greet the grandson of the famous Civil War general.

Before the general left, he wrote a note telling Woolson he had a box of cigars for him. Woolson smokes several cigars a day.

USAF Recruiter Can't Dope It Out

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio, Aug. 10 (AP)—Sgt. Marvin T. Hedrick of the Air Force recruiting service, admitted today he can't figure this one out.

He had a group of 20 young men from this area, who had enlisted in the Air Force, so he thought it would be a good idea to have them flown in a group to the Sampson Air Force Base at Geneva, N. Y.

Arrangements were made to have the boys taken to Cincinnati where they were to board a plane to start for their tour of duty in "the wild blue yonder." Photographers were to have taken pictures of the mass departure.

Then, Sgt. Hedrick reported, he had to call it all off.

Cable Pioneer Dies In Brooklyn

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Thomas F. Foley, 79, cable pioneer and the first man informed of the discovery of the North Pole, died today at his Brooklyn home.

He was a veteran of 56 years service in the communications industry and retired seven years ago as division traffic cable superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Co.

Also an authority and writer of articles on polar exploration, Foley received the first information of Adm. Peary's discovery of the North Pole April 6, 1909 in a personal message from a close friend, Capt. Robert Bartlett, who accompied the expedition. Foley gave the news to press associations which released it to the world. Peary later sent official notice to President Theodore Roosevelt.

During the Russo-Japanese War in 1904 he worked for The Associated Press. During the Spanish-American War he sent the story of the destruction of the Spanish fleet by Adm. Schley's squadron.

Economic And Political Crises Confront Pakistan's Pro-American Prime Minister

Editor's Note—Accentuated by a falling economy, domestic problems are building up to an explosive point in Pakistan, America's newest ally in Asia. Here is the second of four articles on the troubles of that new nation written by a reporter who toured the country extensively.

By EUGENE LEVIN

KARACHI, Pakistan, Aug. 10 (AP) —A mounting number of political crises is testing all the ingenuity and statesmanship of Pakistan's pro-American Prime Minister Mohammed Ali.

So far the young, plumpish Pakistan leader has taken on the challenges without hesitation, maintaining a strong position.

However, his government today is facing the most critical period to confront it since it came to office slightly more than a year ago.

Ali, aside from his nation's old international conflicts with India, has a trio of immediate domestic problems—a deteriorating economic outlook, a potentially explosive situation in East Pakistan and a continuing struggle to write a constitution.

With a lull in East Pakistan, the economic situation at present appears most urgent. Government sources describe the next six months as critical for Pakistan's economy.

At the heart of the basic problem is the country's inability to earn enough foreign exchange to buy spare parts and needed raw materials abroad to keep factories producing. Foreign exchange also is needed for the purchase of consumer goods to ease current shortages and a rising cost of living.

Political observers find important differences in the current economic picture and that of last year when Ali succeeded Alhaz Khwaja Nazimuddin as prime minister.

One of the chief reasons for Nazimuddin's fall was a feeling among high financial and Moslem League circles that he was not meeting a recession which had started in 1951.

Until 1951, Pakistan had a thriving world trade based largely on its exports of jute and sales boosted by the Korean War. But a sudden drop in sales and prices shook Karachi financial centers.

Although the recession had not trickled down to the man-in-the street, the Moslem League and financial leaders shook Nazimuddin out of office.

Ali came in and introduced a drastic austerity program. Imports were reduced by 65 per cent. The foreign exchange picture looked better.

However, Ali now is paying the price. The import reduction is being felt by the man-in-the-street who is finding it increasingly hard to buy food, clothing and other necessities at reasonable prices.

Nazimuddin did not have popular dissatisfaction to contend with, but this is Ali's major problem. Ali's financial and Moslem League backers are remaining on his side.

Ali's government hopes to ease the economic strain by receiving additional American aid for consumer goods. The government also is preparing to curtail its capital development program and divert funds to consumer production.

The economic difficulties are partly responsible for Ali's other big political problem—East Pakistan.

A United Front of several opposition parties, including Communists, beat Ali's Moslem League in provincial elections four months ago. Riots and unrest followed, with a political tug - of - war between Ali and the United Front leaders.

The struggle came to a head at the end of May, with Ali dramatically dismissing the United Front provincial government. A governor appointed by Karachi took over rule in East Pakistan. The Communist party was outlawed.

The Prime Minister is now making his way carefully. His government is planning to try to eliminate those grievances which spurred East Pakistanis to follow the United Front.

East Pakistanis have had a number of complaints. They say West Pakistan politicians are exploiting them. They want their Bengali language recognized as a national tongue. They want more provincial autonomy.

However, these grievances have existed for many years. The new grievances were unemployment and consumer goods shortages. These added complaints apparently served as the catalyst molding a United Front platform capable of defeating the Moslem League.

Ali, in seeking to relieve the economic situation throughout the country, hopes to meet part of the East Pakistan grievances. Karachi also has decided to recognize the East's Bengali along with the West's Urdu as national languages.

The third big problem, writing a constitution for Pakistan, is as old as the seven-year-old country. The East Pakistan crisis, however, has made it all the more urgent and has sharpened some of the issues.

Moslem Leaguers dominate the Constituent Assembly. The United Front victory brought cries from the opposition that the assembly is no longer representative and it seeks to write a constitution making East Pakistan subordinate to the western part of the country.

The new assembly meeting also may be a significant and climactic session. Pakistanis hope the constitution will be completed this year. They are tired of the years of argument. However, a new constitution will mean elections and the dissolution of the Constituent Assembly; some assembly members, afraid of losing their jobs, are expected to delay the group's work.

A factor in Ali's political struggle is the Moslem League, the party which fought the British and Indians for the creation of Pakistan. The League has ruled since independence.

Recently it has been weakened by internal squabbles and the complacency of a party long in office. The defeat in East Pakistan may be partly ascribed to these weaknesses.

Seeing the need for a strong party in the critical months ahead, Ali and other top Moslem Leaguers are moving to patch up the cracks in the League. Party unity is a key goal.

National elections are expected next year. The League is determined to avoid a repetition of its East Pakistan defeat.

Meteorologist Sees Man Curbing Storms

SEATTLE, Aug. 10 (AP) — Famed meteorologist Vincent J. Schaefer told the nation's top aeronautical engineers yesterday that man someday may be able to eliminate dangerous thunderstorms, or move them around.

Schaefer also said the majority of outstanding cloud formations and unusual sunsets, and most of the major storms, are related to the so-called jet stream.

Seeding of clouds with silver iodide or ice crystals to start rain can prevent the buildup of dangerous cloud formations and prevent storms, he said.

Schaefer, in an address at the opening of a conference of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, said the jet stream— a core of high-speed air moving at high altitudes — is "one of the dominant things in the atmosphere."

Schaefer is director of research for Munitalp Foundation, New York City, a privately endowed meteorological concern.

Economic And Political Crises Confront Pakistan's Pro-American Prime Minister

Editor's Note—Accentuated by a falling economy, domestic problems are building up to an explosive point in Pakistan, America's newest ally in Asia. Here is the second of four articles on the troubles of that new nation written by a reporter who toured the country extensively.

By EUGENE LEVIN

KARACHI, Pakistan, Aug. 10 (AP) —A mounting number of political crises is terting all the ingenuity and statesmanship of Pakistan's pro-American Prime Minister Mohammed Ali.

So far the young, plumpish Pakistan leader has taken on the challenges without hesitation, maintaining a strong position.

However, his government today is facing the most critical period to confront it since it came to office slightly more than a year ago.

Ali, aside from his nation's old international conflicts with India, has a trio of immediate domestic problems—a deteriorating economic outlook, a potentially explosive situation in East Pakistan and a continuing struggle to write a constitution.

With a lull in East Pakistan, the economic situation at present appears most urgent. Government sources describe the next six months as critical for Pakistan's economy.

Montgomery County Fair Will Stress Farm Progress

Centuries of progress in farm and dairy methods, cattle breeding and farming machinery will be revealed when the Montgomery County Fair opens for a five-day run August 24 at Gaithersburg, under the sponsorship of the Montgomery County Agricultural Center.

The 65-acre tract alongside the Gaithersburg railroad tracks will be filled with sleek, shiny farm equipment, the most modern mechanical milking machinery, streamlined tractors as well as husky improved cattle of all kinds creating a picture quite unlike fairs of more than a thousand years ago.

Contrary to popular opinion, county fairs are not of American origin for there are records of fairs back as far as the days of ancient Rome. In those days they were called "Feria," a Latin word meaning "feast" or "festival" and signified a day of barter or trading among peoples.

One such fair was held in the year 1000 BC in the Arabian city of Mecca when goods were exchanged between the people of Arabia and other neighboring tribes. These fairs also were considered holy days as in Ireland and Egypt where they were held at tombs or large burial grounds. There are even historical instances when warring tribes declared a truce to stage such exhibitions of produce, cattle and handiwork. Even the great traveler, Marco Polo, told tall tales of great fairs during the reign of Kublai Khan.

It was not until after the American Revolution that truly American County Fairs were held in the United States and this was an Americanized version of those held in England.

Punch is a Hindu word meaning five.

Volunteer Firemen To Discuss Network

Representatives from at least 14 volunteer fire companies in Allegany and Garrett counties are expected to attend a meeting at the LaVale Fire Hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening for a discussion of the bids received last week for 20 mobile transmitters and receiving sets.

William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense in Allegany County, has called the meeting. He plans to submit a recommendation to the county commissioners after tonight's session.

David E. Kirk, president of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association, said last week that at least 14 companies are interested in obtaining the mobile transmitters for use in Civil Defense activities and other fire-fighting duties.

Elysees, where the headquarters for SHAPE is located.

In addition to witnessing the famed Bastille Day Parade in Paris on July 14, she also saw the Arc de Triomphe and the Eiffel Tower, and visited the Louvre.

Mrs. Witherup stated that the trip to Paris made her realize the many things which this country has inherited from France, pointing out that Paris celebrated its 2,000th birthday just last year.

She also was in Holland for a brief spell, at a summer resort called Schevenigein, near the Hague Peace Palace built by Andrew Carnegie. The premier of France, Rene Coty, was also at the same resort, where he was being entertained by Queen Juliana of The Netherlands. In honor of the occasion a huge fireworks display was held on the beach.

After leaving there, Mrs. Witherup left for home, arriving at International Airport at 8 a. m. on August 3. The landing was delayed over an hour due to a violent storm.

Mrs. Witherup said that all Americans who have the opportunity should visit the Continent, adding that nearly everyone there speaks English, as well as several other languages.

BRT Anniversary Event Will Honor Eight Members

Eight veteran railroaders with aggregate service of 230 years will be honored at the sixty-sixth anniversary celebration of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Mountain Division Lodge 267, Saturday, August 21.

The dinner and dance will be held at Woodmen of the World Hall at 6:30 p. m. and is a tribute to all retired railroad men, officials said.

To be honored are: James W. Moore, Hanging Rock, W. Va., 45 years; G. A. Neville, West Piedmont Street, Keyser, and John E. Bailey, also of Keyser, both 40 years; Joseph F. Bucklew, 410 Decatur Street, 35 years; E. A. Kelly, Spring Street, Keyser; Joseph W. Shobe, Keyser, and Edward Gallagher, State Street, Terra Alta, all 20 years; and C. G. Smith, B&O YMCA, 10 years.

Each will receive a pin, according to H. K. Ritter, 521 Williams Street, a member of the committee on arrangements which includes A. F. White, 901 Michigan Avenue; D. G. Blizzard, Fairgo; F. D. Luzader, 309 Beall Street; and W. H. DeWitt, Maryland Avenue.

Toastmaster will be Bernard M. Savage, regional BRT counsel. Speakers will include Harry See, national legislative representative who will talk on "Retirement"; R. Brennan, deputy president assigned to B&O General Committee, who will discuss "Local Grievances", and W. C. Lester, general BRT chairman, will also speak on grievances.

A. W. Conley, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the B&O, and State Senator Robert B. Kimble, B&O safety director, will also speak.

Ritter said telegrams stating intentions to attend have been received from George Stanton, Fairmont, assistant general chairman of the B&O system for the BRT; and R. T. Miller and M. W. Pringle, members of the Maryland legislative board.

Deaths

PFC. FRANCIS J. WOODS

The body of Pfc. Francis J. Woods, 21, of Frostburg, who was killed in an auto accident Monday near Fort Bragg, N. C., where he was stationed, will be taken to the Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg, this morning.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Manges' Daughters To Present Program

Two daughters of Attorney Earl E. Manges will present a music and baton twirling program at the meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club today at 6:15 at Central YMCA.

They are Mrs. Richard Lee Bible, formerly Faith Marlene Manges, and Xina Hope Manges. They play the piano accordion and sing and twirl batons.

The membership committee will meet after the regular session. The club is also making plans for a Ladies' Night August 18.

SRC Will Seek Bids On Bonds

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) — The State Roads Commission today gave formal approval to a resolution authorizing the taking of bids on a $25,000,000 bond issue to finance a part of its 568 million dollar highway overhaul program.

Proceeds of the bond sale will go into the kitty set up to pay for the first four-year section of the long range 12-year program.

Bids will be opened on the issue Aug. 31 at 2 p.m. The bonds will be the first to be sold under the enabling act passed by the State Legislature.

Estimates are that the first four-year section will cost about 250 million dollars. Many projects in the first four-year plan include preliminary work for projects slated for actual construction later on.

These include right-of-way costs as well as actual preliminary work.

Maryland's super plan for highway construction embraces construction or rebuilding of 3,452 miles of highways over the 12-year period.

Centuries of progress in farm and dairy methods, cattle breeding and farming machinery will be revealed when the Montgomery County Fair opens for a five-day run August 24 at Gaithersburg, under the sponsorship of the Montgomery County Agricultural Center.

The 65-acre tract alongside the Gaithersburg railroad tracks will be filled with sleek, shiny farm equipment, the most modern mechanical milking machinery, streamlined tractors as well as husky improved cattle of all kinds creating a picture quite unlike fairs of more than a thousand years ago.

Contrary to popular opinion, county fairs are not of American origin for there are records of fairs back as far as the days of ancient Rome. In those days they were called "Feria," a Latin word meaning "feast" or "festival" and signified a day of barter or trading among peoples.

One such fair was held in the year 1000 BC in the Arabian city of Mecca when goods were exchanged between the people of Arabia and other neighboring tribes. These fairs also were considered holy days as in Ireland and Egypt where they were held at tombs or large burial grounds. There are even historical instances when warring tribes declared a truce to stage such exhibitions of produce, cattle and handiwork. Even the great traveler, Marco Polo, told tall tales of great fairs during the reign of Kublai Khan.

It was not until after the American Revolution that truly American County Fairs were held in the United States and this was an Americanized version of those held in England.

Punch is a Hindu word meaning five.

Volunteer Firemen To Discuss Network

Representatives from at least 14 volunteer fire companies in Allegany and Garrett counties are expected to attend a meeting at the LaVale Fire Hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening for a discussion of the bids received last week for 20 mobile transmitters and receiving sets.

William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense in Allegany County, has called the meeting. He plans to submit a recommendation to the county commissioners after tonight's session.

David E. Kirk, president of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association, said last week that at least 14 companies are interested in obtaining the mobile transmitters for use in Civil Defense activities and other fire-fighting duties.

Elysees, where the headquarters for SHAPE is located.

In addition to witnessing the famed Bastille Day Parade in Paris on July 14, she also saw the Arc de Triomphe and the Eiffel Tower, and visited the Louvre.

Mrs. Witherup stated that the trip to Paris made her realize the many things which this country has inherited from France, pointing out that Paris celebrated its 2,000th birthday just last year.

She also was in Holland for a brief spell, at a summer resort called Schevenigein, near the Hague Peace Palace built by Andrew Carnegie. The premier of France, Rene Coty, was also at the same resort, where he was being entertained by Queen Juliana of The Netherlands. In honor of the occasion a huge fireworks display was held on the beach.

After leaving there, Mrs. Witherup left for home, arriving at International Airport at 8 a. m. on August 3. The landing was delayed over an hour due to a violent storm.

Mrs. Witherup said that all Americans who have the opportunity should visit the Continent, adding that nearly everyone there speaks English, as well as several other languages.

BRT Anniversary Event Will Honor Eight Members

Eight veteran railroaders with aggregate service of 230 years will be honored at the sixty-sixth anniversary celebration of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Mountain Division Lodge 267, Saturday, August 21.

The dinner and dance will be held at Woodmen of the World Hall at 6:30 p. m. and is a tribute to all retired railroad men, officials said.

To be honored are: James W. Moore, Hanging Rock, W. Va., 45 years; G. A. Neville, West Piedmont Street, Keyser, and John E. Bailey, also of Keyser, both 40 years; Joseph F. Bucklew, 410 Decatur Street, 35 years; E. A. Kelly, Spring Street, Keyser; Joseph W. Shobe, Keyser, and Edward Gallagher, State Street, Terra Alta, all 20 years; and C. G. Smith, B&O YMCA, 10 years.

Each will receive a pin, according to H. K. Ritter, 521 Williams Street, a member of the committee on arrangements which includes A. F. White, 901 Michigan Avenue; D. G. Blizzard, Fairgo; F. D. Luzader, 309 Beall Street; and W. H. DeWitt, Maryland Avenue.

Toastmaster will be Bernard M. Savage, regional BRT counsel. Speakers will include Harry See, national legislative representative who will talk on "Retirement"; R. Brennan, deputy president assigned to B&O General Committee, who will discuss "Local Grievances", and W. C. Lester, general BRT chairman, will also speak on grievances.

A. W. Conley, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the B&O, and State Senator Robert B. Kimble, B&O safety director, will also speak.

Ritter said telegrams stating intentions to attend have been received from George Stanton, Fairmont, assistant general chairman of the B&O system for the BRT; and R. T. Miller and M. W. Pringle, members of the Maryland legislative board.

Deaths

PFC. FRANCIS J. WOODS

The body of Pfc. Francis J. Woods, 21, of Frostburg, who was killed in an auto accident Monday near Fort Bragg, N. C., where he was stationed, will be taken to the Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg, this morning.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Manges' Daughters To Present Program

Two daughters of Attorney Earl E. Manges will present a music and baton twirling program at the meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club today at 6:15 at Central YMCA.

They are Mrs. Richard Lee Bible, formerly Faith Marlene Manges, and Xina Hope Manges. They play the piano accordion and sing and twirl batons.

The membership committee will meet after the regular session. The club is also making plans for a Ladies' Night August 18.

SRC Will Seek Bids On Bonds

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) — The State Roads Commission today gave formal approval to a resolution authorizing the taking of bids on a $25,000,000 bond issue to finance a part of its 568 million dollar highway overhaul program.

Proceeds of the bond sale will go into the kitty set up to pay for the first four-year section of the long range 12-year program.

Bids will be opened on the issue Aug. 31 at 2 p.m. The bonds will be the first to be sold under the enabling act passed by the State Legislature.

Estimates are that the first four-year section will cost about 250 million dollars. Many projects in the first four-year plan include preliminary work for projects slated for actual construction later on.

These include right-of-way costs as well as actual preliminary work.

Sword-Rattling Or Just A Reminder?

In declaring that the United States will defend Formosa against communist invasion, Secretary of State Dulles was not engaging in sword-rattling. He was serving notice on the sword-rattlers that they had better be sure to keep blade in scabbard unless they are looking for trouble.

Secretary Dulles spoke out because Peiping war lords have been talking belligerently about how they are going to invade Formosa, liquidate Chiang Kai-shek and his regime, and take the island for Red China. They have made similar threats in the past, but this latest one came in the wake of the Indo-chinese truce agreement, which confirmed a new communist victory in Southeast Asia.

There is a certain protocol to be observed in communication between nations, even at this level and when the two are not on speaking terms. Red China being what it is, the regime at Peiping noted that circumstances have changed in Southeast Asia recently and raised the subject of Formosa—in typically bellicose terms.

Whether this was more in the nature of an inquiry than a firm declaration of intention is open to some question, but in either case the reds now know that U. S. policy on Formosa has not changed.

It may be, of course, that they will not believe what they have just been told. Secretary Dulles made some strong statements about Indochina and American interests there, not too long ago, and the communists profited by paying little heed to them. They may think that this new pronouncement need not be taken seriously—that it has been made to accomplish some political purpose and is mostly bluff.

But there is probably not much danger that they will make that mistake. Just as they were shrewd enough to put a correct assessment on the Indochina statements, they are probably shrewd enough to know that the United States cannot abandon Chiang Kai-shek and will not permit strategically important Formosa to fall into their hands. If they don't believe Secretary Dulles, the continued presence of strong U. S. naval forces should convince them.

These Days

The Problem Of Education

It used to be that the beginning of an education in the United States was a simple matter, locally controlled, directed mostly by parents and conducted principally by clergymen and unmarried women. The boys and girls were taught to read and write and to do some arithmetic. If they wanted to go further, they read Greek and Latin, memorized vast amounts of literature, learned some French, German and the bases of science. If they desired to push their fortunes further, they specialized in some profession, sometimes going to a European university for the purpose. We produced a remarkable lot of scholars that way.

Since the days of Horace Mann (1796-1859), education of some kind has been usual for all children in many but not all parts of the country and in some it has been compulsory. Since those days, the huge educational establishment of the United States has become strictly professionalized and secularized with a decreasing relationship of the parent to the school. As President William F. Russell of Teachers College, Columbia University, said:

"While legally the parent has the authority over the education of the child, in practice we delegate our power to members of school boards or legislatures who act as our representatives . . ."

One of the problems that faces educators is to define education. They have to ask themselves whether they know what they are doing. This has become an increasingly serious matter because public opinion is not so sure that education actually educates in the United States. Nicholas Murray Butler, for several decades President of Columbia University in the days when such an official was not only an administrator but also a scholar, once discussed this subject:

". . . Education . . . must mean a gradual adjustment to the spiritual possessions of the race, with a view to realizing one's own potentialities and to assisting in carrying forward that complex of ideas, acts, and institutions which we call civilization. In other words, education in a true sense has to do not only with the individual to be educated, but with the environment into which and for which he is to be educated . . ."

Further he wrote:

". . . He (the child) is not born into a new world, where nothing has ever happened. He is born into a world full of experience, some of the experience bitter, some magnificent, and he is entitled to know what it is about and what it means.

"That inheritance is fivefold. It is scientific, it is literary, it is aesthetic, it is institutional, and it is religious. Without them all he cannot become a truly educated or a truly cultivated man. He is entitled to know what those who have preceded him have accomplished, what their accomplishment means for him, and what he is to do in the world which their accomplishment has brought to pass."

This is a full definition and would require that educators not only be philosophers and historians but also moralists. Without morality, learning the development of special intellectual functions can become a monstrosity in any society. Dr. Klaus Fuchs was an educated man with private concepts of morality. He was capable of being a spy and a thief, just as the 992 page text of the Oppenheimer hearings provides evidence that Dr. Oppenheimer, who is one of the most learned men in our country, could lie about very serious matters apparently without a twinge of conscience.

Many serious-minded persons believe that only secular education is correct in our kind of country. They confuse the term religious with the idea of sectarian. This is not only true of those who dislike all religion, but Catholics object to Protestant teachings and Protestants abhor Catholic teachings and Jews fear that their children might be corrupted by both.

On the other hand, many parents are concerned with the increase in juvenile delinquency, the lack of respect for parents, the noticeable pre-marital sex relations among high school students and many similar moral problems which are disruptive of family life and damaging to the individual's opportunities. For several years now, Director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI has been calling attention to these many problems from his specialized standpoint. But essentially this is not merely a matter of the increase of crime; it is more a problem of education for moral living in a free society. Therefore it is a problem of education.

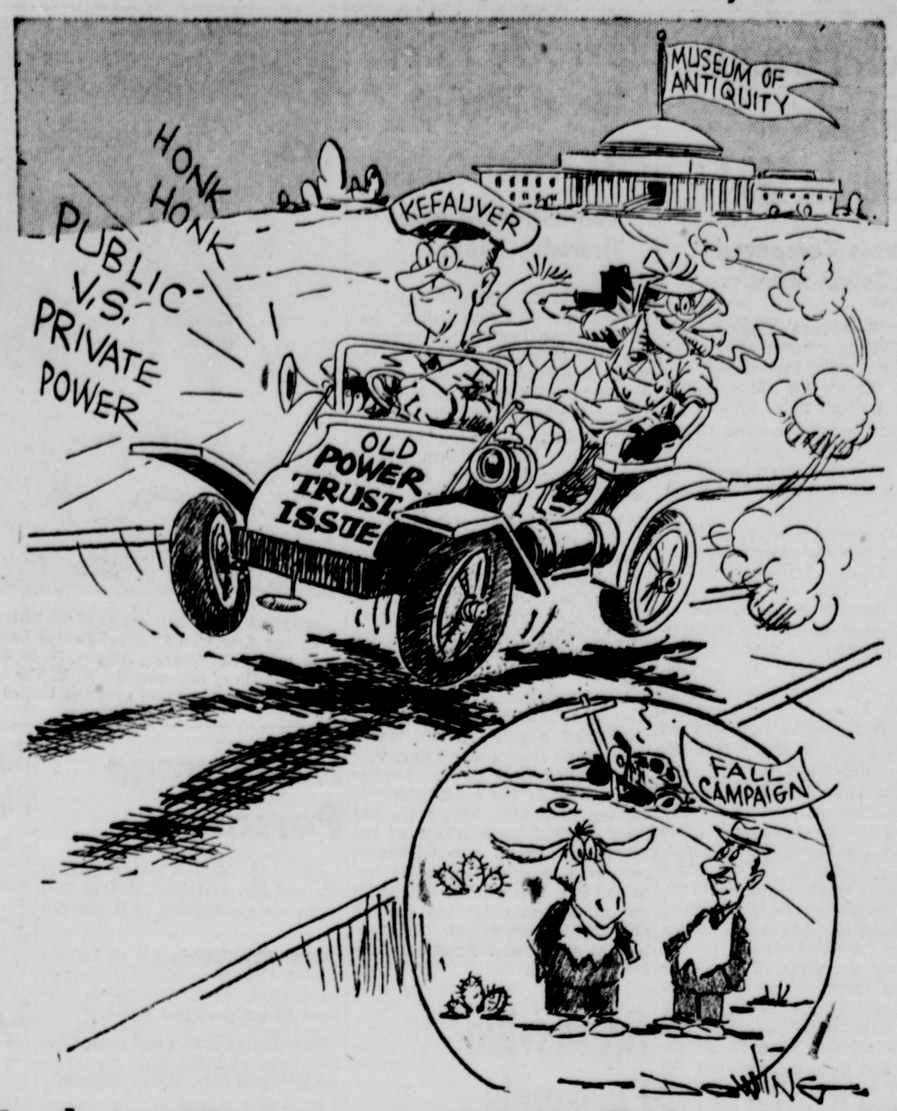
Hang On Boys, Help's On The Way



Herbert Hoover At 80 Still Serving His Fellow Man

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Herbert Hoover has just reached his 80th birthday—and he is still going strong. He continues to serve his Government without personal recompense. Even in the four years when he was President, he took no salary for himself, but gave most of the $300,000 to charity and returned the rest to the Treasury of the United States. Every dollar he has ever drawn from the Government has gone to help his fellow man.

The key note of Mr. Hoover's life has been service. He gave up his work as a mining engineer to take hold of the great task of organizing the relief of Belgium after it had been devastated in World War I. He served as Food Administrator of the United States during the First World War under President Wilson, and organized relief work for the German people afterwards.

Today he is serving President Eisenhower, as he did President Truman, in the thankless, unspectacular and tedious job of reorganizing the machinery of the Federal Government.

Herbert Hoover had the misfortune of being President when the biggest economic depression in world history started in Europe and swept the United States. Political opponents abused him as responsible for it all, and that was why he lost re-election in 1932 to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Campaign orators for the Democratic Party have not missed a chance every election year since that time to bring out the ghost of a so-called "Hoover Depression" to persuade voters to eschew the Republican Party. Even as late as a few weeks ago, Adlai Stevenson took occasion to berate Mr. Hoover for the "failures" of his Administration. Based on a recent letter to The Washington Star, signed by "old reactionary" who came to the defense of Mr. Hoover, here is a list of some "failures" of another kind:

"Mr. Hoover failed to repudiate the promise on Government promissory notes (the notes promising payment in gold).

"Mr. Hoover failed to try to pack the Supreme Court of the United States (a reference to Mr. Roosevelt's unconscionable effort to add six Justices so as to circumvent the majority of the nine whose decisions he didn't like).

"Mr. Hoover failed to appeal for votes in a Presidential campaign by promising a 25 per cent reduction in the Federal budget which was then 'honored' by an increase of 300 per cent.

"Mr. Hoover failed to claim the right to seize private property under 'inherent powers' (a reference to Mr. Truman's seizure of the entire steel industry which was later declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States).

"Mr. Hoover failed to place the Government in competition with private business and failed to put his political fortunes above the letter and spirit of the Constitution (a reference to the deception whereby the TVA was built originally as a flood-control project and then became a symbol of Government ownership of electric power plants).

"Mr. Hoover failed to humiliate any of the top generals of the United States Army for advocating an aggressive instead of a do-nothing policy in a 'police action' (a reference to Mr. Truman's dismissal of General MacArthur in the Korean War).

"Mr. Hoover failed to waste the taxpayers' money on boondoggling (a reference to so-called relief projects under the Roosevelt regime) and did not sell himself into political slavery for a campaign contribution of $500,000 or bow to the dictates of the labor bosses to secure a nomination (a reference to the loan of $500,000 by the CIO during a political campaign of President Roosevelt).

"Mr. Hoover failed to bundle up a lot of Government documents to sell as a book at a huge profit to himself (a reference to Messrs. Roosevelt and Truman).

"Mr. Hoover failed to ask Congress to pay the bill for a museum to house his marvelous collection of war stuff—he paid for it himself. The former President built at Rapidan—near Washington—a resort for fishing and recreation and gave it to the Government. He did not go on fishing trips on Government warships accompanied by a fleet of destroyers."

Such a chronicle contains some facts little known to the American people. It hasn't been his generosity on material things but his generosity of time. Energy and spirit—his selfless dedication to service for his fellow man—that has made the Quaker President an honored and respected citizen who, at the age of eighty, is still working for others.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Federal Bureau of Super-Packaging warns shopping addicts not to put all their eggs in one wire basket.

The combination of concentrated incomes versus attractive bundling has made operation pushcart a major industry.

Only the immigrants pushed them in the old days of referendum and recoil.

Today we have the super-shopper flotilla of duplex-dumbwaiters on wheels. They even have a traffic cop in the delicatessen department.

Kansas City slapped a bonnet on the climax when a drug chain basketized its sixty-six stores. The operation is so big they put in a freight-yard with a web of sidetracks.

For the first time in retail merchandising of perishable canapes they have tail-lights on shopping bags.

They have also put a night bell on the soda fountain and a Traveler's Aid matron in the telephone booths. Everything will be vehicularized except milk-shakes and arch supporters.

One lady carried her basket party to the point of demanding a cross-town transfer for a picnic lunch. Not since the Mormon pioneers pulled their two-wheeled carts across the Rockies has there been such over-loaded pantries.

The clerk who dramatizes the lamb chops with paper sleeves gives free parking space with all orders over eighty-seven cents. An elderly lady was run down in the belladonna plaster section by a reckless basketeer who had taken one perfumed alcohol rub too many.

The drugstore baskets are interchangeable with a bottom rack for the baby. There has been some trouble with near-sighted Kansas City mothers trying to exchange their infants for a size larger.

After the super-biscuits and the super-drugs there will be motorized clothing stores and fish markets. Shoppers approach from upwind.

Federal Secrecy Flourishes Despite Ike's Order; Cables, Names Hushed

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's much-publicized order allegedly opening all government information to the public unless it involves national security is not doing so well.

Legitimate news is being hushed up just as much as ever. Here are two current cases:

1. Reaction to McCarthy—Last year the State Department sent cables to American Embassies abroad asking the reason for the alarming slump in U. S. prestige and popularity abroad. Without exception, American ambassadors reported that the No. 1 reason was McCarthy.

Today those State Department reports are marked "top secret" and are not available to the press. Furthermore, Senators investigating McCarthy will not be able to get them. They do not involve the security of the Nation and, under the official announcement made by the President should be available for publication. But they aren't.

2. Author of Dixon-Yates Contract—One of the best-kept secrets in Washington is who inside the Budget Bureau prepared the Dixon-Yates plans for a Government-financed private power plant, with no competitive bidding, in the Tennessee Valley Area.

The plan was worked out inside the Budget Bureau, and it is reported that a public utilities "expert" came in from the outside, worked a few weeks with the Budget Bureau, then went to work for Dixon-Yates.

Obviously this information has nothing to do with the security of the nation and, under White House rules, should be made public. However, when questions were asked at the Budget Bureau, here is a play-by-play account of what happened:

Charming But Adamant

"We don't have a list of the people who worked on the Dixon-Yates plan," stated Virginia De Pury, charming spokesman for the Budget Bureau.

"Could you draw up a list?" she was asked.

"No, that would be too much trouble."

"We'll be happy to do the work for you if you will simply authorize us to make the necessary inquiries," this column countered.

"This is a public building," Miss De Pury snapped. "You can go around and ask any questions you wish."

"But everyone is afraid to talk," she was told. "They send me back to you. Now if you will let me say it is all right for them to talk, I can get the names without troubling you any further."

Miss De Pury refused.

"Are the names a matter of national security?" she was asked further.

"I don't know."

"It may be embarrassing to release the names of those who worked on the Dixon-Yates plan, but it certainly isn't a military secret," the lady was further pressed. "Under the President's directive, non-security information is supposed to be open to the public."

"Jim Hagerty (White House press aide) says we don't have to give out conversations between Government officials," she shot back.

"Did we ask for any conversations?"

"The people who worked on the Dixon-Yates plan had to talk to each other," she bristled.

"We didn't ask for what they said to each other," Miss De Pury was reminded. "We only want to know their identities."

"Why don't you ask President Eisenhower?" she suggested angrily, then withdrew the suggestion.

German High-Handedness

If the Reece Committee should ever focus attention on the investigation of lobbies instead of charitable foundations — which it won't—it would find that the German Lobby was about the most powerful in Washington.

It has hired some of the top ex-Senators and law firms in the nation's capital to try to rush a bill through Congress to hand back the former Nazi cartels seized by the United States during the war.

The Germans have been so cocky in their demands that their swaggering manner has almost alienated some of their own lawyers.

"If the fee wasn't so high, I'd pull out," confided one American attorney. "The Germans seem to think they can get anything out of the United States just because we need them to oppose the Russians."

Meanwhile, some of our former Allies, the Dutch, Belgians, French, and British, who sold their property in the United States to get currency exchange with which to pay for war goods, are watching high-handed German tactics with skepticism and bitterness.

NOTE—Senator Dirksen of Illinois, main pusher for the return of Nazi industrial property, was so anxious to get his bill through the Senate Judiciary Committee that he phoned Senator Hennings of Missouri in St. Louis urging that he OK the bill almost before he had time to read it.

Wheat For Rice

A method by which our huge supplies of surplus wheat could be turned into rice to feed the Orient has been rediscovered by Dr. Francis Weiss, author of "Foods in The Bible."

Dr. Weiss points out that the method of turning wheat into rice was practiced by Biblical times and is as simple as it is old—namely par-boiling the wheat grain, which makes it taste like rice. It even looks somewhat like rice. Known as boulgar, it is cheaper than rice and has more nutritional value.

When Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota heard of Dr. Weiss' rediscovered technique he immediately sent his agriculture assistant out to do some further research and came to the conclusion that it would be quite feasible to turn part of our surplus wheat crop into rice.

This, says Humphrey, could be one of the best ways to combat Communism in the Far East, especially now that we have lost the biggest rice bowl of the Orient—the delta of French Indo-China—to the Communists.

The Vindicated Hoover

By Bob Considine

WEST BRANCH, Ia. (INS) — Herbert Hoover, acquitted in his old age of many false charges, including the accusation that he coined the hapless expression, "Prosperity is just around the corner," moved through memory-laden ceremonies Tuesday in this, his place of birth.

Hoover's time in the White House was so filled with world economic disasters, and he became so thoroughly the goat of the era, that an entire generation of Americans matured honestly believing that he was a crabby old sourpuss.

Matter of fact, his memoirs and off-the-cuff reminiscences show him to be a man of extraordinary warm sentiment, especially in respect to his youth in this little village of 750 population.

His speech on Tuesday reflects his keen interest in those early years. He remembers that his first paying job in life was picking potato bugs at a penny a hundred. And he remembers the "stern but kindly discipline" of his parents, who were to die before he was nine.

The "great engineer" who reached the White House is a mixture of many climes and cultures. His mother was a Canadian Quaker, other ancestors sprang from Ohio, North Carolina, Maryland and—'way back—Switzerland.

On the occasion of his 80th birthday, with the nation showering upon him plaudits he never expected to experience again, he probably looked out upon Cook's Hill. ("That was a great long hill where on winters' nights, to satisfy our human craving for speed, we slid down at terrific pace with our tummies tight to home-made sleds," he wrote.)

And maybe the old swimming hole.

"The swimming hole under the willows down by the railroad bridge is still operating efficiently albeit modern mothers probably use cleaning fluid to get rid of clean and healthy mud when the boys come home from swimming," he reported after a visit to the place last year. "The hole still needs to be deepened, however. It is hard to keep from pounding the mud with your hands and feet when you shove off for the 30 feet of a cross-channel swim."

Hoover's Quaker parents frowned on all literature except the Bible, encyclopedia or strictly moral novels. He had to sneak a peek at "Youth's Companion" to learn how to trap rabbits. And he remains proud of the fact that an Indian boy from a neighboring school taught him and other children of West Branch how to use the bow and arrow. Hoover and other children sometimes banded together to bring down a prairie chicken with a volley of shots.

("The Ritz has never yet provided game of such wondrous flavor as this bird plucked and half-cooked over the small-boy's campfire," he wrote in his memoirs — published last year by MacMillan.)

In the years that followed he had fishing poles assembled from the steel of Damascus, the bamboo of Siam, the tin of Bangkok, the lacquer of China and the silver of Colorado. But on his 80th birthday he could well remember another day. . .

("There were sun-fish and cat-fish to be had. We were still in that rude but highly effective epoch of the willow poles with a butcher-string line and hooks ten for a dime. And the dime was hard to come by.

("Our compelling lure was a segment of an angleworm and our incantation was to spit on the bait. We lived in the time when a fish used to bite instead of strike and we knew it bit when the cork bobbled. And moreover we ate the fish.")

It was hot here on Tuesday. But the old gentleman perhaps saw in his mind's eye the winters of his youth. ("We cut and hauled our own fuel from the wonderful woods ten miles away on the river, and incidentally gathered walnuts and hickory nuts for the winter. These and popcorn balls cemented with sorghum molasses were our chief Christmas confections.")

As for the potato bug phase of his business life, Hoover once wrote, "The economic system (of that day) avoided strikes, lockouts, class conflicts, labor boards and arbitration. It absolutely denied collective bargaining to small boys. The prevailing rate for picking potato bugs was one cent a hundred and if you wanted firecrackers on the Fourth of July you took it or left it."

Ringworm Of Scalp More Unpleasant Than Serious

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Ringworm of the scalp is more persistent than serious. The disease produces temporary baldness and is not pretty to look at but after cure future growth of hair is not affected. If this is all there is to ringworm, why all the fuss and bother?

There is a stigma associated with this fungus infection. Many persons associate ringworm with uncleanliness, carelessness, and poverty but the condition is not partial to any class, clean or dirty, rich or poor. A child from any home is a candidate whenever he comes into contact with the causative germ at school, in the gym, or in a theater.

Scalp ringworm is not as prevalent today as in 1940 when there was a national epidemic. It has subsided in most states except Florida, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, and Washington. After the disorder moves into a community it is difficult to bring under control. Each state has its own regulations on what to do during an epidemic and the American Public Health association recommends that "infected children should be excluded from school until recovery."

Drs. W. A. Casper and J. Malone, of Seaview Hospital, New York, object to the latter suggestion, believing the penalty too severe for so mild a disease. They feel that excluding children from school has harmful psychological and educational effects. Furthermore, there is no guarantee that these boys and girls will remain segregated when out of school nor that the infection will receive adequate care. Treatment can be supervised and maintained when the infected youngsters are permitted to attend class. Meanwhile, parents and pupils ought to be taught what to do and how to avoid contaminating others.

Ringworm is easy to diagnose when a Wood's light is available. The light of this special infra-red lamp makes the diseased hairs glow in the dark. The test is so sensitive, it is possible to detect a single infected hair.

X-ray is the best treatment. This method requires skill because the dosage must be regulated to cause temporary removal of hair without inflicting permanent damage on the hair or scalp. Many physicians recommend more conservative measures for at least a month or two before resorting to X-ray.

There are several good ointments on the market that cure at least 40 per cent of all cases. As a rule, the hair is clipped short and the head washed daily. Ointments are applied and a stocking cap is worn continuously day and night. This form of ringworm tends to disappear with puberty.

Sword-Rattling Or Just A Reminder?

In declaring that the United States will defend Formosa against communist invasion, Secretary of State Dulles was not engaging in sword-rattling. He was serving notice on the sword-rattlers that they had better be sure to keep blade in scabbard unless they are looking for trouble.

Secretary Dulles spoke out because Peiping war lords have been talking belligerently about how they are going to invade Formosa, liquidate Chiang Kai-shek and his regime, and take the island for Red China. They have made similar threats in the past, but this latest one came in the wake of the Indo-chinese truce agreement, which confirmed a new communist victory in Southeast Asia.

There is a certain protocol to be observed in communication between nations, even at this level and when the two are not on speaking terms. Red China being what it is, the regime at Peiping noted that circumstances have changed in Southeast Asia recently and raised the subject of Formosa—in typically bellicose terms.

Whether this was more in the nature of an inquiry than a firm declaration of intention is open to some question, but in either case the reds now know that U. S. policy on Formosa has not changed.

It may be, of course, that they will not believe what they have just been told. Secretary Dulles made some strong statements about Indochina and American interests there, not too long ago, and the communists profited by paying little heed to them. They may think that this new pronouncement need not be taken seriously—that it has been made to accomplish some political purpose and is mostly bluff.

But there is probably not much danger that they will make that mistake. Just as they were shrewd enough to put a correct assessment on the Indochina statements, they are probably shrewd enough to know that the United States cannot abandon Chiang Kai-shek and will not permit strategically important Formosa to fall into their hands. If they don't believe Secretary Dulles, the continued presence of strong U. S. naval forces should convince them.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Problem Of Education

It used to be that the beginning of an education in the United States was a simple matter, locally controlled, directed mostly by parents and conducted principally by clergymen and unmarried women. The boys and girls were taught to read and write and to do some arithmetic. If they wanted to go further, they read Greek and Latin, memorized vast amounts of literature, learned some French, German and the bases of science. If they desired to push their fortunes further, they specialized in some profession, sometimes going to a European university for the purpose. We produced a remarkable lot of scholars that way.

Since the days of Horace Mann (1796-1859), education of some kind has been usual for all children in many but not all parts of the country and in some it has been compulsory. Since those days, the huge educational establishment of the United States has become strictly professionalized and secularized with a decreasing relationship of the parent to the school. As President William F. Russell of Teachers College, Columbia University, said:

"While legally the parent has the authority over the education of the child, in practice we delegate our power to members of school boards or legislatures who act as our representatives . . ."

One of the problems that faces educators is to define education. They have to ask themselves whether they know what they are doing. This has become an increasingly serious matter because public opinion is not so sure that education actually educates in the United States. Nicholas Murray Butler, for several decades President of Columbia University in the days when such an official was not only an administrator but also a scholar, once discussed this subject:

". . . Education . . . must mean a gradual adjustment to the spiritual possessions of the race, with a view to realizing one's own potentialities and to assisting in carrying forward that complex of ideas, acts, and institutions which we call civilization. In other words, education in a true sense has to do not only with the individual to be educated, but with the environment into which and for which he is to be educated . . ."

Further he wrote:

". . . He (the child) is not born into a new world, where nothing has ever happened. He is born into a world full of experience, some of the experience bitter, some magnificent, and he is entitled to know what it is about and what it means.

"That inheritance is fivefold. It is scientific, it is literary, it is aesthetic, it is institutional, and it is religious. Without them all he cannot become a truly educated or a truly cultivated man. He is entitled to know what those who have preceded him have accomplished, what their accomplishment means for him, and what he is to do in the world which their accomplishment has brought to pass."

This is a full definition and would require that educators not only be philosophers and historians but also moralists. Without morality, learning the development of special intellectual functions can become a monstrosity in any society. Dr. Klaus Fuchs was an educated man with private concepts of morality. He was capable of being a spy and a thief, just as the 992 page text of the Oppenheimer hearings provides evidence that Dr. Oppenheimer, who is one of the most learned men in our country, could lie about very serious matters apparently without a twinge of conscience.

Many serious-minded persons believe that only secular education is correct in our kind of country. They confuse the term religious with the idea of sectarian. This is not only true of those who dislike all religion, but Catholics object to Protestant teachings and Protestants abhor Catholic teachings and Jews fear that their children might be corrupted by both.

On the other hand, many parents are concerned with the increase in juvenile delinquency, the lack of respect for parents, the noticeable pre-marital sex relations among high school students and many similar moral problems which are disruptive of family life and damaging to the individual's opportunities. For several years now, Director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI has been calling attention to these many problems from his specialized standpoint. But essentially this is not merely a matter of the increase of crime; it is more a problem of education for moral living in a free society. Therefore it is a problem of education.

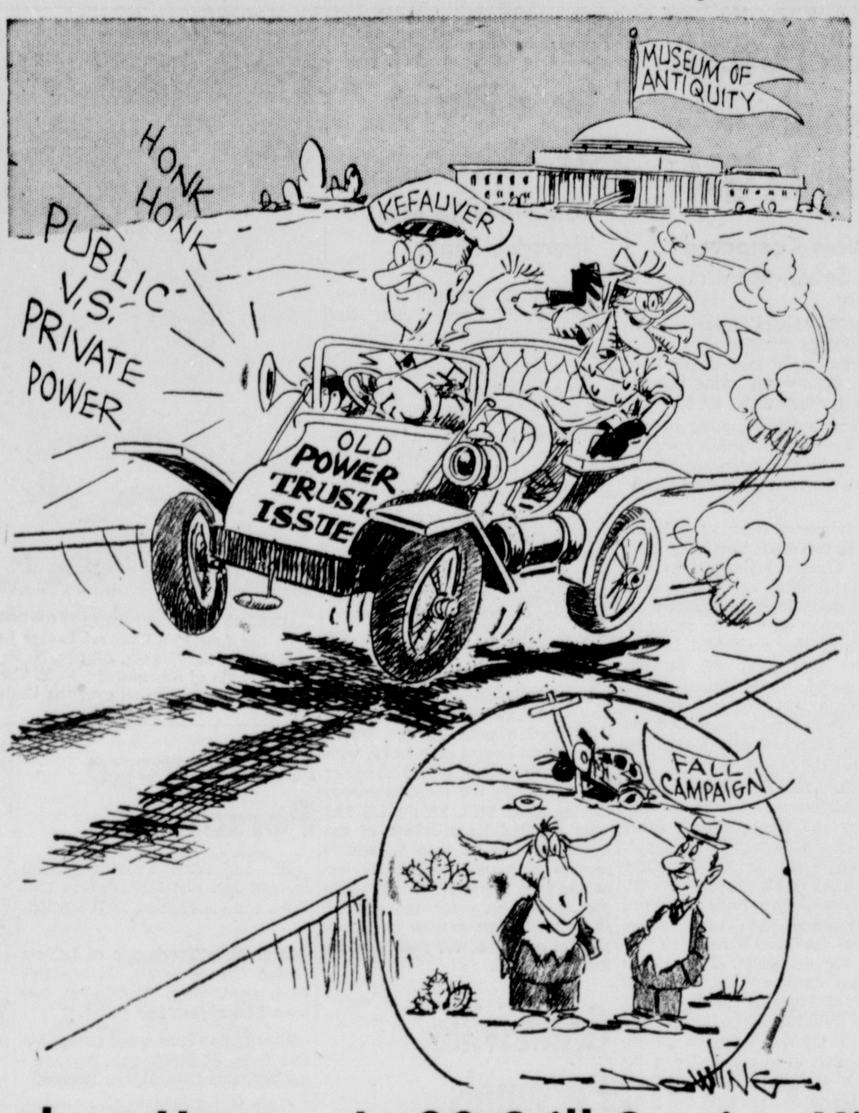
Hang On Boys, Help's On The Way



Herbert Hoover At 80 Still Serving His Fellow Man

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Herbert Hoover has just reached his 80th birthday—and he is still going strong. He continues to serve his Government without personal recompense. Even in the four years when he was President, he took no salary for himself, but gave most of the $300,000 to charity and returned the rest to the Treasury of the United States. Every dollar he has ever drawn from the Government has gone to help his fellow man.

The key note of Mr. Hoover's life has been service. He gave up his work as a mining engineer to take hold of the great task of organizing the relief of Belgium after it had been devastated in World War I. He served as Food Administrator of the United States during the First World War under President Wilson, and organized relief work for the German people afterwards.

Today he is serving President Eisenhower, as he did President Truman, in the thankless, unspectacular and tedious job of reorganizing the machinery of the Federal Government.

Herbert Hoover had the misfortune of being President when the biggest economic depression in world history started in Europe and swept the United States. Political opponents abused him as responsible for it all, and that was why he lost re-election in 1932 to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Campaign orators for the Democratic Party have not missed a chance every election year since that time to bring out the ghost of a so-called "Hoover Depression" to persuade voters to eschew the Republican Party. Even as late as a few weeks ago, Adlai Stevenson took occasion to berate Mr. Hoover for the "failures" of his Administration. Based on a recent letter to The Washington Star, signed by "old reactionary" who came to the defense of Mr. Hoover, here is a list of some "failures" of another kind:

"Mr. Hoover failed to repudiate the promise on Government promissory notes (the notes promising payment in gold).

"Mr. Hoover failed to try to pack the Supreme Court of the United States (a reference to Mr. Roosevelt's unconscionable effort to add six Justices so as to circumvent the majority of the nine whose decisions he didn't like).

"Mr. Hoover failed to appeal for votes in a Presidential campaign by promising a 25 per cent reduction in the Federal budget which was then 'honored' by an increase of 300 per cent.

"Mr. Hoover failed to claim the right to seize private property under 'inherent powers' (a reference to Mr. Truman's seizure of the entire steel industry which was later declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States).

"Mr. Hoover failed to place the Government in competition with private business and failed to put his political fortunes above the letter and spirit of the Constitution (a reference to the deception whereby the TVA was built originally as a flood-control project and then became a symbol of Government ownership of electric power plants).

"Mr. Hoover failed to humiliate any of the top generals of the United States Army for advocating an aggressive instead of a do-nothing policy in a 'police action' (a reference to Mr. Truman's dismissal of General MacArthur in the Korean War).

"Mr. Hoover failed to waste the taxpayers' money on boondoggling (a reference to so-called relief projects under the Roosevelt regime) and did not sell himself into political slavery for a campaign contribution of $500,000 or bow to the dictates of the labor bosses to secure a nomination (a reference to the loan of $500,000 by the CIO during a political campaign of President Roosevelt).

"Mr. Hoover failed to bundle up a lot of Government documents to sell as a book at a huge profit to himself (a reference to Messrs. Roosevelt and Truman).

"Mr. Hoover failed to ask Congress to pay the bill for a museum to house his marvelous collection of war stuff—he paid for it himself. The former President built at Rapidan—near Washington—a resort for fishing and recreation and gave it to the Government. He did not go on fishing trips on Government warships accompanied by a fleet of destroyers."

Such a chronicle contains some facts little known to the American people. It hasn't been his generosity on material things but his generosity of time. Energy and spirit—his selfless dedication to service for his fellow man—that has made the Quaker President an honored and respected citizen who, at the age of eighty, is still working for others.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Federal Bureau of Super-Packaging warns shopping addicts not to put all their eggs in one wire basket.

The combination of concentrated incomes versus attractive bundling has made operation pushcart a major industry.

Only the immigrants pushed them in the old days of referendum and recoil.

Today we have the super-shopper flotilla of duplex-dumbwaiters on wheels. They even have a traffic cop in the delicatessen department.

Kansas City slapped a bonnet on the climax when a drug chain basketized its sixty-six stores. The operation is so big they put in a freight-yard with a web of sidetracks.

For the first time in retail merchandising of perishable canapes they have tail-lights on shopping bags.

They have also put a night bell on the soda fountain and a Traveler's Aid matron in the telephone booths. Everything will be vehicularized except milk-shakes and arch supporters.

One lady carried her basket party to the point of demanding a cross-town transfer for a picnic lunch. Not since the Mormon pioneers pulled their two-wheeled carts across the Rockies has there been such over-loaded pantries.

The clerk who dramatizes the lamb chops with paper sleeves gives free parking space with all orders over eighty-seven cents. An elderly lady was run down in the belladonna plaster section by a reckless basketeer who had taken one perfumed alcohol rub too many.

The drugstore baskets are interchangeable with a bottom rack for the baby. There has been some trouble with near-sighted Kansas City mothers trying to exchange their infants for a size larger.

After the super-biscuits and the super-drugs there will be motorized clothing stores and fish markets. Shoppers approach from upwind.

Federal Secrecy Flourishes Despite Ike's Order; Cables, Names Hushed

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's much-publicized order allegedly opening all government information to the public unless it involves national security is not doing so well.

Legitimate news is being hushed up just as much as ever. Here are two current cases:

1. Reaction to McCarthy—Last year the State Department sent cables to American Embassies abroad asking the reason for the alarming slump in U. S. prestige and popularity abroad. Without exception, American ambassadors reported that the No. 1 reason was McCarthy.

Today those State Department reports are marked "top secret" and are not available to the press. Furthermore, Senators investigating McCarthy will not be able to get them. They do not involve the security of the Nation and, under the official announcement made by the President should be available for publication. But they aren't.

2. Author of Dixon-Yates Contract—One of the best-kept secrets in Washington is who inside the Budget Bureau prepared the Dixon-Yates plans for a Government-financed private power plant, with no competitive bidding, in the Tennessee Valley Area.

The plan was worked out inside the Budget Bureau, and it is reported that a public utilities "expert" came in from the outside, worked a few weeks with the Budget Bureau, then went to work for Dixon-Yates.

Obviously this information has nothing to do with the security of the nation and, under White House rules, should be made public. However, when questions were asked at the Budget Bureau, here is a play-by-play account of what happened:

Charming But Adamant

"We don't have a list of the people who worked on the Dixon-Yates plan," stated Virginia De Pury, charming spokesman for the Budget Bureau.

"Could you draw up a list?" she was asked.

"No, that would be too much trouble."

"We'll be happy to do the work for you if you will simply authorize us to make the necessary inquiries," this column countered.

"This is a public building," Miss De Pury snapped. "You can go around and ask any questions you wish."

"But everyone is afraid to talk," she was told. "They send me back to you. Now if you will let me say it is all right for them to talk, I can get the names without troubling you any further."

Miss De Pury refused.

"Are the names a matter of national security?" she was asked further.

"I don't know."

"It may be embarrassing to release the names of those who worked on the Dixon-Yates plan, but it certainly isn't a military secret," the lady was further pressed. "Under the President's directive, non-security information is supposed to be open to the public."

"Jim Hagerty (White House press aide) says we don't have to give out conversations between Government officials," she shot back.

"Did we ask for any conversations?"

"The people who worked on the Dixon-Yates plan had to talk to each other," she bristled.

"We didn't ask for what they said to each other," Miss De Pury was reminded. "We only want to know their identities."

"Why don't you ask President Eisenhower?" she suggested angrily, then withdrew the suggestion.

German High-Handedness

If the Reece Committee should ever focus attention on the investigation of lobbies instead of charitable foundations — which it won't—it would find that the German Lobby was about the most powerful in Washington.

It has hired some of the top ex-Senators and law firms in the nation's capital to try to rush a bill through Congress to hand back the former Nazi cartels seized by the United States during the war.

The Germans have been so cocky in their demands that their swaggering manner has almost alienated some of their own lawyers.

"If the fee wasn't so high, I'd pull out," confided one American attorney. "The Germans seem to think they can get anything out of the United States just because we need them to oppose the Russians."

Meanwhile, some of our former Allies, the Dutch, Belgians, French, and British, who sold their property in the United States to get currency exchange with which to pay for war goods, are watching high-handed German tactics with skepticism and bitterness.

NOTE—Senator Dirksen of Illinois, main pusher for the return of Nazi industrial property, was so anxious to get his bill through the Senate Judiciary Committee that he phoned Senator Hennings of Missouri in St. Louis urging that he OK the bill almost before he had time to read it.

Wheat For Rice

A method by which our huge supplies of surplus wheat could be turned into rice to feed the Orient has been rediscovered by Dr. Francis Weiss, author of "Foods in The Bible."

Dr. Weiss points out that the method of turning wheat into rice was practiced by Biblical times and is as simple as it is old—namely par-boiling the wheat grain, which makes it taste like rice. It even looks somewhat like rice. Known as boulgar, it is cheaper than rice and has more nutritional value.

When Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota heard of Dr. Weiss' rediscovered technique he immediately sent his agriculture assistant out to do some further research and came to the conclusion that it would be quite feasible to turn part of our surplus wheat crop into rice.

This, says Humphrey, could be one of the best ways to combat Communism in the Far East, especially now that we have lost the biggest rice bowl of the Orient—the delta of French Indo-China—to the Communists.

The Vindicated Hoover

By Bob Considine

WEST BRANCH, Ia. (INS) — Herbert Hoover, acquitted in his old age of many false charges, including the accusation that he coined the hapless expression, "Prosperity is just around the corner," moved through memory-laden ceremonies Tuesday in this, his place of birth.

Hoover's time in the White House was so filled with world economic disasters, and he became so thoroughly the goat of the era, that an entire generation of Americans matured honestly believing that he was a crabby old sourpuss.

Matter of fact, his memoirs and off-the-cuff reminiscences show him to be a man of extraordinary warm sentiment, especially in respect to his youth in this little village of 750 population.

His speech on Tuesday reflects his keen interest in those early years. He remembers that his first paying job in life was picking potato bugs at a penny a hundred. And he remembers the "stern but kindly discipline" of his parents, who were to die before he was nine.

The "great engineer" who reached the White House is a mixture of many climes and cultures. His mother was a Canadian Quaker, other ancestors sprang from Ohio, North Carolina, Maryland and—'way back—Switzerland.

On the occasion of his 80th birthday, with the nation showering upon him plaudits he never expected to experience again, he probably looked out upon Cook's Hill. ("That was a great long hill where on winters' nights, to satisfy our human craving for speed, we slid down at terrific pace with our tummies tight to home-made sleds," he wrote.)

And maybe the old swimming hole.

"The swimming hole under the willows down by the railroad bridge is still operating efficiently albeit modern mothers probably use cleaning fluid to get rid of clean and healthy mud when the boys come home from swimming," he reported after a visit to the place last year. "The hole still needs to be deepened, however. It is hard to keep from pounding the mud with your hands and feet when you shove off for the 30 feet of a cross-channel swim."

Hoover's Quaker parents frowned on all literature except the Bible, encyclopedia or strictly moral novels. He had to sneak a peek at "Youth's Companion" to learn how to trap rabbits. And he remains proud of the fact that an Indian boy from a neighboring school taught him and other children of West Branch how to use the bow and arrow. Hoover and other children sometimes banded together to bring down a prairie chicken with a volley of shots.

("The Ritz has never yet provided game of such wondrous flavor as this bird plucked and half-cooked over the small-boy's campfire," he wrote in his memoirs — published last year by MacMillan.)

In the years that followed he had fishing poles assembled from the steel of Damascus, the bamboo of Siam, the tin of Bangkok, the lacquer of China and the silver of Colorado. But on his 80th birthday he could well remember another day. . .

("There were sun-fish and cat-fish to be had. We were still in that rude but highly effective epoch of the willow poles with a butcher-string line and hooks ten for a dime. And the dime was hard to come by.

("Our compelling lure was a segment of an angleworm and our incantation was to spit on the bait. We lived in the time when a fish used to bite instead of strike and we knew it bit when the cork bobbled. And moreover we ate the fish.")

It was hot here on Tuesday. But the old gentleman perhaps saw in his mind's eye the winters of his youth. ("We cut and hauled our own fuel from the wonderful woods ten miles away on the river, and incidentally gathered walnuts and hickory nuts for the winter. These and popcorn balls cemented with sorghum molasses were our chief Christmas confections.")

As for the potato bug phase of his business life, Hoover once wrote, "The economic system (of that day) avoided strikes, lockouts, class conflicts, labor boards and arbitration. It absolutely denied collective bargaining to small boys. The prevailing rate for picking potato bugs was one cent a hundred and if you wanted firecrackers on the Fourth of July you took it or left it."

Committee Asks More Troopers In West Virginia

Legislative Group Says 180 Needed

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 10 —A legislative committee named to investigate the Road Commission has before it recommendations that the State Police force be increased and that West Virginia road classification be changed.

An official for the Automotive Safety Foundation of Washington, engaged by the committee to make a road survey, said 180 troopers should be added to the State Police within the next two years.

It would take this increase, said C. Raynolds Weaver, to patrol the state's highways adequately.

Weaver noted that when the State Police was created its complement was 200 men. Now its complement is 220 men. During this same period, he added, the number of registered vehicles in the state has increased threefold.

Lawrence S. Tuttle, who is supervising the survey for the Automotive Safety firm, told the legislators that the state's present road classifications of primary and secondary should be changed to trunkline, feeder or local system.

Weaver also recommended that the state put into effect a law the Legislature passed in 1951 which requires a rigid annual inspection of all motor vehicles registered in the state.

Mineral County Accidents Higher In 1954

Figures Compared For Seven Months

KEYSER—Mineral County highway accidents for the first seven months this year exceed the 1953 accident toll for the same period, January through July, by 39.

Last year's total number of accidents for the first seven months, was 55, while the same period this year, the accident mark has jumped to 84.

In that period this year there have been two deaths marked up to Mineral County highways, in addition to a total of a clear cut finding that drinking played a part, whether directly or indirectly in 25 of the accidents. In the accidents this year 37 persons were injured, some seriously and others of a more or less serious nature. Both deaths occurred on Sundays, March 7 and March 14.

Sunday developed in being the worst day for accidents on the county highways, with 18 investigated by the West Virginia State Police of the Keyser detachment. Saturdays were in second place with a total of 17. State Route 28, from Fort Ashby to Wiley Ford has developed into what police consider the worst road in the county for accidents. Twenty-nine accidents occurred on that short stretch of highway in the seven months with 15 persons injured, and these 15 injured were in 16 accidents that occurred between the hours of 5 p. m. to 12 midnight. U. S. Route 50, west of the junction with U. S. Route 220, was second worst for accidents. There were 12 accidents on that stretch of highway, including Allegheny Front with seven persons injured.

July was the worst month for intoxicating liquor drinking being involved in accidents on the county's highways, there having been nine reports of intoxicants with the accidents. January was second with seven; May and June each having six reports of liquor involvement and the others recorded are April, four; March, three and February, one.

August is starting out with three accidents, with liquor being recorded in two of them.

The seven-month Mineral County accidents by days of the week:

Sunday, 18; Monday, eight; Tuesday, eight; Wednesday, 12; Thursday, 10; Friday, 11, and Saturday, 17.

The year's accident mark, shown by highways passing through the county; are:

Within the city, cases worked by the state police, showed three accidents. In only one of them was there an injured person.

Route 28—29 accidents with 15 injured and one fatality.

Route 42—Five accidents with two persons injured.

Route 46 (W)—Two accidents, no injured persons.

U. S. Route 50 (east of junction with U. S. 220)—20 accidents, nine injured persons.

U. S. Route 50 (west of junction with U. S. 220)—12 accidents with seven persons injured.

U. S. Route 220—Five accidents with two persons injured.

A comparison of the accidents tolls by months, set in 1953 and that of 1954, to the end of July, shows:

	1953	1954
January	8	11
February	2	3
March	6	9
April	8	13
May	11	14

Legislative Group Says 180 Needed

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 10 —A legislative committee named to investigate the Road Commission has before it recommendations that the State Police force be increased and that West Virginia road classification be changed.

An official for the Automotive Safety Foundation of Washington, engaged by the committee to make a road survey, said 180 troopers should be added to the State Police within the next two years.

It would take this increase, said C. Raynolds Weaver, to patrol the state's highways adequately.

Weaver noted that when the State Police was created its complement was 200 men. Now its complement is 220 men. During this same period, he added, the number of registered vehicles in the state has increased threefold.

Lawrence S. Tuttle, who is supervising the survey for the Automotive Safety firm, told the legislators that the state's present road classifications of primary and secondary should be changed to trunkline, feeder or local system.

Weaver also recommended that the state put into effect a law the Legislature passed in 1951 which requires a rigid annual inspection of all motor vehicles registered in the state.

Farrady Post Maps Plans For Picnic

Committee To Meet Thursday Night

FROSTBURG—Russell Dennison, commander of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, has called a meeting of all members of the picnic committee, to be held Thursday at 8 p. m. This meeting will be held in the Legion Home.

Commander Dennison also requests that all members of the house committee and executive committee attend this meeting.

Commander Dennison has also called a meeting of the Drum Corp Committee, for Thursday at 8 p. m. for the purpose of reorganizing the Drum Corp. All persons having uniforms or other equipment belonging to the Post Drum Corp are asked to return them on the above date.

At a regular meeting of the Post August 2, Commander Dennison announced a prize of two weeks vacation on Deep Creek Lake, with all expenses paid to the member who brings in the most members for the year 1955. This prize has been donated by a friend of the American Legion, who wishes to remain anonymous. This is expected to create a lot of interest in the membership for the coming year, and Commander Dennison has set a goal of 700 members for the year 1955.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10 (INS)—Lillian Gish arrives Friday to play the role of Rachael in "Night of the Hunter" which delights Paul Gregory and Charles Laughton. When Lillian arrives, Laughton, the director of the thriller, will welcome her back to Hollywood, the scene of her silent day triumphs.

If you read the novel, Rachael is the woman who protects the fleeing children from Actor Robert Mitchum and eventually shoots him.

"Duel in the Sun" and "Portrait of Jenny" were Miss Gish's last films although she's been busy on Broadway and in TV.

Don't be surprised if Gloria Grahame and Cy Howard get married this weekend. Gloria returned from the "Oklahoma!" location in Arizona today and she is not due back on the picture for several weeks.

This is the only opportunity she and her long-time boyfriend will have to tie the knot for months.

Gloria has ordered some pretty new clothes and if I'm putting two and two together correctly, my guess is the new wardrobe will be a trousseau.

Louella writes from London: "Deborah Kerr and Van Johnson came to the cocktail party Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon gave in my honor. They are both working hard on 'End of the Affair'. Van raves about what a joy Deborah is to work with. His only headache is that he has to get up at 5 a. m. every morning to get to Shepperton where the picture is shooting.

"Olivia De Havilland came with Sy Bartlett who is producing her movie, 'That Lady.' She was wearing Pierre Galante's big diamond ring on her engagement finger but surprised me by saying she is in no hurry to get married. She's the old Livvy, full of fun and gay as a lark.

"My neighbors in Beverly Hills, Robert Young, Betty, and their daughters Carol Ann and Barbara, also came to the party. It's Betty's first trip abroad—and is she thrilled!"

LOP's letter continues: "Now that he's settled his feud with his landlady who sued him, Errol Flynn is in another legal hassle with John Mills, owner of Les Ambassadeurs Cafe. Mills is suing him for a bill over $300 which Flynn is refusing to pay.

"Except for these little matters of unpaid bills, Flynn is very popular in London. He is on his best behavior socially and has more invitations than he can accept.

"Joanne Dru, who had never met Errol until she came here to make 'The Black Prince' with him, says he's easy to work with, shows up promptly and is a very good boy."

Maybe he's got money in the picture, boss.

More from Miss P: "David Lewis tells me he has bought a short story by Graham Greene and will make it in Mexico. It is called 'Across the Bridge' and it's about a man with a million dollars which he embezzled and can't get back across the border. David tells me it's a natural for Spencer Tracy.

"I'm not surprised that Lewis is getting first call on Greene's work. David is producing Greene's 'End of the Affair' in England and the men have become good friends."

Pretty Mary Costa wants the world to know that she didn't get the lead opposite Guy Madison in "5 Against the House" just because her husband, Frank Tashlin, is the director.

Producer Stirling Silliphant, the producer of this off-beat picture for Guy (he doesn't even see a horse from start to finish) saw the TV pilot film Mary made for "The Great Gildersleeve" and told Tashlin that Mary is the girl he wants.

The story, about a GI forced into a plot against a gambling casino starts in Reno September 1.

Hollywood in shorts:

Jean Peters returns to Hollywood this week — killing those rumors that she is retiring now she is Mrs. Stuart Cramer II.

Dan Dailey is really burning over not reaching a custody agreement about Dan III, with his ex-wife, Liz, now remarried and living in Kansas. Where he was prepared to ask for the boy six weeks of the year, he'll now go all out for three months.

What goes? Oleg Cassini and Mary Castle in a party of five at Pearl Bailey's opening at Ciro's, and no Grace Kelly.

Pearl, as expected, killed 'em. What wasn't expected is that she's 30 pounds thinner. Ringsiding at the event were the Maharajah of Baroda with Ruth Gillis and Milton Stevens and Gwen Nesbitt.

The pretty girl with Gary Crosby at the Captain's Table was Havis Davenport who has a good role in "Rear Window."

Sam Katzman transatlantic talked to Xavier Cugat in Naples about playing the insultin' sultan in "Ten Nights in a Harem." Cugie's wife, Abbe Lane, is already scheduled for the lead.

Mecca Graham, who went to Milwaukee to give his niece Jean Greenthal in marriage to Arthur Krakower, is in New York doing the town. Mecca was Judy Garland's assistant director on "A Star Is Born."

Hal Peary, the original "Great Gildersleeve," now a disc jock, goes to Reno this weekend to judge the Miss Nevada beauty contest.

Gloria's anniversary present from Jimmy Stewart is a huge pearl set in diamonds which matches the earrings he gave her for their fourth anniversary. She gave him a double barrel shotgun!

Elizabeth Taylor's son, Mike, has a beeg crush on Jane Powell's daughter, Sissie—but she's older than he, 22 months to his 20.

That's all.

Commissioners Accept Bid On Motor Grader

The bid of the John W. Patterson Company, Harrisburg, Pa., to furnish Allegany county with a motor grader for $10,282 has been accepted by the Board of Commissioners.

The Pennsylvania firm offered a bid of $10,600 with a proviso that a three per cent discount would be allowed for payment within 10 days upon receipt of the invoice. This made the net bid $10,282. It was the lowest of five submitted by equipment firms.

The bids, received last Friday, were tabulated by J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, and Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board.

The commissioners also received word yesterday from the state that a $1,290,000 highway construction bond issue has been sold and the county can obtain the $150,000 previously requested under the state loan system. Nine counties participated in the state loan feature for highway improvements.

Allocation of funds to a number of charitable organizations were made by the commissioners today from the current levy.

Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, gets $1,000; Allegany County Arthritis and Rheumatic Foundation will receive $300; Allegany County Cancer Control Fund, $200; Cumberland Community Chest gets $1,900, and Allegany County League for Crippled Children a total of $1,000.

The program of donating funds to these agencies calls for a total of $5,000 to be allocated.

Giants Boost Lead

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 10 (AP)—Relief pitcher Marv Grissom turned in a brilliant piece of work tonight to preserve Johnny Antonelli's 17th victory as the New York Giants edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1. The victory, combined with Brooklyn's 6-3 loss at the hands of Philadelphia, put the first place Giants four full games ahead of the Dodgers.

With Brooklyn losing tonight, Milwaukee pulled to 3½ games behind the second place Dodgers, but remained 7½ games back of the victorious New York Giants.

GRIDDER HELD—George T. Glisson, 33, former college and professional football player, was under arrest today after Norristown, Pa., police said he admitted 535 robberies of locker rooms which netted him more than $25,000 in the past three years. Police said a diary, listing dates, places and amounts, was found in his room. Glisson once played football at University of Miami and with the now defunct Boston Yankees of the A-A pro grid circuit.

Pirates Eke Out 7-6 Win Over Phils, Tie Dapper Sox For Lead

Donie Lewis worked Jim Hammond for a pass with the bases loaded in the final inning and Bucky Whiteman crossed the plate with the run that gave the Pirates a 7-6 victory over the Phillies in a Dapper Division (Dapper Dan League) game last night at Penn Avenue Field.

The victory enabled the Pirates to tie the Red Sox for first place, each team owning 12-2 records. Both teams play their final games on Thursday at Penn Avenue, the Red Sox meeting the Giants while the Pirates tackle the Phillies.

Puffenburger of the Pirates and Crouch of the Phillies hit two-run homers. Score:

PHILLIES	020	004—6	8 3

Hayden Phillips chalked up his 13th win of the County Softball League campaign when he pitched the Potomac Valley Cubs to a 6-0 triumph over Corriganville last night at the latter place as the regular campaign drew to a close.

The Cubs won the pennant with a 23-6 record.

Lloyd Kline's single in the fourth with two down was the only hit yielded by Phillips who fanned 11 batsmen.

"Tippy" Cecil headed the Cubs with three hits, Paul Lease banged two doubles and Pete Cecil homered with one on in the fourth.

Ed Decker posted his ninth victory of the campaign.

Frostburg Hot Stove Leaguers Cop Series From Midland, 8 To 2

FROSTBURG, Aug. 10—Frostburg's Hot Stove League All-Stars won the "rubber" game of their three-game series with Midland by defeating the Bi-State Pony League team here today by the score of 8-2.

Each team collected seven hits as Jim Mallow was returned the winner over Spiker, who was replaced by Kitzmiller in the third. Five runs in the second inning decided the contest.

Carroll Staggs homered, Pete Wilson rapped two singles and Mallow smacked a two-bagger and single for Frostburg. Kitzmiller hit a round-tripper for Midland. Score:

MIDLAND	001	100 0—2	7 2

Essex Wins Maryland Little League Title

FREDERICK, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—A three-run homer by Catcher Bob Briggs helped Essex defeat Frederick, 9-4, here today and win the Maryland Little League baseball title.

The state champs, from the Stems-Bridge section of the Baltimore suburb, will return here Saturday for the sectional playoff against the winner of the Southern New Jersey-Delaware tournament.

Briggs hit his homer with two men on base in the bottom of the third and the Essex team added two more runs in the fifth.

County Softball League Playoffs Begin Thursday

Playoff semi-finals in the County Softball League will get under way Thursday with Corriganville playing the Potomac Valley Cubs at Triple Lakes at 6:15 p. m.

The Stringtown at Central Quick Lunch opener on Friday will be staged at Corriganville.

Second games in each series, best-of-three games, are scheduled Tuesday at Corriganville and Stringtown.

If the semi-finals are decided Tuesday, the finals will get under way Friday of next week.

Three umpires will officiate in each contest.

Jaycees Clinch Hot Stove Flag

Wegman Shuts Out B'nai B'rith, 11-0

Tommy Wegman twirled a one-hitter and struck out 13 as the Jaycees trounced B'nai B'rith last night at Penn Avenue Field, 11-0, and clinched the pennant in the Hot Stove League.

The victory was the 11th in 13 starts for the Jaycees.

Wegman notched his fourth win against a single setback and the only hit he gave up was credited to Flynn in the seventh inning.

Score:

JAYCEES	160	002 2—11	14 1

Jack Cranor Tosses No-Hit Contest For Dan Loop Senators

Jack Cranor tossed a no-hitter yesterday as the Senators trounced the Athletics in a Dan Division (Dapper Dan League) game at Stitcher Field by the score of 12-2.

Cranor faced only 26 batsmen, issued five passes and struck out 10 as he notched his third win against a single loss.

The victory was the 13th in 14 starts for the pennant winning Senators who conclude their 15-game schedule with the Braves on Thursday.

Dick Peck slammed a homer and single, Bobby Hershberger collected two doubles and Gary Mulligan banged a two-bagger to head the Senators' nine-hit attack. Score:

ATHLETICS	002	000— 2	0 3
SENATORS	303	24x—12	9 3

Boggs, Cross (5) and Clark. Cranor and Manges.

Braves Win, 11-0

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 10 —Pitcher Jim Wilson really didn't need all the help, but the pennant hungry Milwaukee Braves shot extra base blows, including four home runs, around Busch Stadium with ease tonight to back up their hurler's three-hit pitching for a 11-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Syndicate Makes Generous Offer To Mack Family

Group Would Keep A's In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10 (AP)—A businessmen's syndicate today made a "very generous offer" to keep the American League's Athletics in Philadelphia where they've been for 54 years.

It's the second concrete offer for the financially - distressed club. Chicagoan Arnold Johnson last week said he'd buy the A's for a reported $4,500,000, and move the franchise to Kansas City. That would be O. K. with the New York Yankees whose American Assn. club is now in Kansas City.

Today the Philadelphia group, anxious to save the A's for the Quaker City, offered the Mack family "a plan."

The exact amount of cash involved was not disclosed, but it was intimated that if the Macks—Roy; his brother, Earle, and their father, Connie, Sr., who own all the stock—are looking for the biggest dollar then Philadelphia might lose out altogether.

Albert M. Greenfield, prominent financier and chief spokesmen for the businessmen's group, said flatly:

"Nothing definite has been done. We have explored the situation and have given the Mack family a basis for saving the club for Philadelphia. If the Macks feel the basis is satisfactory then we will meet again."

Drug store executive Harry Sylk, who started the move to organize the syndicate, said "it was a good offer."

American Pros Hold 4-1 Lead

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—American twosomes won three of the four matches in today's opening round of the international matches at Tam O'Shanter which are serving as a tuneup for the $165,000 "world" tourney starting Thursday.

Only foreign triumph in today's round was by two Buenos Aires shooters, Roberto de Vicenzo and Antonio Cerda over Pete Cooper and Bob Toski, 5 and 4.

Reds Edge Cubs

CINCINNATI, Aug. 10 (AP)—Chicago's Frank Baumholtz slugged the first pitch of Corky Valentine for a home run but the Cincinnati Redleg pitcher throttled the Cubs the rest of the route tonight and the Reds won 2-1. Valentine, 24-year-old rookie righthander, permitted the Cubs only four other hits.

Lightning Bolt Knocks Down Starter At Charles Town

Work Horses Go Down As Bolt Strikes Gate

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Aug. 10 (AP)—Lightning struck the starting gate just before the feature sixth race at Charles Town Race Track today, but seven thoroughbreds and their jockeys, not yet in position, were not hurt.

The bolt knocked down Starter Harold Holland and two of the four percheron horses pulling the gate into position. Both Holland and John Bradford, driver of the team, suffered mildly from shock and the getaway was delayed for 10 minutes. The work horses were not hurt.

Seven race horses and their riders were about 20 yards from the gate when the lightning struck. Three of the horses attempted to dash off but their jockeys quickly got them under control.

Holland, who had taken his place on the starter's stand in a driving rain, had the electric switch, which actuates the gate in hand when he appeared to collapse. Bradford, astride Bill, the saddle horse, was thrown with his mount.

When the feature got under way, Froggy of the Washington-owned Jackson and Torryson Stable and ridden by Joe Snyder, won a camera decision from C. M. Davis Jr.'s Billies Beam. Third was C. R. Lewis' Mr. Mighty.

Giants Boost Lead

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 10 (AP)—Relief pitcher Marv Grissom turned in a brilliant piece of work tonight to preserve Johnny Antonelli's 17th victory as the New York Giants edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1. The victory, combined with Brooklyn's 6-3 loss at the hands of Philadelphia, put the first place Giants four full games ahead of the Dodgers.

With Brooklyn losing tonight, Milwaukee pulled to 3½ games behind the second place Dodgers, but remained 7½ games back of the victorious New York Giants.

GRIDDER HELD—George T. Glisson, 33, former college and professional football player, was under arrest today after Norristown, Pa., police said he admitted 535 robberies of locker rooms which netted him more than $25,000 in the past three years. Police said a diary, listing dates, places and amounts, was found in his room. Glisson once played football at University of Miami and with the now defunct Boston Yankees of the A-A pro grid circuit.

Pirates Eke Out 7-6 Win Over Phils, Tie Dapper Sox For Lead

Donie Lewis worked Jim Hammond for a pass with the bases loaded in the final inning and Bucky Whiteman crossed the plate with the run that gave the Pirates a 7-6 victory over the Phillies in a Dapper Division (Dapper Dan League) game last night at Penn Avenue Field.

The victory enabled the Pirates to tie the Red Sox for first place, each team owning 12-2 records. Both teams play their final games on Thursday at Penn Avenue, the Red Sox meeting the Giants while the Pirates tackle the Phillies.

Puffenburger of the Pirates and Crouch of the Phillies hit two-run homers. Score:

Hayden Phillips chalked up his 13th win of the County Softball League campaign when he pitched the Potomac Valley Cubs to a 6-0 triumph over Corriganville last night at the latter place as the regular campaign drew to a close.

The Cubs won the pennant with a 23-6 record.

Lloyd Kline's single in the fourth with two down was the only hit yielded by Phillips who fanned 11 batsmen.

"Tippy" Cecil headed the Cubs with three hits, Paul Lease banged two doubles and Pete Cecil homered with one on in the fourth.

Ed Decker posted his ninth victory of the campaign.

County Softball League Playoffs Begin Thursday

Playoff semi-finals in the County Softball League will get under way Thursday with Corriganville playing the Potomac Valley Cubs at Triple Lakes at 6:15 p. m.

The Stringtown at Central Quick Lunch opener on Friday will be staged at Corriganville.

Second games in each series, best-of-three games, are scheduled Tuesday at Corriganville and Stringtown.

If the semi-finals are decided Tuesday, the finals will get under way Friday of next week.

Three umpires will officiate in each contest.

Jaycees Clinch Hot Stove Flag

Wegman Shuts Out B'nai B'rith, 11-0

Tommy Wegman twirled a one-hitter and struck out 13 as the Jaycees trounced B'nai B'rith last night at Penn Avenue Field, 11-0, and clinched the pennant in the Hot Stove League.

The victory was the 11th in 13 starts for the Jaycees.

Wegman notched his fourth win against a single setback and the only hit he gave up was credited to Flynn in the seventh inning.

Syndicate Makes Generous Offer To Mack Family

Group Would Keep A's In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10 (AP)—A businessmen's syndicate today made a "very generous offer" to keep the American League's Athletics in Philadelphia where they've been for 54 years.

It's the second concrete offer for the financially - distressed club. Chicagoan Arnold Johnson last week said he'd buy the A's for a reported $4,500,000, and move the franchise to Kansas City. That would be O. K. with the New York Yankees whose American Assn. club is now in Kansas City.

Today the Philadelphia group, anxious to save the A's for the Quaker City, offered the Mack family "a plan."

The exact amount of cash involved was not disclosed, but it was intimated that if the Macks—Roy; his brother, Earle, and their father, Connie, Sr., who own all the stock—are looking for the biggest dollar then Philadelphia might lose out altogether.

Albert M. Greenfield, prominent financier and chief spokesmen for the businessmen's group, said flatly:

"Nothing definite has been done. We have explored the situation and have given the Mack family a basis for saving the club for Philadelphia. If the Macks feel the basis is satisfactory then we will meet again."

Drug store executive Harry Sylk, who started the move to organize the syndicate, said "it was a good offer."

American Pros Hold 4-1 Lead

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—American twosomes won three of the four matches in today's opening round of the international matches at Tam O'Shanter which are serving as a tuneup for the $165,000 "world" tourney starting Thursday.

Only foreign triumph in today's round was by two Buenos Aires shooters, Roberto de Vicenzo and Antonio Cerda over Pete Cooper and Bob Toski, 5 and 4.

Reds Edge Cubs

CINCINNATI, Aug. 10 (AP)—Chicago's Frank Baumholtz slugged the first pitch of Corky Valentine for a home run but the Cincinnati Redleg pitcher throttled the Cubs the rest of the route tonight and the Reds won 2-1. Valentine, 24-year-old rookie righthander, permitted the Cubs only four other hits.

Lightning Bolt Knocks Down Starter At Charles Town

Work Horses Go Down As Bolt Strikes Gate

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Aug. 10 (AP)—Lightning struck the starting gate just before the feature sixth race at Charles Town Race Track today, but seven thoroughbreds and their jockeys, not yet in position, were not hurt.

The bolt knocked down Starter Harold Holland and two of the four percheron horses pulling the gate into position. Both Holland and John Bradford, driver of the team, suffered mildly from shock and the getaway was delayed for 10 minutes. The work horses were not hurt.

Seven race horses and their riders were about 20 yards from the gate when the lightning struck. Three of the horses attempted to dash off but their jockeys quickly got them under control.

Holland, who had taken his place on the starter's stand in a driving rain, had the electric switch, which actuates the gate in hand when he appeared to collapse. Bradford, astride Bill, the saddle horse, was thrown with his mount.

When the feature got under way, Froggy of the Washington-owned Jackson and Torryson Stable and ridden by Joe Snyder, won a camera decision from C. M. Davis Jr.'s Billies Beam. Third was C. R. Lewis' Mr. Mighty.

Richard Harlow Elected To Football's Hall Of Fame

Retired Coach Is Now Advisor At Western Md

Served At Harvard 14 Years; Coached At Four Colleges

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Aug. 10 (AP)—Richard C. Harlow, former head coach and now advisor at Western Maryland College, was elected today to college football's Hall of Fame.

COACH DICK HARLOW

Election to the Hall of Fame at Rutgers University, site of the first college football game in the United States, is limited to players who have been graduated for 10 years and coaches retired from active service for five.

Harlow retired in 1947 after 14 years of coaching at Harvard. He has been helping Coach Charley Havens at Western Maryland since 1949.

Harlow coached at Western Maryland from 1926 through 1934. He previously coached at Penn State and Colgate. In his nine years at Western Maryland, Harlow's team won 60 games, lost only 13 and tied seven.

Collegians Conceded Chance To Beat Pros

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (INS)—The College All-Stars were given at least a 50-50 chance today of spilling the Detroit Lions in the 20th annual meeting between the best in college football and the pro champions Friday night at Chicago's Soldier Field.

Observers figured these two factors will favor the All-Stars' chances for victory:

1. The Lions will be required to abandon their two-platoon system and operate under collegiate rules of limited substitution.

The All-Stars' '54 edition is equipped with such quarterback-passing stars as Georgia's Zeke Bratkowski; Stanford's Bobby Garrett; Baylor's Cotton Davidson; Arkansas' Lamar Mahan; and Auburn's Vince Dooley.

Detroit won last year's game, 20-14.

CCC Women's Golf Meet Ends In Tie

Mrs. Morgan C. Harris and Mrs. Fred W. Mills shot net 70s to equal the score of the club's pro, Carroll Boggs, in the tournament held yesterday by the Women's Golf Association at the Cumberland Country Club.

There will be a nine-hole playoff between the tied leaders at a later date.

Berkeley Gridders To Report Monday

Coach Gerard P. Calhoun yesterday announced the first meeting of candidates for Berkeley High School's football team will be Monday, August 16 at 4 p. m., D.S.T. at the high school.

Beginning Tuesday it is planned to hold two practice sessions daily until school starts in preparation for the opening game with Romney High at the latter place Friday, September 10.

Richards Retires

WORTHING, England, Aug. 10 (AP) — Sir Gordon Richards, the world's winningest jockey with 4,870 victories to his credit, announced his retirement from the saddle today.

"I shall not ride again in public," the veteran rider said at the Worthing bungalow where he is recovering from a pelvic injury suffered in an accident at Sandown July 10.

Belgium has sometimes been called the "cock pit of Europe" because it has been the scene of more European battles than any other country.

Herbert Hoover To Attend Game

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (INS)—The New York Yankees announced tonight that former president Herbert Hoover, a long-time baseball fan, has accepted an invitation to attend the Yankees' Oldtimers Game next Saturday.

The ex-president paused in celebration of his 80th birthday at West Branch, Ia., to wire his acceptance to Yankee President Dan Topping.

Moore, Johnson To Meet Fifth Time Tonight

Archie Will Defend Title In New York

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Rambling Archie Moore, who changes home towns with the seasons, is an 8 to 5 favorite to beat off Harold Johnson's challenge for his world light heavyweight title tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden.

Making the weight limit of 175 pounds has been a tough job for the 37-year-old champ who has boxed as a pro since 1936. He made it for his second defense against Joey Maxim at Miami, Jan. 27 but ballooned to 190½ in six weeks for a non-title go with Bob Baker. In his last outing, June 7, he weighed 189¼ when he knocked out Bert Whitehurst.

The 15-round match, scheduled for 10 p.m. (EDT) will be carried on network television (CBS) with the New York area blacked out. However, there will be a radio broadcast (CBS) in New York only. A crowd of about 7,000 and receipts of $25,000 will satisfy the International Boxing Club.

The Moore-Johnson series is a long-standing feud dating back to April 26, 1949 when Moore handed Johnson a Philadelphia boy, his first pro defeat after 25 straight victories. Archie the gypsy floored Johnson twice in that first match and beat him again at Philadelphia Sept. 24, 1951. Johnson's only decision in the series came at Milwaukee, Dec. 10, 1951 but Moore beat him back again at Toledo, Jan. 29, 1952. All went the route.

On the basis of that 3-1 edge in previous battles, Moore would be a topheavy favorite except for his age and his weight problem. Johnson, who became 26 yesterday, has a 48-5 record for 53 bouts since 1946. He has knocked out 22 and was stopped once—by Jersey Joe Walcott, Feb. 8, 1950. Jersey Joe also stopped his father way back in 1936.

Archie is working on an 18-bout winning string since he was beaten by Johnson in Milwaukee.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 10 (AP)—John Landy finally admitted today that one of the feet that ran the golden mile had stitches in it.

"There was a deep cut in my left foot but it didn't bother me in the slightest," the famed Australian miler said in an interview after sports editors had drawn doctors' support of their published reports of his pre-race injury.

The flying Aussie insisted he didn't want the foot to be used in any way as an alibi for his loss to Dr. Roger Bannister of England in the only race in which two men ever ran the mile under four minutes. The race was the spectacular finale Saturday for the British Empire Games.

Landy had denied yesterday a Montreal sports editor's story of the injury.

"The quicker that it's dismissed, the better," Landy said in his acknowledgement today.

The Outdoor Club took a one-game lead in the Rocking Chair Softball League by beating the Loyal Order of Moose yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 6-3.

Five runs in the first inning decided the issue. The rally was marked by Ted Durbin's triple, Penner's base on balls and singles by Joe Geatz, Grimes, Cook, Johnson and Crabtree.

Jim Morrison came out of retirement to pitch the O.D.C. to victory. Jim had been inactive since May 18. He now owns a 3-1 record.

Manager Cecil Grimes, Ted Durbin and Morrison had two hits each. Durbin belted a triple and Morrison rapped a two-bagger.

Lou Riehl and Andrew "Poon" Lewis smashed homers as the Eagles took the B.P.O. Elks into camp at Allegany Field, 14-6.

Riehl and Bill Welsh had three hits each in four trips to the plate. Riehl's homer came with two mates aboard in the third. He also smacked a double and single. Lewis four-base rap came with one on. Bob Pence and Bill Underdonk pounded a double and single each for the Elks. Bill Dean and Lewis of the Eagles and Lester and Giles of the Elks were the fielding stars.

Al Sheetz notched his 11th win against four losses. Scores:

Leith Benefit Softball Game Set For Today

Umpires, R. C. Stars Clash At Stitcher

A softball game for the benefit of the George Leith Fund will be staged today between the Tri-State Umpires Association and the Rocking Chair League All-Stars at 6:15 o'clock at Stitcher Field.

Proceeds of this contest will go to George Leith, former umpire, who was stricken with a brain tumor in 1947 and is now a patient in Allegany County Infirmary.

Russ Minnicks will manage the umpires aggregation which will use the Fraternal Order of Eagles battery of Allan Sheetz and Lou Riehl.

Others players in the umps' lineup will be Jimmy Angellatta, George Rice, George McGregor, Joe Wagner, Andrew Lewis, Walter Hite. "Chick" Snider and Fred Comer. Others available are Phil Beall, "Buck" Frantz, Jim Mason, Tom Murphy, Charles Hinze, Vic Reynolds, George Schoenadel, Joe Stuckey, "Casey" Thompson, Gerald Young, Glen Zimmerman, Kenneth Grimes, George Marble, Blaine McKenzie, Fred Clark, Mel Nee and John Angellatta.

Charley Day of the Outdoor Club and Bill Underdonk of the B.P.O. Elks will twirl for the R. C. League team with Bob Pence of the Elks working behind the plate.

Other players in the All-Stars lineup are Vern Penner, Joe Geatz, Ted Durbin and "Butch" Johnson, of the Outdoor Club; Harry Minnicks and "Red" Morrissey, of the Eagles; "Pete" Elliott, "Bub" Porter, George Geatz, Bobby Williams and Lou Bell of the Moose; Don Harden of the K. of C., and Johnny Cox and Walter Orndorff of the Elks.

Cecil Grimes, Outdoor Club; Fritz Palmer, Eagles; Gene Zembower, K. of C., and "Tag" Reel, Elks, will pilot the All-Stars.

Mesdames Clara Mullen and Mae Horn, "umpire baiters," will officiate in the first inning, followed by Jim Rice, Peter J. Carpenti and William V. Keegan.

Softballs have been donated by Wilson Hardware Company and the Sports Shoppe.

Baltimore Colts Sign Frank Selvy

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—Frank Selvy, the flash from Furman University who holds 24 major collegiate records, signed a one-year contract today with the Baltimore Bullets of the professional National Basketball Assn.

Owner-Coach Clair Bee, who had made the 6-foot-3-inch rookie his No. 1 draft choice, refused to disclose salary terms for the 22-year-old rookie.

Richard Harlow Elected To Football's Hall Of Fame

Retired Coach Is Now Advisor At Western Md

Served At Harvard 14 Years; Coached At Four Colleges

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Aug. 10 (AP)—Richard C. Harlow, former head coach and now advisor at Western Maryland College, was elected today to college football's Hall of Fame.

COACH DICK HARLOW

Election to the Hall of Fame at Rutgers University, site of the first college football game in the United States, is limited to players who have been graduated for 10 years and coaches retired from active service for five.

Harlow retired in 1947 after 14 years of coaching at Harvard. He has been helping Coach Charley Havens at Western Maryland since 1949.

Harlow coached at Western Maryland from 1926 through 1934. He previously coached at Penn State and Colgate. In his nine years at Western Maryland, Harlow's team won 60 games, lost only 13 and tied seven.

Collegians Conceded Chance To Beat Pros

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (INS)—The College All-Stars were given at least a 50-50 chance today of spilling the Detroit Lions in the 20th annual meeting between the best in college football and the pro champions Friday night at Chicago's Soldier Field.

Observers figured these two factors will favor the All-Stars' chances for victory:

1. The Lions will be required to abandon their two-platoon system and operate under collegiate rules of limited substitution.

The All-Stars' '54 edition is equipped with such quarterback-passing stars as Georgia's Zeke Bratkowski; Stanford's Bobby Garrett; Baylor's Cotton Davidson; Arkansas' Lamar Mahan; and Auburn's Vince Dooley.

Detroit won last year's game, 20-14.

CCC Women's Golf Meet Ends In Tie

Mrs. Morgan C. Harris and Mrs. Fred W. Mills shot net 70s to equal the score of the club's pro, Carroll Boggs, in the tournament held yesterday by the Women's Golf Association at the Cumberland Country Club.

There will be a nine-hole playoff between the tied leaders at a later date.

Berkeley Gridders To Report Monday

Coach Gerard P. Calhoun yesterday apnounced the first meeting of candidates for Berkeley High School's football team will be Monday, August 16 at 4 p. m., D.S.T. at the high school.

Beginning Tuesday it is planned to hold two practice sessions daily until school starts in preparation for the opening game with Romney High at the latter place Friday, September 10.

Richards Retires

WORTHING, England, Aug. 10 (AP) — Sir Gordon Richards, the world's winningest jockey with 4,870 victories to his credit, announced his retirement from the saddle today.

"I shall not ride again in public," the veteran rider said at the Worthing bungalow where he is recovering from a pelvic injury suffered in an accident at Sandown July 10.

GALEN McGREGOR

DON PAYE

Galen McGregor Is Winner Of Legion Loop Swat Title

Fort Cumberland First Baseman Hit .484; Lefty Don Paye Headed Hurlers With 5-0

Galen McGregor, first baseman of Fort Cumberland Post, won the batting championship of the Mountain District American Legion Junior Baseball League for the 1954 season with an average of .484.

Runner-up honors went to Eddie Parsons, also of Fort Cumberland Post, who hit the ball at a .390 clip.

Two other Fort Cumberland players, Eddie McKenney and Eddie Cecil were third and fourth with averages of .371 and .367. Bill Roberts, of Farrady Post, Frostburg, was fifth with .366.

Kenny Johnson, Midland, gathered the most hits, a total of 17 while Eddie Parsons was the leading run getter with 17 to his credit.

Pitchers of the five-team circuit were headed by Don Paye, Fort Cumberland portsider, who turned in a 5-0 record. Bob Lewis of the Cumberland champions was runner-up with 4-0 followed by Wayne Murray with a 3-1 mark.

The league's strikeout king was Jesse Markley, of Fulton Myers Post, Cumberland, with a total of 50 victims in 41⅓ innings. Clifford Welch of Grantsville Pos. twirled more innings than any other pitcher, a total of 45. The averages:

Herbert Hoover To Attend Game

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (INS)—The New York Yankees announced tonight that former president Herbert Hoover, a long-time baseball fan, has accepted an invitation to attend the Yankees' Oldtimers Game next Saturday.

The ex-president paused in celebration of his 80th birthday at West Branch, Ia., to wire his acceptance to Yankee President Dan Topping.

Moore, Johnson To Meet Fifth Time Tonight

Archie Will Defend Title In New York

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Rambling Archie Moore, who changes home towns with the seasons, is an 8 to 5 favorite to beat off Harold Johnson's challenge for his world light heavyweight title tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden.

Making the weight limit of 175 pounds has been a tough job for the 37-year-old champ who has boxed as a pro since 1936. He made it for his second defense against Joey Maxim at Miami, Jan. 27 but ballooned to 190½ in six weeks for a non-title go with Bob Baker. In his last outing, June 7, he weighed 189¼ when he knocked out Bert Whitehurst.

The 15-round match, scheduled for 10 p.m. (EDT) will be carried on network television (CBS) with the New York area blacked out. However, there will be a radio broadcast (CBS) in New York only. A crowd of about 7,000 and receipts of $25,000 will satisfy the International Boxing Club.

The Moore-Johnson series is a long-standing feud dating back to April 26, 1949 when Moore handed Johnson a Philadelphia boy, his first pro defeat after 25 straight victories. Archie the gypsy floored Johnson twice in that first match and beat him again at Philadelphia Sept. 24, 1951. Johnson's only decision in the series came at Milwaukee, Dec. 10, 1951 but Moore beat him back again at Toledo, Jan. 29, 1952. All went the route.

On the basis of that 3-1 edge in previous battles, Moore would be a topheavy favorite except for his age and his weight problem. Johnson, who became 26 yesterday, has a 48-5 record for 53 bouts since 1946. He has knocked out 22 and was stopped once—by Jersey Joe Walcott, Feb. 8, 1950. Jersey Joe also stopped his father way back in 1936.

Archie is working on an 18-bout winning string since he was beaten by Johnson in Milwaukee.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 10 (AP)—John Landy finally admitted today that one of the feet that ran the golden mile had stitches in it.

"There was a deep cut in my left foot but it didn't bother me in the slightest," the famed Australian miler said in an interview after sports editors had drawn doctors' support of their published reports of his pre-race injury.

The flying Aussie insisted he didn't want the foot to be used in any way as an alibi for his loss to Dr. Roger Bannister of England in the only race in which two men ever ran the mile under four minutes. The race was the spectacular finale Saturday for the British Empire Games.

Landy had denied yesterday a Montreal sports editor's story of the injury.

"The quicker that it's dismissed, the better," Landy said in his acknowledgement today.

Higgins Is Honored

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Aug. 10 (AP)—Robert A. Higgins, a former coach at West Virginia Wesleyan, was elected today to the college football Hall of Fame.

Higgins also coached at Penn State and Washington of St. Louis.

ROCKING CHAIR LEAGUE

	W.	L.		W.	L.
Outdoor Club	14	7	B. P. O. Elks	12	9
Moose	14	9	K. of C.	0	19
F. O. Eagles	12	8

The Outdoor Club took a one-game lead in the Rocking Chair Softball League by beating the Loyal Order of Moose yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 6-3.

Five runs in the first inning decided the issue. The rally was marked by Ted Durbin's triple, Penner's base on balls and singles by Joe Geatz, Grimes, Cook, Johnson and Crabtree.

Jim Morrison came out of retirement to pitch the O.D.C. to victory. Jim had been inactive since May 18. He now owns a 3-1 record.

Manager Cecil Grimes, Ted Durbin and Morrison had two hits each. Durbin belted a triple and Morrison rapped a two-bagger.

Lou Riehl and Andrew "Poon" Lewis smashed homers as the Eagles took the B.P.O. Elks into camp at Allegany Field, 14-6.

Riehl and Bill Welsh had three hits each in four trips to the plate. Riehl's homer came with two mates aboard in the third. He also smacked a double and single. Lewis four-base rap came with one on. Bob Pence and Bill Underdonk pounded a double and single each for the Elks. Bill Dean and Lewis of the Eagles and Lester and Giles of the Elks were the fielding stars.

Al Sheetz notched his 11th win against four losses. Scores:

AT STITCHER FIELD:

MOOSE	010	200	0—3	10	0
OUTDOOR	500	001	x—6	10	1

Leith Benefit Softball Game Set For Today

Umpires, R. C. Stars Clash At Stitcher

A softball game for the benefit of the George Leith Fund will be staged today between the Tri-State Umpires Association and the Rocking Chair League All-Stars at 6:15 o'clock at Stitcher Field.

Proceeds of this contest will go to George Leith, former umpire, who was stricken with a brain tumor in 1947 and is now a patient in Allegany County Infirmary.

Russ Minnicks will manage the umpires aggregation which will use the Fraternal Order of Eagles battery of Allan Sheetz and Lou Riehl.

Others players in the umps' lineup will be Jimmy Angellatta, George Rice, George McGregor, Joe Wagner, Andrew Lewis, Walter Hite. "Chick" Snider and Fred Comer. Others available are Phil Beall, "Buck" Frantz, Jim Mason, Tom Murphy, Charles Hinze, Vic Reynolds, George Schoenadel, Joe Stuckey, "Casey" Thompson, Gerald Young, Glen Zimmerman, Kenneth Grimes, George Marble, Blaine McKenzie, Fred Clark, Mel Nee and John Angellatta.

Charley Day of the Outdoor Club and Bill Underdonk of the B.P.O. Elks will twirl for the R. C. League team with Bob Pence of the Elks working behind the plate.

Other players in the All-Stars lineup are Vern Penner, Joe Geatz, Ted Durbin and "Butch" Johnson, of the Outdoor Club; Harry Minnicks and "Red" Morrissey, of the Eagles; "Pete" Elliott, "Bub" Porter, George Geatz, Bobby Williams and Lou Bell of the Moose; Don Harden of the K. of C., and Johnny Cox and Walter Orndorff of the Elks.

Cecil Grimes, Outdoor Club; Fritz Palmer, Eagles; Gene Zembower, K. of C., and "Tag" Reel, Elks, will pilot the All-Stars.

Mesdames Clara Mullen and Mae Horn, "umpire baiters," will officiate in the first inning, followed by Jim Rice, Peter J. Carpenti and William V. Keegan.

Softballs have been donated by Wilson Hardware Company and the Sports Shoppe.

Baltimore Colts Sign Frank Selvy

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—Frank Selvy, the flash from Furman University who holds 24 major collegiate records, signed a one-year contract today with the Baltimore Bullets of the professional National Basketball Assn.

Owner-Coach Clair Bee, who had made the 6-foot-3-inch rookie his No. 1 draft choice, refused to disclose salary terms for the 22-year-old rookie.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Eight Countries Look At Each Other

When eight countries—England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Denmark, Holland, Belgium—were linked together in a television network for a month in June, it was viewed by the Europeans as a great technical triumph. To Americans, accustomed as we are to jumping from New York to Los Angeles in a matter of moments, it was a rather different sort of triumph—a linkage of a babble of tongues and more particularly a babble of temperament.

How did the Romans view the British? How did the French view the Swiss offerings? UNESCO is now conducting a survey to find out about these things, but some things are abundantly clear. As one French official put it carefully; "We cannot, of course, say anything about our allies in this great enterprise. But we have learned that there is no international language in pictures. Each nation sees the television picture in its own terms. Some nations are interested in the small human detail, others in the more official picture."

He did not say which nation was interested in the small human detail as opposed to those in the official picture. But it's interesting to note that one French show broadcast to all eight countries concerned a new visitor to Paris—his first impression of the restaurants, the shops, the streets, the girls. And from Britain came a show of Queen Elizabeth reviewing detachments of the Royal Navy in London.

Every nation tried to put forth its best foot and in so doing revealed a little bit of its own temperament, its own prejudices, its own self. The Germans, for example, broadcast some sort of youth encampment where the German youths were imbibing fresh air and emitting German songs—as they seem to have been doing for some centuries now (it was pretty dull, too), the Swiss, who have always been exquisitely noncommital and expertly non-partisan, broadcast a flower show, than which there is nothing more noncommital or non-partisan.

And yet each of these things—ordinary in itself—provided an extraordinary glimpse from one country to another. Declared "Le Monde" in Paris of a shot of Rome: "We will remember for a long time the astonishing panorama of the city on its seven hills." And a French broadcasting official said to me, with what seemed like inordinate glee: "For the first time, people in eight countries could set their watches by the clock at St. Peter's in Rome."

As a unifying force in Europe, television is still just a dream because so few people have sets—(12,000,000 people were estimated to have seen Eurovision but that figure seems wildly optimistic)—but the first experiment in it has been a howling success. To Americans, the programs offered would seem impossibly dull. A stroll down the Rhine at Bad Godesburg; an inspection of the pictures at the Vatican; a fete for the children of displaced persons in Holland; a promenade in London at night; the illumination at Versailles.

But Europeans are interested in much different things than we are. They like to travel, and right now many of them can't afford it. These little glimpses of not-so-far-away places give them a vicarious satisfaction. In addition, they have a deep interest in one another's culture. (One of the complaints against Eurovision was that there wasn't enough culture) One Frenchman has assured me that Eurovision—if it comes to stay—will be far more a cultural medium than a medium of entertainment.

Two things that were conspicuously absent on Eurovision's first try—entertainment (in the sense of singing, dancing, acting, comedy) and controversy (a discussion of the EDC or Indochina or such like). The first was not intentional. A variety show was to be broadcast from England as well as various entertainments banned various entertainments from other countries. At the last minute, the entertainers banded together in a union from eight countries and said "no." Even this action, negative as it is, shows how Eurovision drives separate nationalities together. The entertainers had never before got together like this.

As for controversial subjects—well, all eight television systems are government-operated and no one was taking any chances at this early stage of the game of exciting the displeasure of his government. But the French seem sure that controversy and debate will some day be on Eurovision—a German, let's say, arguing with a Frenchman about the rearmament of Western Germany—and that will be a great day, indeed.

"Good television can only exist on a large scale," a Frenchman told me. "European countres are too little to have good television of their own. We need each other. A common European spirit needs television. It can best help to bring people together."

Daily Bridge Lesson

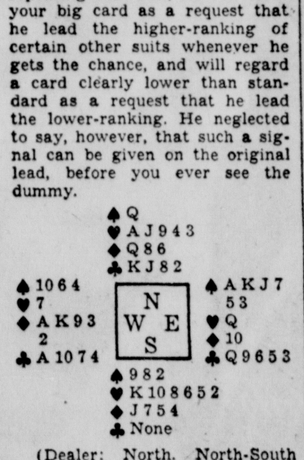
SIGNAL ON FIRST LEAD

PRETTY skillful was the player who explained to his partner the nature of a "suit-preference" signal. Seeing the dummy, he pointed out, if you know your partner won't consider your unduly high card as a request for repeating that suit, he will treat your big card as a request that he lead the higher-ranking of certain other suits whenever he gets the chance, and will regard a card clearly lower than standard as a request that he lead the lower-ranking. He neglected to say, however, that such a signal can be given on the original lead, before you ever see the dummy.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	1 ♠	4 ♥	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	5 ♥	Pass
Pass	5 ♠

When South led the heart 2, North, a brilliant card-reader, inferred that it was clearly lower than the fourth-best, in view of South's bidding. If that reading was true, then South was suggesting a lead of the lower-ranking of the non-bid side suits, clubs, since a card a bit higher than the fourth-best, such as the 8 or 10, would request the higher-ranking diamonds.

North got the idea. Upon winning with the heart A, he promptly shifted to the club 2, and the resulting ruff by South's spade 2 doomed the contract. The club K was certain to win a trick later on, giving the side just what it needed to set the one-trick-overboard contract.

There are many situations in which such a first-lead signal can help to prevent tricks by the declarer and build them for your own side. None of them happens with great frequency, but when one does occur, it can be the key to the entire defensive effort.

Radio And Television

Eight Countries Look At Each Other

When eight countries—England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Denmark, Holland, Belgium—were linked together in a television network for a month in June, it was viewed by the Europeans as a great technical triumph. To Americans, accustomed as we are to jumping from New York to Los Angeles in a matter of moments, it was a rather different sort of triumph—a linkage of a babble of tongues and more particularly a babble of temperament.

How did the Romans view the British? How did the French view the Swiss offerings? UNESCO is now conducting a survey to find out about these things, but some things are abundantly clear. As one French official put it carefully: "We cannot, of course, say anything about our allies in this great enterprise. But we have learned that there is no international language in pictures. Each nation sees the television picture in its own terms. Some nations are interested in the small human detail, others in the more official picture."

He did not say which nation was interested in the small human detail as opposed to those in the official picture. But it's interesting to note that one French show broadcast to all eight countries concerned a new visitor to Paris—his first impression of the restaurants, the shops, the streets, the girls. And from Britain came a show of Queen Elizabeth reviewing detachments of the Royal Navy in London.

Every nation tried to put forth its best foot and in so doing revealed a little bit of its own temperament, its own prejudices, its own self. The Germans, for example, broadcast some sort of youth encampment where the German youths were imbibing fresh air and emitting German songs—as they seem to have been doing for some centuries now (it was pretty dull, too), the Swiss, who have always been exquisitely noncommital and expertly non-partisan, broadcast a flower show, than which there is nothing more noncommital or non-partisan.

And yet each of these things—ordinary in itself—provided an extraordinary glimpse from one country to another. Declared "Le Monde" in Paris of a shot of Rome: "We will remember for a long time the astonishing panorama of the city on its seven hills." And a French broadcasting official said to me, with what seemed like inordinate glee: "For the first time, people in eight countries could set their watches by the clock at St. Peter's in Rome."

As a unifying force in Europe, television is still just a dream because so few people have sets—(12,000,000 people were estimated to have seen Eurovision but that figure seems wildly optimistic)—but the first experiment in it has been a howling success. To Americans, the programs offered would seem impossibly dull. A stroll down the Rhine at Bad Godesburg; an inspection of the pictures at the Vatican; a fete for the children of displaced persons in Holland; a promenade in London at night; the illumination at Versailles.

But Europeans are interested in much different things than we are. They like to travel, and right now many of them can't afford it. These little glimpses of not-so-far-away places give them a vicarious satisfaction. In addition, they have a deep interest in one another's culture. (One of the complaints against Eurovision was that there wasn't enough culture) One Frenchman has assured me that Eurovision—if it comes to stay—will be far more a cultural medium than a medium of entertainment.

Two things that were conspicuously absent on Eurovision's first try—entertainment (in the sense of singing, dancing, acting, comedy) and controversy (a discussion of the EDC or Indochina or such like). The first was not intentional. A variety show was to be broadcast from England as well as various entertainments banned various entertainments from other countries. At the last minute, the entertainers banded together in a union from eight countries and said "no." Even this action, negative as it is, shows how Eurovision drives separate nationalities together. The entertainers had never before got together like this.

As for controversial subjects—well, all eight television systems are government-operated and no one was taking any chances at this early stage of the game of exciting the displeasure of his government. But the French seem sure that controversy and debate will some day be on Eurovision—a German, let's say, arguing with a Frenchman about the rearmament of Western Germany—and that will be a great day, indeed.

"Good television can only exist on a large scale," a Frenchman told me. "European countres are too little to have good television of their own. We need each other. A common European spirit needs television. It can best help to bring people together."

CABLE TV NEWS

Your TV set does not need to be kept in tip top condition to get excellent reception with Cable TV. This saving above will pay a big part of your maintenance fee costs.

Many people are paying almost as much per year for antenna reception as it would cost for Cable TV, and there will never be any comparison, so why not get started soon with Cable TV and enjoy the best.

Daily Bridge Lesson by Barclay

SIGNAL ON FIRST LEAD

PRETTY skillful was the player who explained to his partner the nature of a "suit-preference" signal. Seeing the dummy, he pointed out, if you know your partner won't consider your unduly high card as a request for repeating that suit, he will treat your big card as a request that he lead the higher-ranking of certain other suits whenever he gets the chance, and will regard a card clearly lower than standard as a request that he lead the lower-ranking. He neglected to say, however, that such a signal can be given on the original lead, before you ever see the dummy.

	♠ Q ♥ A J 9 4 3 ♦ Q 8 6 ♣ K J 8 2

	♠ 9 8 2 ♥ K 10 8 6 5 2 ♦ J 7 5 4 ♣ None

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	5 ♥	Pass

When South led the heart 2, North, a brilliant card-reader, inferred that it was clearly lower than the fourth-best, in view of South's bidding. If that reading was true, then South was suggesting a lead of the lower-ranking of the non-bid side suits, clubs, since a card a bit higher than the fourth-best, such as the 8 or 10, would request the higher-ranking diamonds.

North got the idea. Upon winning with the heart A, he promptly shifted to the club 2, and the resulting ruff by South's spade 2 doomed the contract. The club K was certain to win a trick later on, giving the side just what it needed to set the one-trick-overboard contract.

There are many situations in which such a first-lead signal can help to prevent tricks by the declarer and build them for your own side. None of them happens with great frequency, but when one does occur, it can be the key to the entire defensive effort.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Ella Michael. We especially wish to thank Rev. Joseph Fatkin, those who sent flowers, the pallbearers and all who donated cars for the funeral.

THE FAMILY

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who were so helpful and kind to us in our bereavement, the sudden death of our beloved son and brother, Elmer William Herrell. We want to thank Reverend Clifford Frith, those who sent gifts and flowers and those who donated their cars for the funeral.

Mr. & Mrs. Earl Herrell, Brothers and Sisters.

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent sad bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Bernard A. Weber. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, and to all others who in any way rendered assistance.

THE WEBER FAMILY

In Memoriam

In sacred and sincere tribute of love to the memory of my dear husband, Harry T. Parker, who departed this life two years ago today, August 11, 1952.

Longing dear Harry for now.
Wishing the sky would open,
Just for a glimpse of you.
Watch over me from above dear Harry,
Protect me here below.
Guide me always in the path
Take my hands when days are dark,
Comfort me when I cry.
Always by my side.
Sadly missed by his loving wife: Ada.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Ella Michael. We especially wish to thank Rev. Joseph Fatkin, those who sent flowers, the pallbearers and all who donated cars for the funeral.

THE FAMILY

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who were so helpful and kind to us in our bereavement, the sudden death of our beloved son and brother, Elmer William Herrell. We want to thank Reverend Clifford Frith, those who sent gifts and flowers and those who donated their cars for the funeral.

Mr. & Mrs. Earl Herrell, Brothers and Sisters.

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent sad bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Bernard A. Weber. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, and to all others who in any way rendered assistance.

THE WEBER FAMILY

In Memoriam

In sacred and sincere tribute of love to the memory of my dear husband, Harry T. Parker, who departed this life two years ago today, August 11, 1952.

Thinking today, thinking.
Longing dear Harry for you.
Wishing the sky would open,
Just for a glimpse of you.
Watch over me from above dear Harry,
Protect me here below.
Guide me always in the path
As you would want me to go.
Take my hands when days are dark,
Comfort me when I cry.
Walk with me in this weary life,
Always by my side.
Sadly missed by his loving wife: Ada.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland Sealed Proposals for Repairs To Temperance Row Bridge, Barton, Maryland.

Sealed bids will be received by the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, until the 31st day of August, 1954, at 10:30 A. M., E. D. T., by its Clerk, the undersigned, whose address is the Court House, Cumberland, Maryland, for fabricating and laying a new steel deck as well as certain other repairs to the Temperance Row Bridge at Barton, Allegany County, Maryland, in accordance with certain General Specifications, dated July 28, 1954, prepared under the direction of the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland.

Said Specifications will be available on and after July 30, 1954, at the office of J. Walker Chapman, County Roads Supervisor, 111 Union Street, Cumberland, Maryland, to whom requests for additional information should be made.

Bids must be submitted with a Certified Check for Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), payable to the County Commissioners of Allegany County, this check to be returned to the successful bidder upon execution of the contract for the work. Other checks to be returned to unsuccessful bidders after tabulation of bids. Bids should be marked "Temperance Row Bridge Project".

Successful bidder will be required to furnish bond in an amount equal to twice the amount of the contract price, said bond to be with a bonding company licensed to do business in the State of Maryland and to be approved by the County Commissioners of Allegany County.

Evidence of Workmen's Compensation and public liability insurance must be furnished and the Contractor must comply with all Federal, State and Local regulations.

Labor rates must be figured at prevailing hourly wage rates in the vicinity at the date of the contract.

The County Commissioners of Allegany County hereby reserve the right to reject any or all bids or to accept any.

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, 1930 Edition, notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, did, in regular session on Monday, July 26, 1954, approve the Report of Commissioners on the closing of Creek Street or Creek Lane from its intersection with the westerly side of Market Street through the property of the Queen City Brewing Company to its terminus. Said Commissioners were appointed by virtue of Ordinance No. 1984 for the purpose of assessing any damages or benefits incurred by or accruing to any owners of property affected by the closing of said Creek Street or Creek Lane. After meeting on the premises and hearing those persons who would be affected by the closing of said Creek Street or Creek Lane, the commissioners present the following:

"It is the unanimous opinion of the undersigned, that as a result of the closing of Creek Street or Creek Lane from its intersection with the westerly side of Market Street through the property of the Queen City Brewing Company to its westerly terminus, that no damages have been sustained and no benefits have accrued, not already enjoyed, by the abutting property owner, which is the aforesaid Queen City Brewing Company. Accordingly, our decision is that no benefits are to be levied and no damages should be assessed.

We further direct that the Queen City Brewing Company should pay all costs attendant to the closing of said Creek Lane or Creek Street, which proceedings were instituted at the request of said corporation."

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after July 26, 1954, by filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland Sealed Proposals for Repairs To Temperance Row Bridge, Barton, Maryland.

Sealed bids will be received by the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, until the 31st day of August, 1954, at 10:30 A. M., E. D. T., by its Clerk, the undersigned, whose address is the Court House, Cumberland, Maryland, for fabricating and laying a new steel deck as well as certain other repairs to the Temperance Row Bridge at Barton, Allegany County, Maryland, in accordance with certain General Specifications, dated July 28, 1954, prepared under the direction of the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland.

Said Specifications will be available on and after July 30, 1954, at the office of J. Walker Chapman, County Roads Supervisor, 111 Union Street, Cumberland, Maryland, to whom requests for additional information should be made.

Bids must be submitted with a Certified Check for Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), payable to the County Commissioners of Allegany County, this check to be returned to the successful bidder upon execution of the contract for the work. Other checks to be returned to unsuccessful bidders after tabulation of bids. Bids should be marked "Temperance Row Bridge Project".

Successful bidder will be required to furnish bond in an amount equal to twice the amount of the contract price, said bond to be with a bonding company licensed to do business in the State of Maryland and to be approved by the County Commissioners of Allegany County.

Evidence of Workmen's Compensation and public liability insurance must be furnished and the Contractor must comply with all Federal, State and Local regulations.

Labor rates must be figured at prevailing hourly wage rates in the vicinity at the date of the contract.

The County Commissioners of Allegany County hereby reserve the right to reject any or all bids or to accept any.

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, 1950 Edition, notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, did, in regular session on Monday, July 26, 1954, approve the Report of Commissioners on the closing of Creek Street or Creek Lane from its intersection with the westerly side of Market Street through the property of the Queen City Brewing Company to its terminus. Said Commissioners were appointed by virtue of Ordinance No. 1984 for the purpose of assessing any damages or benefits incurred by or accruing to any owners of property affected by the closing of said Creek Street or Creek Lane. After meeting on the premises and hearing those persons who would be affected by the closing of said Creek Street or Creek Lane, the commissioners present the following:

"It is the unanimous opinion of the undersigned, that as a result of the closing of Creek Street or Creek Lane from its intersection with the westerly side of Market Street through the property of the Queen City Brewing Company to its westerly terminus, that no damages have been sustained and no benefits have accrued, not already enjoyed, by the abutting property owner, which is the aforesaid Queen City Brewing Company. Accordingly, our decision is that no benefits are to be levied and no damages should be assessed.

We further direct that the Queen City Brewing Company should pay all costs attendant to the closing of said Creek Lane or Creek Street, which proceedings were instituted at the request of said corporation."

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after July 26, 1954, by filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

Four-Day Losing Streak Broken By Stock Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP) — The stock market staged a brilliant recovery today and snapped a four-day losing streak with a substantial advance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks added $1.20, one of the best gains of the past two months. It closed at $132.30, a point that represented a retracement of a little more than one-third of the loss of the previous four days.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.50, the railroads gained $1.30, and the utilities improved 40 cents.

Volume was quite high at 2,890,000 shares as compared with 2,280,000 shares traded yesterday.

The aircrafts and companies affiliated with the industry had a high representation in the list of most active issues. At the top was Boeing unchanged at 66¾ on 66,500 shares. It was followed by Glenn Martin up 2¼ at 31¼, Oliver Corp. up ¼ at 13, Packard unchanged at 3⅛, and American Broadcasting-Paramount up ½ at 20.

SRC May Act On Expressway Contract Today

Kimble Says Council Had Right To Decide

Russell H. McCain, Maryland State Roads Commission chairman, said last night that the contract for the expressway program will be brought before the SRC today after he has briefed Governor McKeldin on developments. Meanwhile, State Senator Robert B. Kimble, who piloted Cumberland's home rule bill through the General Assembly, said he believes the Mayor and Council had the authority to act on the proposal.

McCain said the contract arrived at the State Roads Commission office in the afternoon mail yesterday, but that no action was taken since no commission meeting was scheduled.

Will Be Presented

He said the contract will come before the full commission today, or not later than tomorrow, after he has informed Governor Mckeldin of late developments.

McCain said he plans to call the governor, who is in Vermont visiting his daughter, to inform him of the action of the Mayor and Council in approving the contract, of the submission of referendum petitions, and of the injunction being sought by W. Wallace McKaig in Circuit Court here.

The contract was executed early Monday afternoon by Mayor Roy W. Eves and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, shortly after it had been approved by a four-to-one vote, with Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz dissenting.

Within a matter of hours, two former city attorneys representing McKaig, had filed an equity suit to nullify the action, and Judge George Henderson issued an order directing the Mayor and Council to show cause by August 30 why a restraining order should not be issued.

Kimble Explains Law

Senator Kimble last night said he thinks the Mayor and Council had the right, under the statutory home rule bill, to take the action it took Monday.

Referring to the referendum petitions, he added the Mayor and Council are authorized, under the home rule bill, either to grant a special election or to defer the vote until the next city election in 1958.

He added that the home rule law was passed in 1951 while W. Earle Cobey was city attorney, and that Cobey drafted and prepared the law for submission to the General Assembly. Numerous amendments were added, he pointed out, both by himself and by the Allegany County Delegation, to protect the rights of city workers.

Full Bench Likely To Hear Suit Over Expressway

A court official indicated yesterday that when the equity suit which seeks to enjoin the Mayor and City Council from taking action on the crosstown expressway comes up for trial in Allegany County Circuit Court a full bench will hear the case.

W. Wallace McKaig, through Attorneys W. Earle Cobey and Charles Z. Heskett, filed the suit Monday afternoon which seeks an injunction to keep the Mayor and City Council from spending any money on the crosstown expressway under an agreement with the State Roads Commission.

Associate Judge George Henderson signed the order Monday giving the Mayor and City Council until Monday, August 30, to show cause why the injunction should not be granted. However, when the case actually comes to trial it is expected that Judge Henderson will be joined by Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish of Hagerstown and Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, the other judges in the Fourth Judicial Circuit.

Firms Bid Low On SRC Work

Cumberland firms submitted the low bids on two county projects advertised by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The George Construction Company submitted a low bid of $75,490 for the construction of one box culvert and five concrete slab bridge and box culvert extensions over streams on U. S. Route 220 south of Cumberland.

The Cumberland Contracting Company's bid of $38,991.90 was low for the grading, underdrain and surfacing of the entrance and garage lot of the State Roads Commission on Braddock Road.

Steinmetz Given 30 Days; Stole From Blind Man

John Vincent Steinmetz, 314 North Waverly Terrace, yesterday was sentenced to 30 days in Allegany County jail for petty larceny.

Steinmetz pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing $5.40 worth of coffee from O'Neal's Delicatessen on Goethe Street. The store is operated by Ralph T. O'Neal, who is blind.

Customers who witnessed the theft said Steinmetz had taken the coffee from the store on different occasions.

Mrs. Witherup Returns Home From Europe Tour

By TED TROXELL
News Staff Writer

Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of the Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross, recently returned from a trip through Europe, during which she saw many famous places of historical significance and observed the customs and home life of neighbors across the sea.

GETS COMMENDATION—Lt. Robert A. Carner, Cumberland army officer and a former recruiting sergeant here, has received a commendation ribbon with metal pendant for meritorious service in Korea. He "displayed exceptional knowledge of 4.2 gunnery and survey techniques" as a member of Heavy Mortar Company of the First Division's Eighth Cavalry Regiment in Korea between August 22, 1953 and April 1, 1954, "aiding in the development of a well organized fire direction center." Carner's wife is the former Kathleen Wilson of Cumberland.

Mrs. Witherup left International Airport, New York, July 2 and traveled via Scandinavian Airlines to Stockholm, Sweden, a modern metropolis which last year celebrated its 700th anniversary. Stockholm has been described as one of the most attractive cities in Europe.

From there she drove to Norrkoping, Sweden, where her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Bruce, former Cumberlanders, now make their home.

Swedish Cities

Mrs. Witherup said that cities in Sweden differ very much from those in the United States. For instance, Norrkoping, a city of 86,000 people, has avenues of beautiful trees along its busiest streets and highways. Few cars are seen there, as most people travel by bicycle.

The people themselves are also quite different, said Mrs. Witherup. They are all outdoorsmen, and on vacations whole families hop on their bicycles and head for the open country. Although the Swedes are carefree, Mrs. Witherup said, they are also serious-minded. They are interested in folk dancing and good music.

After leaving Norrkoping, the party left for Copenhagen, Denmark, described in a popular song as "the queen of the sea." Enroute to Copenhagen, they stopped at Kronburg Castle, the setting for Shakespeare's Hamlet. The castle was erected in 1574.

Mrs. Witherup described Denmark as "truly a land of happy people." One of the highlights of her brief stay in Copenhagen was a visit to Tivoli, the largest amusement park in the world, which is located in the heart of the city. Despite the fact that thousands of people of all ages visit the huge park every day, it is kept spotlessly clean.

Andersen's Home

The next stop was at Hamburg, Germany, which Mrs. Witherup described as a beautiful city, although she said there was still some evidence of World War II destruction. She saw many American servicemen while there.

The group, after leaving Hamburg, traveled over the famous German Autobahn, the foreign counterpart of our "super-highways." After leaving the Autobahn, they continued their journey through the Rhine Valley, with its many vineyards and medieval castles, all of which have been standing for hundreds of years.

They then entered France, where they viewed a number of interesting places, including the War Capitulation Room at Reims, where the Germans surrendered in World War II.

Where Lindbergh Landed

On the way to Paris, where Mrs. Witherup spent a week, she passed the airport where Charles Lindbergh landed on his famous solo flight across the Atlantic in 1927.

While in Paris she stayed at the Stockholm Hotel on the Champs

Referendum May Add Cent To Tax Rate

Labor Cost Alone Would Be $4,440

The Mayor and Council must levy one cent on the Cumberland tax rate for each special election required under this city's statutory home rule law.

This is the amount which will have to be levied on August 25 if signatures on petitions calling for a referendum on the crosstown expressway program are validated and the election is termed legal.

One cent on the tax rate now yields $7,150, based on $71,500,000 of assessed real estate and personal property within the city limits.

The minimum cost of a special election this year, according to Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, is about $6,000.

All special elections, according to William A. Wilson, president of the Board of Election Supervisors, must be conducted in accordance with state election laws.

This means that each of the 25 polling places must be used and fully staffed.

The 50 chief judges required to work the polls must be paid $44 each—the amount would be $49 except that all qualified for two-year terms at the recent city elections and will not be eligible for the $5 payments for such ceremonies.

Ullery estimated that other costs, including the printing of ballots, advertising, rent for polling places, hauling of voting equipment to the polls and payments of janitors in public buildings would bring the minimum cost to about the $6,000 mark.

Sale Of Ads, Tickets Clarified By Firemen

A misunderstanding has resulted from the sale of program advertisements and tickets to the annual dance of the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association on October 1 at the Clary Club, members said yesterday.

Vincent H. Wegman, co-chairman for the semiformal dance, said many persons contacted were under the impression they had already bought ads or tickets for the affair. Wegman said they apparently had confused the dance with one held recently by the Auxiliary Police Force.

Local 26 Elects Convention Delegates

Four members of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), have been elected to represent the Kelly local at the union's international convention in Boston September 13-18.

Elected delegates were A. E. Johnson, Clyde E. O'Baker, Leo Barkman and William G. Rice, president.

Alternates will be A. J. Jenkins and David Miller, according to Ralph C. Beard, chairman of the election committee set up to elect the delegates.

Two other members of the local will be attending as delegates of Local 26. They are Patrick E. Zembower and Daniel Ford, both serving as international representatives of the union.

Woman Seeks $10,000 In Death Of Unborn Child

Demurrer Arguments Heard By Judge

An unusual suit in which a local woman seeks $10,000 damages for the loss of her baby, which she claims was born prematurely and dead after she was jolted in a two-car collision on Greene Street, came before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday.

Judge Harris heard arguments on two demurrers which were filed separately by two different defendants after Mrs. Ruth Richman, RFD 6, through Attorney John M. Robb, sued them. The suit was brought against Mrs. Francis J. Martz, RFD 6, Winchester Road, and Curtis D. Whetzel, RFD 6, Fairgo.

Mrs. Richman charges in her declaration that as a result of the premature death of the baby she was "deprived of the comfort, service and support normally anticipated, expected and received by a mother from her child."

The plaintiff was a passenger in the front seat of an automobile owned and operated by Whetzel westbound on Greene Street near Johnson Street. Whetzel's car collided with another westbound car operated by Mrs. Martz last November 9. Mrs. Richman contends that both drivers were at fault.

Mrs. Martz's demurrer was filed by Attorney William J. Gunter. Whetzel's demurrer was submitted by Attorney Walter C. Capper. Among other arguments, Capper contends that the declaration does not set forth a sufficient cause of action under Chapter 299 of the Acts of 1852 of Maryland, commonly known as Lord Campbell's Act, because the declaration claims damages for the death of an unborn child of the plaintiff and the act, he said, does not cover such a charge.

Tobacco Crumb Brings Ballot Under Suspicion

EASTON, Md., Aug. 10 (AP) — While lawyers for H. C. Byrd and George P. Mahoney examined challenged ballots in Circuit Court today, William C. Walsh, Byrd's chief counsel ran across one he disputed for two alleged illegal marks.

One was a crooked, brown dash on the face of the ballot.

The ballot was passed along to Judge William R. Horney who held it up, then grinned.

"Your mark has just fallen off," Judge Horney said.

Two Mishap Victims Reported Improved

Paul "Jake" Fisher, 33, of 528 North Centre Street, a passenger in a car which skidded off U. S. Route 220 near Moorefield, W. Va., Thursday and crashed into a tree, is reported somewhat improved at Sacred Heart Hospital. He is in "fair" condition.

His condition was critical when he was admitted to the hospital. He sustained severe lacerations of the forehead and upper right arm.

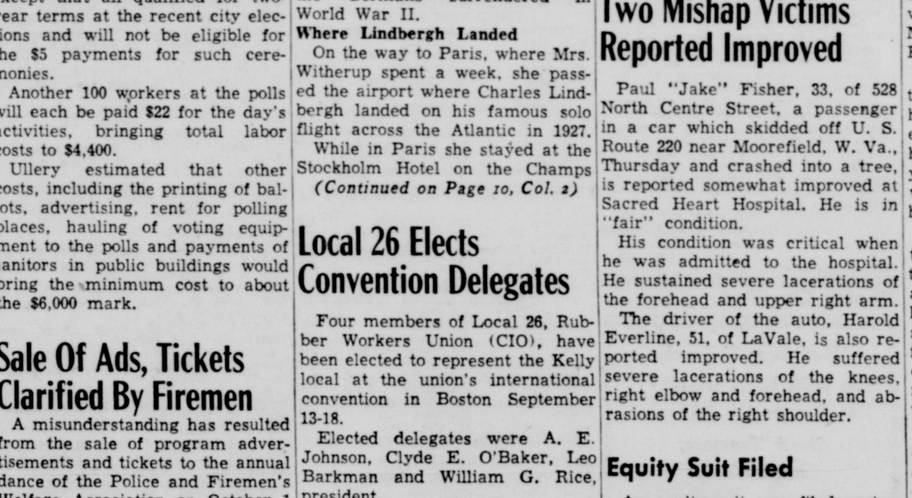
The driver of the auto, Harold Everline, 51, of LaVale, is also reported improved. He suffered severe lacerations of the knees, right elbow and forehead, and abrasions of the right shoulder.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled James C. Glenn vs. Juanita B. Glenn.

Directors To Meet

A meeting of the board of directors of the Kiwanis Club of Cumberland will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at Ali Ghan Country Club.



Fair Fireworks Arrive

Paul D. Scopio and Joseph Vitale of the Atlantic Fireworks Company unload a shipment of fireworks for the Greater Cumberland Fair yesterday at the Fairgrounds. A different display will be set off each night of the Fair, August 23 to 28, several other attractions are scheduled for the evening shows. Preparations for the Fair are in full swing. Playground Queen

Vivian Smith is crowned queen of Lamont Street Playground by Sandra Twigg, last year's playground queen, in ceremonies last night at the South Cumberland playlot. A program of round and square dancing followed the coronation. A games party will be held at the playground tonight at 7:30.

Demonstration Day Scheduled For Farmers

A number of farmers from the Tri-State area are expected to attend the first annual Field Demonstration Day which has been scheduled for Friday, August 20, beginning at 9 a. m. on the Earl Remsburg farms seven miles south of Frederick.

The affair is planned to give area farmers an opportunity to see one of Maryland's most completely electrified dairy farms. Farmers from 19 counties in Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Virginia have been invited.

The day-long program, running until 3:45 p. m., will be presented by the Four State Farmers' Association and the Mar-Del-Va Farm Equipment Dealers Association in cooperation with the Extension Services of Penn State University and the University of Maryland and the Potomac Edison Farm Department.

In addition to many demonstrations on the program, visitors will have an opportunity to see and examine electrical equipment that has been in use as long as six years. Installed on the farm are ventilating fans, silo unloaders, hay dryers and gutter cleaners.

Demonstrations will concern cutters, subsoiling, pasture renovation, field harvesters cutting silage, anhydrous ammonia application, high and low pressure sprayers, seeding, wagon unloaders and filling silos by conveyors, hay crushers, mowers and rakes, one-man haymaking and field harvesters making hay.

Several farmers from each county in the area are serving on a committee for the demonstration day. They include Frank Morgan of Frostburg and William E. Shumaker of Rawlings, Allegany County; Paul D. Myers, Berkeley Springs; M. W. Fulton, Berkeley Springs, and Boyd Kesecker, Sleepy Creek, for Morgan County, W. Va. Woodrow Hott, Augusta, and Sam Pancake, Romney, for Hampshire County, W. Va.; John H. Bane, Burlington, and Hubert M. Kline, Cumberland, for Mineral County, W. Va., and J. O. Flinn and S. L. Harper Jr., both Moorefield, for Hardy County, W. Va.

Miller's Holsteins Top Producers Of June Milk

The 14-cow registered Holstein herd of C. O. and Elizabeth Miller of Midland had the highest milk average and the second highest butterfat average in June of all herds tested by dairy herd improvement association in Maryland.

The Millers' herd averaged 1,364 pounds of milk and 48.9 pounds of butterfat in June, the last month for which figures are available.

Maryland's June butterfat champion herd was the 10-cow registered golden Guernsey herd of E. Hobart Bishoff in Garrett County with 50.4 pounds of butterfat. Another Garrett County herd, a 23-cow mixed group belonging to Ross Crowe, was tied for ninth place in butterfat average in Maryland with 42.6 pounds.

CSMC To Meet

State Alert Will Affect CD Staff

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—Civil Defense officials said today the October surprise alert in Maryland will affect staff members primarily and not the public to any great extent.

Sherley Ewing, state civil defense director, said he would confer with Col. Frank Milani, Baltimore CD director, and would ask the federal officials for more details before reaching a final decision.

But he said "tentative" plans call for nothing more than the sounding of sirens in the counties—so far as the public is concerned.

Milani said today he would favor the alert as an exercise "for the command post, only" in Baltimore.

He said he was against surprise alerts in cities because of possible panic that might reach the point of causing personal injuries. Also because if the public becomes too accustomed to surprise alerts they might tend to disregard the "real thing" should it occur.

The surprise alert was recommended by state civil defense directors of Region 2 at a meeting recently in Louisville, Ky.

Prior to the alert, there will be a series of one-day conferences in Charleston, W.Va., on such subjects as rescue, transportation and supply, medical work and police work.

Region 2 embraces Maryland, Washington, D. C., Delaware, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

Enlistment Data Is Released By Navy Recruiter

Youths of Cumberland and area desiring to enlist in the U. S. Navy are assured by Chief Edward J. Carey, Petty Officer in charge of the local Navy recruiting office, that there is no waiting list for enlistments.

Applicants can normally expect to leave for recruit training within two weeks from the date of application. Persons interested in enlisting in the Navy should be at the local recruiting office, Room 326, Post Office Building, city, with birth certificates any morning at 8:30 Monday through Saturday.

Chief Carey announced yesterday that William Joseph Harris of 95 Gilmore Street, Keyser, W. Va., has enlisted in the Navy as a musician seaman recruit for a four-year period.

The Navy School of Music is located at the U. S. Naval Receiving Station, Washington. In conjunction with a recruitment program by the local office, an exhibit is being displayed in the local store of Sears, Roebuck on Baltimore Street through August 21.

Models of various type Navy ships will be on exhibit along with Navy scenes and posters. Tomorrow a Sono-Vision machine will be placed in the window and a color movie, "Life At Sea," will be shown periodically.

Full information on the enlistment program of the Navy is available at the local recruiting office.

Commissioners Seek Bids For Roads Truck

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners is beginning today to advertise for bids for a new four-wheel drive one-ton pickup truck to be used by the County Roads Department.

Bids are to be received by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the commissioners, until 10:30 a. m. Friday, August 27. In figuring their bids, dealers are asked to take into consideration the trade-in of a 1951 pickup truck now owned by the county.

The commissioners also request bids until 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, August 31, for fabricating and laying a new steel deck and other repairs for the Temperance Row Bridge at Barton. County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman has specifications for the project.

C. Of C. Paper Edition Angled Toward Tourists

The latest edition of The Cumberland Enterprise, published by the Chamber of Commerce, is devoted to tourists and travelers and extends a cordial invitation to visit the Queen City.

A part of the Chamber's program to build Cumberland as a tourist mecca, the publication's four pages are replete with photographs and drawings as well as important feature articles pointing out the city's major attractions, historic landmarks, and cultural and educational advantages.

A portion of the front page of the edition is devoted to a letter of invitation from Anthony Saeli, manager of the Chamber, to travelers, tourists and conventioneers to make Cumberland part of their travels.

Stories and articles point out that Cumberland is the Queen City of the Alleghenies, second largest city in Maryland, historic yet modern. Cultural and educational advantages which contribute to life in the city include 48 churches representing 24 denominations, concert series, forums, art clubs, music and dramatic groups, a public library, business college and other items of interest.

George Washington's career at Fort Cumberland is depicted in drawings and other historic items are noted. Pages of pictures show the Narrows, Washington's headquarters, Cumberland toll house, Constitution Park, Deep Creek Lake, Fairgo, Muncipial Airport, the "main stem" along Baltimore Street, Sacred Heart and Memorial hospitals, Lake Koon dam, Fort Hill High School, Emmanuel Episcopal Church and many other views.

The publication, available on request, is being mailed to many areas, Saeli said.

Keyser, Pinto Are Targets In Air Raid Drills

Two Separate Trial Runs Are Successful

Local firemen and area volunteers last night participated in mock air raid alerts. The targets were Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Pinto, and the City of Keyser.

Some 68 firemen and 14 pieces of fire fighting apparatus, including two ABL trucks, were at Pinto after the alarm came in at 7 p. m. Nine members of the ABL fire brigade also took part.

The raid at ABL, according to Alvey B. Poole, assistant Cumberland fire chief and liaison officer of the fire branch of the Allegany County Civil Defense setup, was satisfactory and there was a good turnout.

Cooperating with the firemen was E. W. Athey, who was in charge of ABL operations during the alert. Joseph Wenrich, Cresaptown, official observer for the fire branch, was well pleased with the results of the mock raid.

When the local and area companies converged on the scene, the men and equipment were later admitted to the ABL grounds. One volunteer company, Bedford Road, was a little late in arriving due to the traffic light situation. Fire engines do not use sirens to get the right of way during mock raids.

However, the other companies arrived within 20 minutes after the alert was sounded. In the event of an actual raid, Poole pointed out, the companies would be on the scene much quicker.

Participating companies were Cumberland, Frostburg, Bedford Road, Ridgeley, Cresaptown, Short Gap, Bowling Green, and LaVale. Corriganville traveled to LaVale to cover that community.

Poole said last night's runs are the final alerts for this year unless CD officials decide other raids are feasible.

At Keyser, six companies responded to the alert, which David E. Kirk, coordinator of the fire branch of Allegany County Civil Defense, said was highly successful. Two other volunteer companies were alerted on a standby basis during the drill.

When the air alert was sounded at 7:07 p. m. yesterday Potomac Fire Company No. 2 of Westernport went to the Keyser fire house to cover any emergency calls at that point. Piedmont volunteer fire company went to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops in Keyser, McCoole volunteers protected the filtration plant in Keyser, and the two Keyser trucks went to Main Street in the city and to Potomac Valley Hospital.

Bloomington's fire company filled in at Piedmont fire house while one of Barton's two trucks went to Westernport. The second Barton truck remained alerted at Barton. Luke and Beryl companies also were alerted during the trial run.

Kirk, who checked the various companies during the alert, said 55 men took part in the drill. The all-clear was sounded 25 minutes later, at 7:32. p. m.

Budget Requests Due This Week

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday that all departments of the city have been asked to submit budget requests this week.

The estimates, he added, will be compiled by Monday so that the Mayor and Council will be able to get busy next week on the task of setting the budget for the 1954-55 fiscal year.

Much of the work on the budget must be completed next week, since the levy must be set by August 25.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, reported last week that the 1954-55 debt service will require 33 cents on the tax rate.

Mayor Eves said the budget requests will be totaled and then adjusted to suit the anticipated revenues.

Miss Harsh Begins Public Health Work

Miss Betty Lou Harsh, 229 Union Street, has begun her duties with the Allegany County Health Department.

She returned recently from Frederick County, where she received a two-month orientation course in public health nursing, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

The Weather

Yesterday's scattered showers brought to 1.38 inches the amount of rain for the month of August. The normal for August is 3.48 inches. Despite the frequent rainfall only .13 inches was recorded at the official weather station in Constitution Park. Temperatures remained in the 80s again with a high of 82 recorded. The low for the day was 59 degrees and at 8:30 p. m. the mercury registered 71. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 54 per cent. Forecast is fair and not as warm today.

SRC May Act On Expressway Contract Today

Kimble Says Council Had Right To Decide

Russell H. McCain, Maryland State Roads Commission chairman, said last night that the contract for the expressway program will be brought before the SRC today after he has briefed Governor McKeldin on developments. Meanwhile, State Senator Robert B. Kimble, who piloted Cumberland's home rule bill through the General Assembly, said he believes the Mayor and Council had the authority to act on the proposal.

McCain said the contract arrived at the State Roads Commission office in the afternoon mail yesterday, but that no action was taken since no commission meeting was scheduled.

Will Be Presented

He said the contract will come before the full commission today, or not later than tomorrow, after he has informed Governor McKeldin of late developments.

McCain said he plans to call the governor, who is in Vermont visiting his daughter, to inform him of the action of the Mayor and Council in approving the contract, of the submission of referendum petitions, and of the injunction being sought by W. Wallace McKaig in Circuit Court here.

The contract was executed early Monday afternoon by Mayor Roy W. Eves and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, shortly after it had been approved by a four-to-one vote, with Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz dissenting.

Within a matter of hours, two former city attorneys representing McKaig, had filed an equity suit to nullify the action, and Judge George Henderson issued an order directing the Mayor and Council to show cause by August 30 why a restraining order should not be issued.

Kimble Explains Law

Senator Kimble last night said he thinks the Mayor and Council had the right, under the statutory home rule bill, to take the action it took Monday.

Referring to the referendum petitions, he added the Mayor and Council are authorized, under the home rule bill, either to grant a special election or to defer the vote until the next city election in 1958.

He added that the home rule law was passed in 1951 while W. Earle Cobey was city attorney, and that Cobey drafted and prepared the law for submission to the General Assembly. Numerous amendments were added, he pointed out, both by himself and by the Allegany County Delegation, to protect the rights of city workers.

Full Bench Likely To Hear Suit Over Expressway

A court official indicated yesterday that when the equity suit which seeks to enjoin the Mayor and City Council from taking action on the crosstown expressway comes up for trial in Allegany County Circuit Court a full bench will hear the case.

W. Wallace McKaig, through Attorneys W. Earle Cobey and Charles Z. Heskett, filed the suit Monday afternoon which seeks an injunction to keep the Mayor and City Council from spending any money on the crosstown expressway under an agreement with the State Roads Commission.

Associate Judge George Henderson signed the order Monday giving the Mayor and City Council until Monday, August 30, to show cause why the injunction should not be granted. However, when the case actually comes to trial it is expected that Judge Henderson will be joined by Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish of Hagerstown and Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, the other judges in the Fourth Judicial Circuit.

Firms Bid Low On SRC Work

Cumberland firms submitted the low bids on two county projects advertised by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The George Construction Company submitted a low bid of $75,490 for the construction of one box culvert and five concrete slab bridge and box culvert extensions over streams on U. S. Route 220 south of Cumberland.

The Cumberland Contracting Company's bid of $38,991.90 was low for the grading, underdrain and surfacing of the entrance and garage lot of the State Roads Commission on Braddock Road.

Steinmetz Given 30 Days; Stole From Blind Man

John Vincent Steinmetz, 314 North Waverly Terrace, yesterday was sentenced to 30 days in Allegany County jail for petty larceny.

Steinmetz pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing $5.40 worth of coffee from O'Neal's Delicatessen on Goethe Street. The store is operated by Ralph T. O'Neal, who is blind.

Customers who witnessed the theft said Steinmetz had taken the coffee from the store on different occasions.

Mrs. Witherup Returns Home From Europe Tour

By TED TROXELL
News Staff Writer

Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of the Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross, recently returned from a trip through Europe, during which she saw many famous places of historical significance and observed the customs and home life of neighbors across the sea.

GETS COMMENDATION—Lt. Robert A. Carner, Cumberland army officer and a former recruiting sergeant here, has received a commendation ribbon with metal pendant for meritorious service in Korea. He "displayed exceptional knowledge of 4.2 gunnery and survey techniques" as a member of Heavy Mortar Company of the First Division's Eighth Cavalry Regiment in Korea between August 22, 1953 and April 1, 1954, "aiding in the development of a well organized fire direction center." Carner's wife is the former Kathleen Wilson of Cumberland.

Mrs. Witherup left International Airport, New York, July 2 and traveled via Scandinavian Airlines to Stockholm, Sweden, a modern metropolis which last year celebrated its 700th anniversary. Stockholm has been described as one of the most attractive cities in Europe.

From there she drove to Norrkoping, Sweden, where her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Bruce, former Cumberlanders, now make their home.

Swedish Cities

Mrs. Witherup said that cities in Sweden differ very much from those in the United States. For instance, Norrkoping, a city of 86,000 people, has avenues of beautiful trees along its busiest streets and highways. Few cars are seen there, as most people travel by bicycle.

The people themselves are also quite different, said Mrs. Witherup. They are all outdoorsmen, and on vacations whole families hop on their bicycles and head for the open country. Although the Swedes are carefree, Mrs. Witherup said, they are also serious-minded. They are interested in folk dancing and good music.

After leaving Norrkoping, the party left for Copenhagen, Denmark, described in a popular song as "the queen of the sea." Enroute to Copenhagen, they stopped at Kronburg Castle, the setting for Shakespeare's Hamlet. The castle was erected in 1574.

Mrs. Witherup described Denmark as "truly a land of happy people." One of the highlights of her brief stay in Copenhagen was a visit to Tivoli, the largest amusement park in the world, which is located in the heart of the city. Despite the fact that thousands of people of all ages visit the huge park every day, it is kept spotlessly clean.

Andersen's Home

Another highlight of the trip was a visit to O'Dense, Denmark, home of Hans Christian Andersen, who wrote many famous children's stories.

The next stop was at Hamburg, Germany, which Mrs. Witherup described as a beautiful city, although she said there was still some evidence of World War II destruction. She saw many American servicemen while there.

The group, after leaving Hamburg, traveled over the famous German Autobahn, the foreign counterpart of our "super-highways." After leaving the Autobahn, they continued their journey through the Rhine Valley, with its many vineyards and medieval castles, all of which have been standing for hundreds of years.

They then entered France, where they viewed a number of interesting places, including the War Capitulation Room at Reims, where the Germans surrendered in World War II.

Where Lindbergh Landed

On the way to Paris, where Mrs. Witherup spent a week, she passed the airport where Charles Lindbergh landed on his famous solo flight across the Atlantic in 1927.

While in Paris she stayed at the Stockholm Hotel on the Champs

Referendum May Add Cent To Tax Rate

Labor Cost Alone Would Be $4,440

The Mayor and Council must levy one cent on the Cumberland tax rate for each special election required under this city's statutory home rule law.

This is the amount which will have to be levied on August 25 if signatures on petitions calling for a referendum on the crosstown expressway program are validated and the election is termed legal.

One cent on the tax rate now yields $7,150, based on $71,500,000 of assessed real estate and personal property within the city limits.

The minimum cost of a special election this year, according to Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, is about $6,000.

All special elections, according to William A. Wilson, president of the Board of Election Supervisors, must be conducted in accordance with state election laws.

This means that each of the 25 polling places must be used and fully staffed.

The 50 chief judges required to work the polls must be paid $44 each—the amount would be $49 except that all qualified for two-year terms at the recent city elections and will not be eligible for the $5 payments for such ceremonies.

Another 100 workers at the polls will each be paid $22 for the day's activities, bringing total labor costs to $4,400.

Ullery estimated that other costs, including the printing of ballots, advertising, rent for polling places, hauling of voting equipment to the polls and payments of janitors in public buildings would bring the minimum cost to about the $6,000 mark.

Sale Of Ads, Tickets Clarified By Firemen

A misunderstanding has resulted from the sale of program advertisements and tickets to the annual dance of the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association on October 1 at the Clary Club, members said yesterday.

Vincent H. Wegman, co-chairman for the semiformal dance, said many persons contacted were under the impression they had already bought ads or tickets for the affair. Wegman said they apparently had confused the dance with one held recently by the Auxiliary Police Force.

Local 26 Elects Convention Delegates

Four members of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), have been elected to represent the Kelly local at the union's international convention in Boston September 13-18.

Elected delegates were A. E. Johnson, Clyde E. O'Baker, Leo Barkman and William G. Rice, president.

Alternates will be A. J. Jenkins and David Miller, according to Ralph C. Beard, chairman of the election committee set up to elect the delegates.

Two other members of the local will be attending as delegates of Local 26. They are Patrick E. Zembower and Daniel Ford, both serving as international representatives of the union.

Woman Seeks $10,000 In Death Of Unborn Child

Demurrer Arguments Heard By Judge

An unusual suit in which a local woman seeks $10,000 damages for the loss of her baby, which she claims was born prematurely and dead after she was jolted in a two-car collision on Greene Street, came before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday.

Judge Harris heard arguments on two demurrers which were filed separately by two different defendants after Mrs. Ruth Richman, RFD 6, through Attorney John M. Robb, sued them. The suit was brought against Mrs. Francis J. Martz, RFD 6, Winchester Road, and Curtis D. Whetzel, RFD 6, Fairgo.

Judge Harris informed the attorneys that he will file a written opinion on the demurrers soon.

Mrs. Richman charges in her declaration that as a result of the premature death of the baby she was "deprived of the comfort, service and support normally anticipated, expected and received by a mother from her child."

The plaintiff was a passenger in the front seat of an automobile owned and operated by Whetzel westbound on Greene Street near Johnson Street. Whetzel's car collided with another westbound car operated by Mrs. Martz last November 9. Mrs. Richman contends that both drivers were at fault.

Mrs. Martz's demurrer was filed by Attorney William J. Gunter. Whetzel's demurrer was submitted by Attorney Walter C. Capper. Among other arguments, Capper contends that the declaration does not set forth a sufficient cause of action under Chapter 299 of the Acts of 1852 of Maryland, commonly known as Lord Campbell's Act, because the declaration claims damages for the death of an unborn child of the plaintiff and the act, he said, does not cover such a charge.

Enlistment Data Is Released By Navy Recruiter

Youths of Cumberland and area desiring to enlist in the U. S. Navy are assured by Chief Edward J. Carey, Petty Officer in charge of the local Navy recruiting office, that there is no waiting list for enlistments.

Applicants can normally expect to leave for recruit training within two weeks from the date of application. Persons interested in enlisting in the Navy should be at the local recruiting office, Room 326, Post Office Building, city, with birth certificates any morning at 8:30 Monday through Saturday.

Chief Carey announced yesterday that William Joseph Harris of 95 Gilmore Street, Keyser, W. Va., has enlisted in the Navy as a musician seaman recruit for a four-year period.

The Navy School of Music is located at the U. S. Naval Receiving Station, Washington. In conjunction with a recruitment program by the local office, an exhibit is being displayed in the local store of Sears, Roebuck on Baltimore Street through August 21.

Models of various type Navy ships will be on exhibit along with Navy scenes and posters. Tomorrow a Sono-Vision machine will be placed in the window and a color movie, "Life At Sea," will be shown periodically.

Commissioners Seek Bids For Roads Truck

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners is beginning today to advertise for bids for a new four-wheel drive one-ton pickup truck to be used by the County Roads Department.

Bids are to be received by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the commissioners, until 10:30 a. m. Friday, August 27. In figuring their bids, dealers are asked to take into consideration the trade-in of a 1951 pickup truck now owned by the county.

The commissioners also request bids until 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, August 31, for fabricating and laying a new steel deck and other repairs for the Temperance Row Bridge at Barton. County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman has specifications for the project.

C. Of C. Paper Edition Angled Toward Tourists

The latest edition of The Cumberland Enterprise, published by the Chamber of Commerce, is devoted to tourists and travelers and extends a cordial invitation to visit the Queen City.

A part of the Chamber's program to build Cumberland as a tourist mecca, the publication's four pages are replete with photographs and drawings as well as important feature articles pointing out the city's major attractions, historic landmarks, and cultural and educational advantages.

A portion of the front page of the edition is devoted to a letter of invitation from Anthony Saeli, manager of the Chamber, to travelers, tourists and conventioneers to make Cumberland part of their travels.

Stories and articles point out that Cumberland is the Queen City of the Alleghenies, second largest city in Maryland, historic yet modern. Cultural and educational advantages which contribute to life in the city include 48 churches representing 24 denominations, concert series, forums, art clubs, music and dramatic groups, a public library, business college and other items of interest.

George Washington's career at Fort Cumberland is depicted in drawings and other historic items are noted. Pages of pictures show the Narrows, Washington's headquarters, Cumberland toll house, Constitution Park, Deep Creek Lake, Fairgo, Muncipial Airport, the "main stem" along Baltimore Street, Sacred Heart and Memorial hospitals, Lake Koon dam, Fort Hill High School, Emmanuel Episcopal Church and many other views.

The publication, available on request, is being mailed to many areas, Saeli said.

Keyser, Pinto Are Targets In Air Raid Drills

Two Separate Trial Runs Are Successful

Local firemen and area volunteers last night participated in mock air raid alerts. The targets were Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Pinto, and the City of Keyser.

Some 68 firemen and 14 pieces of fire fighting apparatus, including two ABL trucks, were at Pinto after the alarm came in at 7 p. m. Nine members of the ABL fire brigade also took part.

The raid at ABL, according to Alvey B. Poole, assistant Cumberland fire chief and liaison officer of the fire branch of the Allegany County Civil Defense setup, was satisfactory and there was a good turnout.

Cooperating with the firemen was E. W. Athey, who was in charge of ABL operations during the alert. Joseph Wenrich, Cresaptown, official observer for the fire branch, was well pleased with the results of the mock raid.

When the local and area companies converged on the scene, the men and equipment were later admitted to the ABL grounds. One volunteer company, Bedford Road, was a little late in arriving due to the traffic light situation. Fire engines do not use sirens to get the right of way during mock raids.

However, the other companies arrived within 20 minutes after the alert was sounded. In the event of an actual raid, Poole pointed out, the companies would be on the scene much quicker.

Participating companies were Cumberland, Frostburg, Bedford Road, Ridgeley, Cresaptown, Short Gap, Bowling Green, and LaVale. Corriganville traveled to LaVale to cover that community.

Poole said last night's runs are the final alerts for this year unless CD officials decide other raids are feasible.

At Keyser, six companies responded to the alert, which David E. Kirk, coordinator of the fire branch of Allegany County Civil Defense, said was highly successful. Two other volunteer companies were alerted on a standby basis during the drill.

When the air alert was sounded at 7:07 p. m. yesterday Potomac Fire Company No. 2 of Westernport went to the Keyser fire house to cover any emergency calls at that point. Piedmont volunteer fire company went to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops in Keyser, McCoole volunteers protected the filtration plant in Keyser, and the two Keyser trucks went to Main Street in the city and to Potomac Valley Hospital.

Bloomington's fire company filled in at Piedmont fire house while one of Barton's two trucks went to Westernport. The second Barton truck remained alerted at Barton. Luke and Beryl companies also were alerted during the trial run.

Kirk, who checked the various companies during the alert, said 55 men took part in the drill. The all-clear was sounded 25 minutes later, at 7:32. p. m.

Budget Requests Due This Week

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday that all departments of the city have been asked to submit budget requests this week.

The estimates, he added, will be compiled by Monday so that the Mayor and Council will be able to get busy next week on the task of setting the budget for the 1954-55 fiscal year.

Much of the work on the budget must be completed next week, since the levy must be set by August 25.

One part of the budget is already fixed—the cost of debt service.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, reported last week that the 1954-55 debt service will require 33 cents on the tax rate.

Mayor Eves said the budget requests will be totaled and then adjusted to suit the anticipated revenues.

Miss Harsh Begins Public Health Work

Miss Betty Lou Harsh, 229 Union Street, has begun her duties with the Allegany County Health Department.

She returned recently from Frederick County, where she received a two-month orientation course in public health nursing, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

The Weather

Yesterday's scattered showers brought to 1.38 inches the amount of rain for the month of August. The normal for August is 3.48 inches. Despite the frequent rainfall only .13 inches was recorded at the official weather station in Constitution Park. Temperatures remained in the 80s again with a high of 82 recorded. The low for the day was 59 degrees and at 8:30 p. m. the mercury registered 71. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 54 per cent. Forecast is fair and not as warm today.
